Angus Hunter in Quest of Deer Is Killed Wednesday

Coroner's Jury Rules Death of Edward Owens, Age 51, Was Accidental

Edward Owens, 51, lifetime resident of Brandt township in Polk county, became Minnesota's seventh deer hunting fatality last Wednesday. He met his death near his farm home east of Angus when a stray rifle bullet penetrated his neck.

Owens was hunting with a party of three neighbors six miles east of Angus when the accident occurred, according to Dr. H. E. Nelson, Polk County coroner, who investigated the mishap. Owens farmed five miles east of Angus.

Owens and his three companions had shot a deer they were tracking, it was reported, shortly after which the stray bullet struck him.

Members of the hunting party, Dr. Nelson said, were Nick Chuzel, Charles Confer and Art Dubias. The incident occurred about noon.

A coroner's jury, convening Friday at Angus, ruled that the death of Owens was accidentally caused by a stray bullet fired by an unknown hunter in the locality.

Soils Specialist Speaks to Local Farmers Dec. 4th

Harold Jones of U. of M. Extension Service to Be Speaker in C. & C. Rooms

Harold Jones, extension soil specialist at the University of Minnesota, is scheduled to be in Pennington county on Thursday, December 4. While here he will speak at a meeting to be held in the Civic & Commerce rooms in the Auditorium at 1:30 p. m. on the topic of "Soil Testing and Fertilizer Use." This meeting is open to the public and all farmers are invited to attend.

This year about three times as many soil samples from Pennington county have been tested at the state soil testing laboratory as in any other previous year. "Farmers who are testing their soil will be in a position to use fertilizer more efficiently," says County Agent Roy Mittenes.

By soil tests the farmers will also find out what his soil is lacking and also is given specific fertilizer recommendations for the crop he wishes to plant. Only thru a program of soil testing will a farmer know which fertilizer he should use.

Mr. Jones's talk should be of interest to every farmer in this area, said Mittenes. He will discuss the Minnesota soil testing program and how it will help a farmer to use fertilizer more effectively.

Governor Urges Yule Seal Support

Calls Tuberculosis Our Leading Health Problem

Gov. C. Elmer Anderson this week urged all Minnesota people to support the 1952 Christmas Seal fund campaign.

"Funds raised by the voluntary purchase of these little Christmas seals—which more than three-quarters of a million Minnesotans received in the mail last week—enables the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association to carry on a program of TB control and health protection for all the people of the state," the governor said.

In his statement marking Nov. 17 the official opening day of the 1952 Christmas seal campaign, the governor described tuberculosis as "our leading health problem."

"Minnesota has made remarkable progress in the fight against TB," he said. "In 1940, 15 counties had a death rate of 35 persons or more per 100,000 population. Now there are no counties with such a high mortality. Twenty years ago only four counties had a TB death rate as low as 10 persons or less per 100,000. Now at least 31 counties have this good record."

Danger From Plants

Plants probably are the most common cause of allergic contact dermatitis, a frequently encountered skin inflammation, but plastics, insecticides, drugs and dyes are responsible in many cases, according to Dr. Ralph Luikart II, dermatologist of Santa Barbara, Cal.

Sputtering Burner

If a gas burner on your stove sputters, it's wasting fuel. Dirt is usually the cause. Remove the burner, clean out the holes with a pipe cleaner or wire, wash in hot soapsuds, rinse, dry, replace, and you have a cure.

GULLY...

By Mrs. Arnold Beroeck, Gully, Ph. 60

The teachers of the Gully school have purchased a projector for the school. This was possible as a result of the proceeds realized at the School Carnival this fall. We are grateful to the public for making it possible and to the teachers who are responsible for the movies which were shown as a trial at the Gully Hall last Wednesday and who will continue to show movies on Wednesday evenings. A good teacher spends much time on school work besides the hours from 9 to 4. "Hats off" to the teachers who are willing to take an evening each week to provide entertainment for the youngsters. Recreation for the youngsters is a problem now days and especially in small towns. To help pay for the rental of the films a charge of 10c for children and 20c for adults is made. What are we as parents providing for our youngsters for the other six evenings during the week? The movies are open to the public.

Mrs. Alfred Hovelsrude (Alvina Sorby) was a supper guest at the Selmer Sorby home Saturday evening. Mrs. Hovelsrude came Saturday and has been visiting her brother, Mrs. Anton Haugen and other relatives. She spent some time in Minneapolis with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Jenkins and her new grandson, Michael Craig, born Nov. 7th. She will leave Tuesday for her home at Tacoma, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Calhoon spent Saturday evening visiting at the Harlow Nyland home at Bemidji. Little Randy Calhoon stayed with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson.

Mrs. Verney Lanman visited at the Arnold Lanman home at McIntosh Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Huset visited at the Jack Samson home at Grand Forks Saturday and at the Olaf Christianson home at Alvarado Sunday.

Mrs. Russel Ringstad spent the last weekend and also the previous weekend visiting with her parents, Harry Melbos and at the Alfred Ringstad home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anderson of Minneapolis came up for the hunting season. Charles returned to his job during the week while Mrs. Anderson visited here during the week at the Floyd Berg home and Rolland VanDeventer home at Brooks and with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Ringstad. Charles returned again the second weekend for more hunting. He was accompanied by his father, Art Anderson of Minneapolis.

The officers of the Gully Farmers Union Local met Friday evening to make preparations for a half hour radio program to be broadcast over Station KROX, Crookston Saturday, Dec. 13 at 11:30.

Carroll Ellertson of St. Paul spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Ellertson. Duane Ellertson left Sunday evening to go to Moorhead.

Hunting stories are very confusing. Some say it's the poorest hunting for years. A few got their deer within an hour after the season opened. Others didn't even get a chance to see deer. But to see all the cars going thru town with deer tied on we know many are now enjoying venison steak.

NATO Progress

Europe, in contrast to Asia, witnessed little political violence in 1951 despite its welter of problems. The North Atlantic treaty organization in its third year moved slowly toward its basic goal of building security against Communist aggression for the free nations of the North Atlantic and Western European area. Progress of the 12-nation group appeared largely dependent on United States support in money, materials, and equipment.

Early Shoes

Enterprising shoemakers first got the idea of making ready-to-wear shoes during the American Revolution. Rights and lefts were identical, and there were only two widths: slim and broad! Shoes were put up in grocery and tobacco stores, the forerunners of today's specialty shoe stores that sell shoes in many styles and with [illegible] leather soles that conform to hundreds of fitting combinations.

Clean Thief

In Phoenix, after William Pilling told police that he got off fairly easily when a burglar stole only $8 and a Stetson hat, he discovered that the thief had also taken a bath, left a ring around the tub.

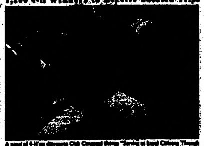
1,200 4-H Winners to Receive Coveted Trips



A panel of 4-H'ers discusses Club Congress theme "Serving as Loyal Citizens Through 4-H." More than $750,000 in college scholarships, savings bonds, trips, leader training and other rewards is being contributed through the National 4-H Committee to promote the activities of 4-H—the world's largest volunteer youth organization.

Climax of a year of earnest 4-H Club work for some 1,200 enthusiastic 4-H boys and girls will be the 31st National 4-H Club Congress scheduled to convene in Chicago, November 30—December 4. These outstanding young people, selected from more than 2,000,000 4-H Club members in the 48 states, Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico, are winners in 4-H projects conducted through the Extension Service.

For this select group of 4-H'ers, the trip to the Congress is a coveted honor earned only through diligent effort. As Congress delegates, they receive various 4-H awards arranged through the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work, a citizens' group which lends support to the 4-H program.

More than 40 business firms, foundations, and public-spirited individuals sponsor national and sectional 4-H award projects as their contribution to this sound, successful youth program. The donor organizations provide to the National Committee grants totaling more than $750,000 to be used for 4-H medals, trips, college scholarships, watches, savings bonds, leader training, and other aids.

Among prominent citizens who provide award funds to be administered by the National Committee as an impetus to 4-H accomplishment are Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen, Thomas E. Wilson, Edward Foss Wilson, Wm. Wrigley, Jr., and Gene Autry. Other sponsors are: Westinghouse Educational Foundation, Ford Motor Co., Standard Brands, Kerr Glass, Sears Roebuck Foundation, Spool Cotton Co., Lederle Laboratories, Ida Cason Callaway Foundation, Carnation Co., Simplicity Patterns, Conrad Hilton Hotel, Hercules Powder, General Motors, International Harvester, Kelvinator, American Forest Products, Allis-Chalmers, Montgomery Ward, Kellogg Co., Dearborn Motors, United States Rubber, Cudahy, Firestone, Standard Oil Companies of Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio, American Oil, General Petroleum, Pan-Am Southern, Stanolind Oil and Gas, Utah Oil Refining Co., Pure Oil Co., the Santa Fe and Illinois Central railroads, Tool Co., Proctor Electric, and Spinnerin Yarn Co.

"The awards presented at the 4-H Club Congress are bestowed for self-earned advancement," C. L. Noble, director of the National Committee points out. "To 4-H Club members they are priceless symbols of achievement and public recognition. That is why so many of our agricultural and industrial leaders are interested in providing incentives that will help to build aggressive, sturdy citizens."

Donors also sponsor educational tours, social events, and entertainment, which make the National 4-H Congress a memorable experience. However, other purposes of the meeting are not overshadowed by festivity. Forthright group discussions, addresses by prominent speakers, exchange of ideas with youths from other countries, and other stimulating features will stress the theme of the year: "Serving as Loyal Citizens Through 4-H."

Female "Cinch"

American women could reduce their collective waistline by 80 million inches this year, by compressing their figures with the "cinch" that grandmother employed to compress her girth by an extra inch-and-a-half to two inches. Industry officials point out that healthy support and good posture, rather than a pinched-in look, are the major objectives of foundation garments today.

Weather Reports

Reports come in daily from weather stations in Alaska and Greenland, Europe and Africa, from ships at sea and planes flying over the North Pole, even from Russian weathermen in the heart of Siberia. Under the world-wide cooperation of the International Meteorological Organization, weather information is one of the few things not yet cut off by the Iron Curtain.

Air Like Outdoor Air

Sufferers from asthma, chronic colds, hay fever and other ills may now find some relief by using new ion controllers which manufacturers claim make indoor air like outdoor air at its best. Devices known as Ionix and Wexon units are ion emitters which were introduced by the Wesix Electric Heater Company of San Francisco. Arranged to filter out positive ions while negative ions are carried into the room by air currents passing through the units, the negatively-charged grid is made of nickel cloth and surrounds the heating elements made of a nickel-chromium alloy.

Russian Tanks

Russian-made tanks and other vehicles, knocked out or captured by the Army in Korea, now are being studied by ordnance experts and later will be used in training. When their research and training value is finished, most of these enemy tanks will be scrapped. More Russian-made equipment captured in Korea likely will be melted down and moulded into new pieces of equipment as the program of returning battlefield scrap to the United States gets into full swing.

Jim Parkins Tells Lions Chest Drive Is Lagging to Date

Jim Parkins, general chairman of the Community Chest drive currently in progress, spoke at the Lions club luncheon meeting last Wednesday noon in the Rex Cafe.

He reported that the campaign is lagging, and stressed the need of reaching the objective in order to avoid a return to the days when a dozen separate drives were staged in this community. He suggested that each contributor give the equivalent of one day's earnings.

Don Lawrence, rural chairman, also reported that the campaign is not up to expectations outside the city of Thief River Falls.

Rev. Dan T. Beadle of Eveleth, former member of the local club, was a guest at the meeting and served efficiently as tailtwister.

Norse Engineer Is Impressed by Water Plant Here

The up-to-the minute municipal water treatment plant in Thief River Falls, completed a few years ago at a cost of more than $500,000, recently received recognition when O. E. Brownell director of the state board of health, brought Frank Hanson, engineering student at the University of Oslo, Norway, to this city to inspect the local plant as a model of its kind. Mr. Hanson, escorted thru the plant by Harold Johnson, chief operator, reported himself as highly impressed by the local facility.

Prowler Quint Faces Fertile Tuesday, Dec. 2

Coach Bob Nick's Squad This Season Includes Only Three Lettermen

Coach Bob Nick will unveil his 1952-53 basketball squad on Tuesday night when the Prowlers open their season's play by meeting the Fertile high school Falcons on the local court. The Fertile 'B' squad will play Coach Ralph Skjod's Prowler 'B' team in a preliminary game.

Coach Nick's untried Prowlers, with only three lettermen on the squad—Art Johnson, Gary Smith and LeRoy Aasland—will be given a severe test in their opening game, for the Fertile club has, for the past several years, been one of the 30th district's ranking teams.

The Prowler basketball mentor has been using various combinations as he has drilled his rangy squad these past weeks. Indications are that Art Johnson will start at center, and that Aasland will be at a forward and Smith at a guard. Duane Rafteseth has filled the forward position opposite Aasland in most of the drills, with Grant Gulseth and Bob Christensen pairing with Smith at the guards. Larry Evenstad, Ronnie Melhouse, and Chuck Humes, all of whom are six-foot-plus boys, are certain to see action in Tuesday night's opener, as will Gene Bratsch, who is a play-making guard and pretty fair scorer.

Following the Fertile game here on Tuesday night, the Prowlers will begin their 31st district competition by playing coach Darold King's Red Lake Eagles here on Friday night, Dec. 5th.

Iron Ore Drilling Now in Progress in Mahnomen Co.

Iron ore again became a topic in Mahnomen county recently when tests were begun on the Erling Hegg farm eight miles northeast of Mahnomen. That "wildcat" tests were being made in Mahnomen county, was first learned last July when it was revealed that a steel firm had taken options on six parcels of land in the northeast corner of the county.

The firm conducting the tests, Pickands Mather and company of Cincinnati and Duluth, currently holds options on 12 parcels of land in that area. Harry E. Boyle, Minneapolis attorney, represented the firm in securing the options.

On November 14 the drilling crew operating on the Hegg farm had penetrated to depth of 70 feet. They would not reveal how deep they expected to go except to say they had a "long way to go yet."

Collect Funds for Terrebonne Boys

It was announced yesterday that $53 had been contributed by those attending the weekly livestock sale at the Thief River Sale Barn to a fund being assembled to send Donald Keefe, 15 and his brother Cecil, 13, of Terrebonne to New York City to be treated by a specialist in muscular dystrophy, from which disease the two boys are suffering. The fund was started off with a donation of $100 from George Bushie of East Grand Forks, and it is estimated that a total of $2,500 will be needed to finance the treatments.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

A Re-building Job

As was the case with Ralph Skjod and his Prowler football squad, and as is the case with Bob Nick and the Prowler cagers, Coach Dennis Rolle is confronted with a major re-building program in his hockey squad.

The 1951-52 senior class of Lincoln high school was, as far as athletes are concerned, a "jubilee class," and when that group graduated they left the Prowler football, basketball, and hockey squads in a shambles.

Graduation removed such long-time Prowler performers as Jack Erickson, Al Steenerson, Darryl Lund, Jack LaSalle, Darrold Vad, and Gordy Bjerken from the hockey squad. Erickson and Steenerson had been on the local school varsity squad for five years, and during that span that duo had scored 205 goals. Coach Rolle and his Prowlers will miss that double-barreled scoring punch this season; and they'll miss the play-making ability of Darryl Lund and Gordy Bjerken, and back-line defense of veterans Darrold Vad and Jack LaSalle, too.

The Warroad Warriors, with a club that will be built around such top-rate players as Harlan Meek, Roger Christian, and Jack Stoskopf, has been installed as the regional favorite. Last year, in a regional tourney game played here, the Prowlers were hard-pressed to edge out the Warriors, 4 to 3, in a double overtime game. And the Warriors have all of the boys that played in that game returning for this season's play. In fact, only two of these players, Ed Streiff and George [illegible], will be seniors this year.

Miscellany

Donald "Bud" Brossoit, who has played six games with the Rochester Mustangs, playing at wing with Carlson and Strobel on the number one line, is in town on a short visit, spending Thanksgiving at his home here. Bud states that Bob Baker, a one-time Prowler all-state hockey player and a former Olympic team member, and later a member of Rochester team, has left the Mustangs to continue his employment with a construction firm in Oklahoma. Bud doubts that Bob, who now weighs 210 pounds, will return to hockey.

Bud renewed acquaintances with Jimmy Medved and Danny McKinnon. Medved, the former Crookston Cathedral, North Dakota, and Crookston Pirates center-ice player, is with the Minneapolis Millers; and Danny McKinnon, the former Williams high school and North Dakota defenseman, is managing the Millers.

Brossoit wasn't overly optimistic about the future of that hockey league down there, stating that the crowds, except for Rochester, St. Paul, and Hibbing, were discouraging. The hockey-minded fans at Rochester give the Mustangs enthusiastic support, with the crowds averaging 1500. Minneapolis, in particular, has been a disappointment, with only two or three hundred fans being in attendance at the games.

It wasn't very much of a surprise when North Dakota University's basketball coach, Louis Bogan, picked freshman Dick Bjorkman to the squad of Sioux cagers that will make the jaunt to Bozeman, Montana. Dick, a Prowler co-captain here last year, has been especially brilliant in the Sioux workouts this past week. In an intra-squad game last week, Dick, playing at guard with the Whites, was a factor in giving his team a 71 to 71 tie with the Greens, and the Greens had the benefit of the play of the lettermen.

Jack Erickson, two-time all-state Prowler hockey player, has been skating with the University of Minnesota hockey squad. Jack, who seriously injured his left knee during a Gopher football practice session, was a doubtful hockey prospect for the Gopher freshman this season, but it comes as good news that the burley Jack is able to maneuver on the ice.

On the personal invitation of Larry Shorty Perkins we were in attendance at the Pla-Mor alleys on Monday night to witness the match between the Ace Hardware vs. Plummer. Shorty, who claims to be an "honor roll" bowler, chalked up 131 in his first game, and a 135 in his second game. The bowler that really took charge of the match, though, was Plummer's Emil Larson. Emil tallied a 212 in his first game, and that score could have been up in the 230's, and a 227 in his second game. That Ace Hardware team lost three games to the Plummer club.

Athletic director Quentin Jones has arranged an attractive eight-game schedule for the Prowler football squad next season. Home games will find Red Lake Falls, Detroit Lakes, Bemidji, and Crookston as Prowler opponents; while the "road" schedule will have the Prowlers at Warren, East Grand Forks, Roseau, and Ada.

Do you realize that the football Gophers were within two points of gaining the Big Ten title and a trip to the Rose Bowl? Coach Wes Fesler's surprising team tied Purdue, 14 to 14, and the Wisconsin Badgers, who gained the Rose Bowl bid, were thankful for their 21 to 21 tie with the Gophers.

U. S. Foreign Aid Hits $87 Billion Since '40

The United States — grappling with the staggering jobs of war and recovery of the free world—poured out more than 87 billion dollars in foreign aid during the 12 years ended last June 30.

That averages over seven billion a year.

But that wasn't all a drain on the United States treasury, because nearly 11 billion dollars was paid back.

In a detailed review published Sunday, the commerce department said the vast military and economic undertaking represents a series of political history.

The report covers World War II and the postwar years and thus includes figures on multi-billion dollar aid to Soviet Russia, dubbed by the department "our former ally."

Gross foreign aid totalled $82,430,000,000 during the fiscal years 1951-51. An earlier calculation by the commerce department showed foreign aid of $5,006,000,000 during the fiscal year which ended last June. Thus the 12-year gross amounts to $87,436,000,000.

During the 11-year period covered by the report, the United States received returns from its aid operations (in repayments for lend-lease, repayments on foreign loans, and so on) totaling $10,836,000,000. This net aid for the period was put at $71,539,000,000. This included $61,584,000,000 in grants or gifts and $10,010,000,000 in credits or loans.

The Department listed four major categories of assistance: military aid, relief aid, and technical assistance.

The United Kingdom, Soviet Russia and France together during the 11-year period received two-thirds of the 82 billion dollar grant and credit aid, the report said.

"The United Kingdom alone was furnished with 36 billion dollars of assistance, about 44 per cent of the total goods, services and funds provided by the United States government to foreign nations," the report continued.

"Nearly 29 billion of this amount was transferred during World War II as a part of the international process of pooling resources in the common cause.

"As a result of wartime aid, our former ally, the USSR, ranked second with 11 billion dollars, or 8 per cent. Germany, China, Italy, Greece and The Netherlands were likewise major recipients, each having been furnished amounts ranging from one billion to over three billion dollars."

The department said that 50 countries or areas received aid.

Wholesale Firm at LeCenter Does Global Business

Unique Enterprise Was Established in Southern Minnesota 30 Years Ago

"Spors Has a Way of Doing Business." This, in a nutshell, tells the story of the wholesale firm that has carried the name of LeCenter around the globe.

Thirty years have passed since Frank Spors, an itinerant fountain pen salesman, walked into this southern Minnesota village, found it to his liking, and decided to establish a wholesale merchandising firm. The venture prospered from the beginning because, even then, "Spors Had a Way of Doing Business" and a philosophy of human relations that brought sound, substantial growth together with better than average dividends in good will.

Frank Spors was a shrewd buyer and possessed a keen insight in choosing the kind of merchandise the public wanted. His selling programs were unique and their irresistible appeal kept the business growing until Spors became a familiar name both at home and abroad.

After he passed away in 1950, seven of his "boys"—all officials in the firm and all residents of LeCenter—formed a combine and purchased the business from the estate. Thus the Spors Company remains a simon-pure, home town enterprise in beginning its fourth decade of service as a prominent part of the American system of distribution.

The company has only one salesman — its big, colorful wholesale catalog which lists 6,000 name brands and top quality best sellers covering a wide range of jewelry, billfolds and luggage, housewares, hardware, automotive, sporting goods, clothing, notions, toys and novelties, and stationery. This, together with seasonal and special catalogs and flyers, does all the selling and is shipped by the carload to 49,000 rural dealers and other qualified wholesale buyers all over the United States and in many foreign countries.

Spors way of doing business opens a quick, easy source to the rural dealer for most of his regular and special needs, and provides manufacturers with additional distribution for their products that would not otherwise be reached.

Many reasons can be found to explain why this grass roots enterprise keeps pace with the so-called 'big names' in the wholesale merchandising field. Alert, progressive and far-seeing management, unique methods of display, the big, colorful silent salesman, and the ingrained loyalty of both management and employees in a common purpose are vital factors. But the story is best told by simply saying, "Spors Has a Way of Doing Business."

HIGHER RATES—MORE REVENUE

The higher rates for water that went into effect in October produced a substantial increase in city revenue. The billing for the month totalled $4,687, compared with an average billing for each of the three preceding months of $3,522. July, August and September are months of high water consumption. It may be assumed therefore that the increase of $1,165 will at least hold its own at the average monthly increase for the year and that the annual billing will be up at least $12,000.

It will mean that the new rates will produce sufficient revenue to at least pay the annual operating costs of the water system. The total revenue last year was only a little more than $38,000 and the operating costs totalled $18,000. Revenue for the coming year should be in excess of $50,000.

City clerk P. G. Pederson gave us a break-down showing the effect of the rate increase in several typical brackets. For the minimum users the cost for service went from 50c to $1.25. There are about a hundred customers who use less than the minimum.

At the moderately low consumption level of 1,500 gallons the cost went from $1.80 to $2.25. For the customer who used 9,903 gallons the cost increased from $2.96 to $4.97; and the bill for the user of 18,703 gallons increased from $5.62 to $8.49. One of the largest consumers using 371,630 gallons now paid $87.33 for what formerly cost $77.60.

These comparisons are interesting. An individual in any of these brackets probably could offer convincing proof that he was not treated fairly in the new schedules. There is no reason why the old rate structure would have to be accepted as fair however and so none of the arguments would be conclusive.

The fact that we now are getting top grade water is the important thing and most of the consumers will not complain about the added cost. And those who may be inclined to grumble should take into consideration the fact that they still are getting the service at less than cost. The half-a-million dollar water plant will still have to be paid for with revenue derived largely from other sources.

HOW TO BE THANKFUL

For a Thanksgiving idea we will offer the following paragraph from the meditations of Frederic Paulban, a distinguished French writer:

> "The obligations of gratitude, like all approved obligations, are a low form of morality. Real gratitude does not consist in loving a person who does us a service and in doing him a service in return. Gratitude consists in profiting by the service that has been done so that we can act as well as possible toward the whole of humankind and not only toward the individual to whom we are grateful."

If it is proper for us to pause occasionally in a spirit of gratitude and thanksgiving, and reflect upon our material blessings, then, in our community, this year's Thanksgiving should be an occasion of more than ordinary significance. This has been an exceptionally good year and we have more to be thankful for.

And maybe, as Paulban suggests, we will prove our thankfulness most effectively if we look upon our improved circumstances as an added responsibility, providing greater opportunities for making ourselves more useful "toward the whole of mankind."

It is a practical approach that could pay off with big dividends. A little good, expanding in a chain reaction, could become a great good. It offers a sound basis for the old hope that some day all of the tables of the world will be loaded with turkey and all of the trimmin's.

Business Week went out on the limb in its last issue with the hopeful statement that a truce in Korea by February or March is "at least a possibility." This conclusion is based on the publication's analysis of the manner in which the Eisenhower victory was treated by the Red propagandists. Pravda is telling its readers that "Republicans may not be imperialists after all" and this could be a face saving approach to a more conciliatory attitude in the negotiations. If, as is quite likely, the Reds are no more in favor of an all-out war at this time than we are, this may be the way to avert it. We have no objections to whatever face-saving devices they may adopt. We like to be hopeful too.

Thanksgiving

A pleasant part of Thanksgiving is the feast that marks the day. Far more important, however, is the spirit of true thankfulness, in our hearts, for our many blessings in this most favored of nations.

ABOUT THE TIME our Pilgrim Fathers were giving thanks to the Creator for a bountiful harvest, a seed from a white pine cone began to take root in northern Minnesota—two miles south of Big Fork, Minn., in Itasca county, to be exact. It is there now, its crown high above the other trees.

The new free nation and the tree grew up together. Today, the white pine towers 100 feet above the ground and the nation wears the robes of world leadership.

300 Thanksgivings ago...

Following the tradition of our grandfathers, each year we observe a day of Thanksgiving. In the spirit of Thanksgiving, the people of the Minnesota and Ontario Paper Company are thankful to be a part of an area so blessed with natural resources. And they assume and accept a responsibility to perpetuate those resources.

We are striving by constant use of modern forest management practices to perpetuate Minnesota's forests so that they will remain ever useful and beautiful for countless Thanksgivings yet to come.

Makes A Fine Recovery

RALPH DAHLY'S JOB is to watch this machine used for reclaiming "fines"—minute particles of iron ore that were once washed away with waste material in this iron mine near Keewatin, Minnesota. Recovering these fines is just one aspect of the iron mining industry's conservation program. For science has teamed up with industry on Minnesota's iron ranges to develop new ways of processing low-grade ores and taconites. Minnesota's iron mining industry is doing everything in its power to assure a continued ore supply to the nation. If successful, Minnesota and all its people will benefit.

Political Roundup

By Arthur Naftalin

Former Governor Harold E. Stassen soared back into the big time last week with President-elect Eisenhower's announcement that he would appoint Stassen to the post of Mutual Security Administrator.

Stassen's stock as a political figure tumbled badly before and during the national Republican convention, and friends and foes alike were about ready to write off the 45-year-old ex-Minnesotan son far as his future political prospects were concerned.

During his 15 years as an aspirant for the Presidency, Stassen had managed to have serious breaks with Governor Dewey, Senator Taft, the leading followers of Wendell Willkie, and there were even reports that Eisenhower and his chief aides would have no part of Stassen.

Long-term White House Hopes Are Now Revived

But now Stassen finds himself in a strategic post, one that is certain to keep him in the public eye. It is better suited for one with Presidential hopes than a seat in the Senate, because the Mutual Security Administrator is not expected to involve himself in the many controversies that inevitably create difficulty for an aspiring Senator.

Thus, depending on many unforeseeable factors, Stassen is still a longterm White House possibility. He will be only 49 years old in 1956 and 53 in 1960, at which point Eisenhower, if he is re-elected in '56, will have served his two terms, all that is now allowable under the national constitution.

In accepting the MSA job, Stassen takes a sharp pay cut. He will get $22,500 a year, whereas formerly he received a reported $50,000 a year as President of the University of Pennsylvania. There is talk, too, that Stassen will accompany Eisenhower on his trip to Korea.

GOP List of Senatorial Hopefuls Has Additions

A few weeks back we mentioned the fact that the Republicans were now eyeing eagerly Senator Hubert H. Humphrey's seat. We pointed out that among possible contenders were Governor C. Elmer Anderson, State Treasurer Val Bjornson, and Congressman Walter H. Judd.

Now word comes that there is another prospect who is being seriously discussed. He is Lawrence Gould, President of Carleton College at Northfield. An active Republican, he headed Senator Thye's volunteer campaign committee this year. And from Carl E. Davidson, a New York Mills correspondent, comes the suggestion that the Republicans nominate Reuben K. Youngdahl, prominent Minneapolis minister and brother of the former Governor.

Interest in this contest is rapidly increasing. The Democratic-Farmer-Labor Party's state executive committee is moving to strengthen the DFL organization in preparation for the 1954 battle, and this will be high on the committee's agenda when it meets in Minneapolis on December 7.

Governor Anderson Begins Struggle With Finances

Back from his vacation trip to Hawaii, Governor Anderson plunged into the messy problem of preparing the biennial budget for submission to the legislature. In a memorandum to department heads, he said: "So far as I am concerned, we are going to have to get by the next two years without any increases except in rate cases."

The Governor is scheduled to meet this week with department heads, and the main item of discussion will be how to trim budgets in such a way as to prevent further tax increases. He has already met with some of the legislative leaders, and the outlook for no tax increases is regarded as very gloomy.

Cities Plight Will Be Before '53 Legislature

Cities and villages, facing ever-mounting costs and expanding services, are badly in need of additional tax revenue. This problem will come before the legislature this year with renewed pressure.

Officials of the larger cities are discussing such proposals as an earnings tax of one per cent on all persons who work in the city, a wheelage tax of $10 a year per passenger car and $15 per truck, an utilities tax on electricity and telephone, and a hotel room tax.

There is also talk of proposing adoption of a general sales tax, to be levied by the state but shared with the municipalities on a population basis.

Now Is The Time For Some Sensible Action

There is no easy short-cut to a remedy for the serious financial plight of our state and local governments. But there are many sensible things that could be done that would accomplish major savings here and there. For one thing the legislature could examine the whole question of whether we need to continue to maintain 87 separate county governments and whether some real economy might not be achieved by an intelligent plan of consolidation.

OUR LAND

Forage vs. Roughage

W. M. Myers, agronomy and plant genetics chief at the University of Minnesota, warns against being misled by the term "roughage" when it's applied to high quality pasturage, hay and grass silage. Far from falling in a class with such roughage as corn stalks and grain straw, good quality roughages are highly nutritious feed for dairy cows, beef cattle and sheep. Legume-grass mixtures at the proper stage of maturity for pasturing may have more than 20 per cent of crude protein in the dry matter. Well-cured legume hay, cut at the right stage of maturity, may have 15 pr cent or more of crude protein.

Clay District Leads

Clay County Soil Conservation District farmers led the state in 1952 for the number of trees planted, according to County Agent G. E. May. More than 184 farmers set out 259,850 trees. Most of the planting was under the supervision of Leslie Pulkrabek, soil conservationist for the SCS. Becker County was second in the state with 164,630 trees planted.

Women and Conservation

Should women be interested in soil conservation, and if so, why? Here is the way Mrs. Doris Wyman, district home agent supervisor at University Farm, answers that question: "The right use of soil gives more income. Farming is the joint business of the family. The farm family gets its return from the sale of the crops or the livestock raised on the farm. Women are concerned about this income because, if it is greater than expenses, it may mean help to pay for the farm, education for the children, a new auto, vacation trip or other improvements in family living."

RANDEN . . .

By Mrs. H. Ostlund, Grygla

Miss Ardith Williamson, daughter of Mrs. Martha Williamson of Wannaska, Minn. and Lester Ostlund, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Ostlund of Grygla were married Thursday in the Lutheran parsonage in Wannaska. Rev. Ostby officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Attending the couple were Mrs. Tobin Bolin, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid and Mr. Vernon Ostlund, brother of the groom as best man. The bride wore a dusty brown suit with double strand of pearls. Her corsage was made up of red and white roses. Her bridesmaid was attired in a dark suit dress and her corsage was of yellow carnations. The groom wore a gray suit with a boutonniere of white carnation and the best man wore a blue gray suit and he also had a white carnation in his lapel.

A reception was given at the brides home immediately following the ceremony. The happy couple left for a honeymoon trip the same evening. They will make their home on a farm near Skime, namely, the old John Lund farm.

There's not much news this week except hunting and more hunting. Our men sure didn't have to be bothered with cold weather and seemed to thoroughly enjoy their hunting. A little snow for tracking deer would have been appreciated though. I think most of the women are breathing a sigh of relief now that it's over. From reports there seemed to be plenty deer but they were plenty hard to get, most of the guys went home with their tags filled.

Mr. and Mrs. George Harrison and girls from St. Paul spent the weekend in the Emil Ostlund home. George tried his luck at hunting and took a nice deer back with him.

Isac Laslila stayed with the E. Ostlunds during hunting.

Mr. Miller and son and Mr. Knutson from St. Paul stayed in the L. H. Davy home through hunting season.

Body of Roseau Co. Pastor, Missing a Year, Discovered

Rev. E. E. Lindsey, 82, of Roosevelt Had Wandered from Home July 23, 1951

The remains of the late Rev. E. E. Lindsey, aged Roosevelt pastor who wandered away from his home over a year ago, have been found, says the Roseau Times-Region.

Discovery of the remains was made by Ralph Woodcock of Perley, Norman county, November 15. He and his companions, Nick Nelson, Colin Krogstad and Ernest Houglum, all of Perley, were hunting deer in that area. Woodcock hunted in the same area a year ago and was familiar with the story of the aged pastor's disappearance.

He first saw the jawbone of what looked like a human being and noted the rest of the find. He marked the spot and the way out, and notified Sheriff E. B. Sillerud. He and Coroner Jack Delmore hastened to the spot. The location was one and three-quarters of a mile south and one-quarter of a mile west of Roosevelt. The location is low and thick with brush, timber and grass.

The officials made a thorough investigation and within an area of 100 square feet found the bones of the skeleton. Enough of the clothing was still left to assure identification by Leverne Oseid of Roosevelt, whose sister-in-law is a daughter of the pastor.

Rev. Lindsey was eighty-two years old. He had been failing mentally and physically and members of the family sought to keep him in sight all of the time. However, on the morning of Tuesday, July 23, a year ago he slipped away. When he did not return in the afternoon the family became very much alarmed and search for him began.

Hunters Asked to List Game Taken

Urged to Send in Cards to St. Paul without Delay

With the seasons on upland game, and waterfowl now concluded, nimrods who are not going to continue hunting for species on which the season is still open (grey and fox squirrels, cottontail and jack rabbits, snowshoe rabbits, and raccoon) are urged to fill in and return their small game hunter's report cards.

Small game report cards require no postage. Hunter's are required by law to send them in, whether or not they were successful in bagging game.

Big game report cards should be completed and sent in immediately, as the open season on deer concluded November 23. These cards require two cents postage.

Hunter's report cards play an important role in game management, enabling technicians to estimate the season's kill and present population—information required for planning of next year's hunting regulations.

Closing dates on other game animals are as follows:

Grey squirrel and fox squirrel, December 31; cottontail rabbit and jack rabbit, March 1, 1953; snowshoe rabbit, March 1, 1953; raccoon, December 1.

FU Grain Terminal Assn. to Meet in St. Paul Dec. 8-10

Farmers Union Grain Terminal Association of St. Paul, the nation's largest regional grain marketing cooperative, will hold its 1952 annual meeting December 8, 9 and 10 in the St. Paul municipal auditorium.

More than 3,500 stockholders and delegates from Minnesota, the Dakotas, and Montana are expected to attend.

The cooperative now handles more than 100 million bushels of grain a year for its members. It serves 642 local cooperative elevators in four states.

The GTA delegates will study a proposal to "increase capitalization of their cooperative from $25 million to more than $35 million."

Polk Co. 4-H Group 'Club of the Year'

Beltrami Club Most Outstanding in State

The Beltrami 4-H club of West Polk county has been named 4-H Club of the Year.

Selection of the Beltrami club as the outstanding 4-H group in the state was announced today by Leonard Harkness, state 4-H club leader at the University of Minnesota. Clubs in every county in the state competed for the honor."

In recognition of the work done by the adult leaders who have worked with the group, one of them, Wayne Ewing, will receive an all-expense trip to the national 4-H club congress in Chicago November 30-December 4. Mrs. Ewing, who with her husband has been an adult leader of the club for the past six years, will accompany him to Chicago.

The club has a membership of 70 and has had a record of 100 per cent completion of all projects since 1945. Members of the club have exhibited extensively at county fairs and achievement days, have participate in county contests, held a tour and an annual achievement banquet.

Many individual members have won special honors. Doris Carlson and Janice Ewing received championship honors at the Crookston Winter Shows and a blue ribbon at the 1952 Minnesota state fair for their dairy foods demonstration on pasteurizing milk. Two others won trips to the 1952 state fair, Kenneth Ewing as a member of the judging team and Forrest Mosher, who was chosen to go attend Minnesota Farm Boys' camp, where he received special athletic awards and was elected honorary camper for 1953. Earlier in the summer Doris Carlson was selected as one of the 27 4-H members in the state who went to Mississippi under the Minnesota-Mississippi exchange program.

Adult project leaders of the club are Mrs. Warren Carlson, Mrs. Oscar Aanden, Mrs. Paul Fisher, Mrs. Leland Hanson, Carl Carlson and George Gast, Jr.

U. S. Buys Turkeys to Ease Surplus

Announces Purchase of 1,230,000 lbs. in State

The department of agriculture last week in Washington announced purchase of 1,230,000 pounds of frozen ready-to-cook 1952 crop turkeys in Minnesota under its surplus removal program.

This is the largest single amount purchased in Minnesota since the program was announced Aug. 28 to remove temporary surpluses resulting in low prices. Previously the government bought 120,000, 150,000 and 390,000 pounds in Minnesota.

John Tewes, Minneapolis, executive secretary of the Minnesota Turkey Growers association, welcomed the government move.

The Minnesota crop of 5,108,000 birds—equivalent to about 75 million pounds—is the largest in history, he said. Government purchases will help boost slumping prices.

Total government purchases now amount to 41,167,578 pounds. Yesterday's announcement covered purchases totaling 5,843,000 pounds in California, Illinois, Missouri, Nebraska, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Virginia and Minnesota.

The birds will be distributed via non profit school lunch programs next February and March.

High State Taxes Held Industry Bar

Labor Leader and Banker Agree on Statement

A labor spokesman and banker joined last week in a report that high property and income taxes are keeping new industries out of Minnesota.

"The Minnesota tax climate is unhealthy," the Minnesota Development Council was told by one of its committees after a survey, made by G. Sidney Houston, First Bank Stock Corp. investment research manager, and Orlin Folwick, publication relations director for the Minnesota Federation of Labor.

The council was named last spring by Governor Anderson, and the survey has been under way since.

The report points out that Minnesota has failed to attract any new industries for the past decade and that, in the same period, 165,000 residents have left the state to seek employment elsewhere.

Valuations Are Raised in Three Marshall Towns

Three Marshall county municipalities were given across the board raises in valuation of certain properties by the Minnesota tax commission in an order filed with Chas. N. Kranz, county assessor, in Warren November 17.

In Argyle, the commissioner raised the valuation 25 per cent on all Class 3 personal property which includes business inventories. In both Stephen and Warren a flat valuation increase of 10 per cent on all buildings, business and residential, was ordered. There were also somotions within the county, Kranz minor changes in other valua-stated.

Catholic Church Near Greenbush Is Destroyed by Fire

St. Aloysius Catholic Church at Leo burned to the ground November 16. The location is seven miles north of Greenbush. Father Adamic is serving the parish.

At about 8 o'clock, fire was discovered in the building. The Greenbush fire department was contacted and help in the community summoned. However, the fire had gained such headway that only a small amount of the church fixtures and equipment could be saved.

The church was one of the largest of the Catholic churches in this section. The settlers of that community were mainly Polish people and came from North Dakota. They built the original part of the church in 1898. The building was 30x40. In 1905 an addition 34 feet long was constructed, as well as a tower addition, also 34 feet.

It is believed that the fire started from the furnace following the heating of the church for the hunters' mass in the early morning.

Friday evening, December 5th, the senior class of Pershing High School will stage its annual play. This year's production is "Meet Corliss Archer," a comedy in three acts, adapted from F. Herbert's book by Christopher Sergel.

Corliss, busy with a homework character sketch of her Mother, is so bored she could scream. She feels everyone is in a terrible rut—especially boy friend "holy cow" Dexter. She has just had word that her Cousin Agnes, an especially nosy and disagreeable relative, is about to arrive. Mother cracks down and decides that Corliss will spend the evening cleaning her room instead of going to the movie as was originally planned. When her parents exit, Corliss begins an imaginary diary that would curl anyone's hair. She writes up her Father as a raving alcoholic and describes Dexter as a juvenile delinquent. Cousin Agnes picks up the diary, reads it, and believes that it is true. The horrified parents tell Dexter never to set foot in the house again. No one will listen to explanations, and Corliss is surprised to find how miserable she is at the separation. She also has a pain in her side and is rushed to the hospital for an appendectomy.

She calls to the banished Dexter but he is ordered to remain away. Separated by such a crisis, it takes a considerable amount of time before the plot is unfolded and before the two young people can see each other again. The play moves on swiftly and skillfully to comedy once more and to an ingenious and hilarious finale.

The cast includes the following people: Delores Brekke, Phillip Ostby, Jane Carlson, Bernice Sorenson, Carol Kela, Raymond Gustafson, Marlo Hinkley, Helen Waldal, Lila Malwitz, Eldon Burstad, Lucille Mahla and Viola Nurmi.

Those working on the production staff are Janice Sorenson, Ronald Craft, Esther Eliason, Leonard Fehr, Gerald Toulouse, Roger Westerlund, Eddy Ulrich and Francis Brault.

Face Cleaning

A refreshing way to clean your face is this. Dampen cotton with skin lotion or astringent; dip it in your cleansing cream; wash your face with it. Remove the cream with astringent alone, and your skin will feel very fresh.

Cheap

It normally costs on the average less than three cents a day to give a pair of eyes all the professional care they need to keep them in good condition.

FIRST AID for Everybody

XII—First Aid in Civil Defense

(This is the last of a series of articles, written especially for Central Press Association and this newspaper on first aid, a subject gripping the nation in the light of threatened atomic aggression. The articles are based on the American Red Cross First Aid course. First aid principles, applicable to atomic as well as other disasters, are outlined. The Red Cross offers a 22-hour course free which teaches fully the technique of first aid.)

By Central Press

AT TIMES the usual first aid methods must be modified to do the best for the most but the basic principles of good care still can be followed.

The Civil Defense supplement to the Red Cross First Aid textbook warns that a first aider should not permit the urgency of a situation to lead him into an "anything goes" attitude. He should adopt as his guide the "best first aid possible under the over-all circumstances."

In the case of disaster, first aid procedures should be confined to the minimum necessary to protect casualties until medical help is available. First aiders should work in an organized, orderly fashion. They may have to handle many victims. The Red Cross first aid course has been extended from 18 to 22 hours to cover their duties.

Blanket can be used to remove seriously injured person from danger.

The extent of first aid in an atom bomb attack must be geared to several factors, including the distance from the center of a blast and first aid stations in given areas. Up to a mile and a quarter in all directions from the blast center will be the area of very heavy destruction and loss of life. The damage and casualties will still be severe a mile and seven-eighths from the center, but not so bad as in the first area, and they will be relatively minor three and an eighth miles away.

The first aider's first job may be to get a victim to safety. If walls are falling he can't wait for a stretcher and he can't "splint them where they lie." He may not be able to cleanse a minor cut or scratch. This patient may have to walk to a rear area.

But the Red Cross textbook's rules to see what injuries the patient has and to treat the most serious ones first, hold good in an atom bomb attack. It is estimated that in Hiroshima and Nagasaki 85 per cent of the fatalities were due to wounds, fractures, crushing injuries and burns. Five to 15 per cent were due to radiation sickness.

The first aider's work for the most part will be to arrest hemorrhage, treat burns, relieve pain, care for shock and apply dry dressings, no ointments, where possible.

Atom bomb injuries are classified as follows:

1—Injuries due to force of explosion.
   (a) Indirect blast injury—the force of the wave will topple buildings and shatter glass, causing injuries.
   (b) Direct blast injury due to pressure changes.
2—Burn injuries.
   (a) Flash burns—caused by radiant heat waves coming from the bomb.
   (b) Other thermal (heat) burns caused by flame or contact with hot objects.

Sewage Problem in Warren Cause of Suit vs. City

An action to enjoin and restrain the City of Warren from using the city sewer system outlet into the Snake river and demanding judgment against the city for $5,000 as damages has been served on the city by S. G. Enebak, owner of farm property just west of the sewer Imhoff tank outlet.

The summons and complaint were served on the city on October 24 by John W. Padden and Robert A. Peterson, Crookston attorneys, acting for the plaintiff, Mr. Enebak.

An answer to the complaint is being prepared by the city attorney, Sletten C. Olson, who stated that it is probable that the matter may come before the district court at the fall term which got under way in Warren this week.

Plan for Winter Shows Feb. 23-27

President T. M. McCall Announces Early Details

The 43rd annual Red River Valley Winter Shows and Northwest School Farmers' Week will be held at Crookston on February 23-27, 1953. T. M. McCall, superintendent of Northwest School and president of the Winter Shows board of managers, announced that the general plans for the week approved by the board include: Monday, February 23—judging contests and soils conservation day; Tuesday, February 24—junior livestock futurity, crops and garden society day; Wednesday, February 25—4-H club and livestock day; Thursday, February 26—livestock sales, potato and sugar beet day, and Valley Farmer and Homemaker Recognition; and Friday February 27—livestock sales day.

Music for the evening programs will be provided by one outstanding band for each evening. George Grim of Minneapolis has been secured as an evening speaker for February 25. Arrangements for outstanding speakers for February 24 and February 26 are pending.

Superintendents of admissions appointed for the Winter Shows include Paul Engelstad of Thief River Falls, general superintendent of concessions and livestock shows; J. E. Wilder, Crookston, superintendent of day admissions, and G. E. Miller of Crookston, superintendent of night admissions.

Detailed plans for the livestock, crops, poultry, and 4-H club shows are being worked out by each of the respective organizations.

DON'T BE MISER WITH CAR LIGHTS AT DUSK

Saving on lights in the home might be prudent at times, says the Minnesota Safety Council, but being stingy about turning your car's lights on at dusk is asking for trouble. You might be able to see the road ahead, but it is often difficult for oncoming traffic to see you. Many early evening accidents could be averted, says the Council, if motorists would turn on at least their parking lights during early dusk. It doesn't cost you any more to operate your car with the lights on, but it can save you a lot of grief.

Lake of Woods Co. Youth Accused of Shooting 13 Deer

August Otto, 18, Lake of the Woods county, who is accused of shooting 13 deer, was bound over to district court.

Otto appeared before justice of the peace Katherine M. Mason in Williams Nov. 13 on four charges, two of shooting deer out of season, one of transporting deer illegally shot and one of shining deer.

Mrs. Mason fined Otto $100 and costs or 90 days in jail on each of the two charges of shooting deer out of season and bound him over to district court on the other counts.

Otto, who had the animals stored in buildings on his father's farm, said he and his family have been eating the meat.

1907 MILL CITY FOOTBALL TEAM STAGES REUNION

North High won the Minneapolis public school football title this year, first time since 1918. Members of the undefeated 1907 North High team were on hand to help celebrate—16 of the 18 surviving members of the not-much-larger squad came from far east and far west for their 45th annual reunion. Not only did they take high schools in stride, but defeated Hamline, St. John's and Shattuck, and clinched the "national" title by taking Oak Park, Illinois 36 to 0. North High that year held their opponents scoreless while piling up 235 points in seven starts.

Safety Council Issues Winter Driving Hints

First reports of the year of ice and snow on highways brings the annual reminder from the Minnesota safety council of the added hazards and dangers which will confront motorists for the next several months. The council offers the following basic rules for safe winter driving.

1. Get the feel of the road. Try your brakes occasionally, while driving slowly and away from other traffic, to find out just how slippery the road is.
2. Slow down. Adjust your speed to road and weather conditions so that you can stop or maneuver safely.
3. Keep windshield and windows clear. You must see danger to avoid it, so be sure your headlights, windshield wiper blades and defrosters are in topnotch condition.
4. Use tire chains on snow and ice. They cut stopping distances about in half, and increase starting and hill-climbing traction by four to seven times.
5. Pump your brakes to slow down or stop. Jamming them on can lock the wheels and throw your car into a dangerous skid.
6. Follow at a safe distance. Keep well back of the car ahead so you have room to stop. Remember that without tire chains it takes three to 12 times as far to stop on snow and ice as on dry concrete.

The Council also pointed out that synthetic rubber tires cause cars to skid about eight per cent farther on snow or ice than tires which were made with natural rubber. They also have from 14 to 35 per cent poorer forward traction ability than pre-war natural rubber tires.

Reservists in Air Force Responding to Questionnaire

Tenth Air Force headquarters completed its reserve personnel mail inventory project this week in Pennington county, according to Major General Harry A. Johnson, Commanding General, Tenth Air Force, Selfridge Air Force Base, Michigan.

The general said that response to the inventory questionnaire does not increase the reservist's vulnerability to active military service, but is for the benefit of the reservist, his family and his employer by bringing his records up to date with current data which only the reservist can supply.

Forms should be accurately completed and returned within thirty days.

Reservists who have not received inventory questionnaires are urged to communicate with Headquarters Tenth Air Force, Selfridge Air Force Base, Michigan.

Santa Claus Will Pay Early Visit to TRF on Saturday, 10:30 a.m.

Youngsters thruout this area will be given a chance for a pre-holiday visit with that popular character Santa Claus Saturday morning, December 6, when Santa will arrive at the municipal Auditorium in Thief River Falls at 10:30 a. m. after his long journey from the North Pole.

The doors of the Auditorium will open at 10:15, and owing to the size of the crowds of children expected, admittance will be restricted to little folks age ten or younger, it was announced.

Santa promised that he will bring with him treats to be distributed to his little friends, and in this pleasant task he will be assisted by members of the Civic and Commerce association, which is sponsoring his visit thru the merchants committee.

Children and their parents will find Thief River Falls stores filled with a great array of items suitable for Christmas giving, and merchants advised early shopping in order to take full advantage of the complete selections.

The better to serve holiday shoppers, Thief River Falls stores will remain open evenings the last three Fridays and Saturdays before Christmas, on December 5 and 6, 12 and 13 and 19 and 20. Stores also will be open Monday and Tuesday evenings, December 22 and 23 and will close Christmas Eve at 5 o'clock.

To add to the festive occasion, attractive street decorations are being installed this week in the downtown area, adding materially to the holiday aspect.

Eisenhower's Cabinet Aides Are All Chosen

Secretaries of Labor and Commerce Named in New York Monday

President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower completed his cabinet Monday, naming labor leader Martin P. Durkin, a registered Democrat of Chevy Chase, Md., as secretary of labor, and industrialist Sinclair Weeks of Boston, Mass., as secretary of commerce.

Arthur H. Vandenberg, Jr., Eisenhower's secretary, announced the new appointments at the President-elect's Commodore hotel headquarters in New York.

Vandenberg also announced that Walter Williams, Seattle, Wash., chairman of the Citizens-for-Eisenhower campaign organization, had been named under-secretary of commerce.

The appointments thus completed Eisenhower's cabinet. Others named are John Foster Dulles, secretary of state; Charles E. Wilson, secretary of defense; George M. The first phase of the local Crusade for Freedom ended Monday, when Mrs. Norman Peterson, president of the American Legion auxiliary, reported that more than $200 had been collected by auxiliary members during the past week in the two local banks.

Mayor Harry E. Simons, who has been placed in charge of the campaign in Thief River Falls, by Benjamin Berger, state chairman, stated that he had sent letters this week to local organizations enlisting their financial support.

Simons explained that the crusade is raising funds to finance the operation of 13 radio transmitters now being used to broadcast the truth about the democratic way of life to the captive countries behind the Iron Curtain.

The campaign will come to an end Monday, December 15.

Bred Ewe Sale in January Canceled

Insufficient Number of Consignments Received

The bred ewe consignment sale, which had been scheduled originally for early this month in Thief River Falls and later was postponed to January 8 and 9, has been canceled, it was announced this week by Stanley Nelson of this city, who had been appointed sales manager of the event.

Given as the principal reason for the cancellation was the fact that an insufficient number of consignments had been entered to make a representative showing.

Nelson expressed the hope that a sale may be staged here in December, 1953, by which time it is anticipated conditions may be more favorable for the success of the event.

Total City Tax Rate Is Fixed at 145.89 Mills

Levy for Schools and City Purposes Accounts for 10.16 Mill Increase

The steadily mounting cost of operating the municipal government and the schools is reflected in the announcement this week that the total tax rate for the city of Thief River Falls for 1952 has been set at 145.89 mills, an increase of 10.16 mills over the 1951 rate of 135.73 mills, on which taxes were paid this year.

Following are the rates for 1951 and 1952 as computed in the office of County Auditor C. W. Rodekuhr for non-homestead exempt property, the homestead exemption rate being 2.26 mills lower:

	1952	1951
State levy	6.84	7.72
County	64.16	64.14
City	18.	14.75
S. D. 18	56.89	49.12
	145.89	135.73

Accounting for a considerable portion of the 7.77 mills increase in the levy for School District 18 is the fact that $10,000 is being included in the 1952 levy for a new building fund in anticipation of the imminent approach of the time when the mounting enrollment necessitates another addition to the school plant.

In addition to its maintenance levy of $98,628.80 or 34.31 mills, the school district is levying $39,[illegible] or 13.05 mills for capital outlay and $25,502 or 8.53 mills for bonds and interest, plus the required one mill levy.

As was pointed out in the Times last week, the 3.25 mills increase in the levy for city purposes was required in part by the fact that it was necessary this year to retire $102,000 in maturing bonds, with a similar large amount due to be paid off in 1953 unless a refinancing program is carried out in the meantime.

The state levy this year represents a decline of .88 mills from 1951, while the levy for county purposes remains virtually unchanged, being .02 of one mill higher.

Total rates of taxation for the villages of Goodridge and St. Hilaire will not be available until shortly after Tuesday, December 2, when local budgets were to be adopted in connection with the annual village elections.

With highways and sideroads in excellent condition, there was more than the usual amount of neighborhood visiting over the holiday, and Thanksgiving services in local churches were well attended.

$419,716 U. S. Grant Approved for Adding to Hospital in T. R. Falls

Eagerly Awaited Word Is Received Last Week from Thye, Humphrey

Prospects for an early start on construction of an addition to Plant B of Northwestern Hospital that will double its size became much brighter late last week with the receipt of messages announcing that the U. S. Public Health service had approved a grant of $419,716.35 for the project under provisions of the Hill-Burton act.

Total estimated cost of construction is $942,703, which leaves $522,986 as the sponsor's share. To meet its part of the agreement, the hospital has available well over $200,000 in pledges and cash subscribed by local citizens in a fund campaign a year ago, as well as assurances that the city will contribute $200,000 over a period of years from earnings of the municipal liquor dispensary.

The hospital board, President L. B. Hartz stated, has arranged to borrow $200,000 from local and Twin city banks, secured by hospital fund pledges, which with a like amount to be supplied by the city thru the sale of certificates of indebtedness, will supply the major portion of the sponsor's share, in addition to which there is a substantial amount of cash on hand.

Payments on pledges are being made steadily by hospital supporters, it was pointed out, and no doubt will come in at an accelerated rate now that the anticipated federal grant is assured to completed the financing of the project.

The board of trustees of the institution will discuss the situation further at its next meeting December 15, said President Hartz. Word of the grant was received here from Senator Edward J. Thye and Senator Hubert H. Humphrey.

M-Sgt. John D. Hanson Awarded Silver Star for Exploit in Korea

The Silver Star for gallantry has been awarded to a Thief River Falls soldier who reorganized a leaderless rifle company and led it in an assault against an enemy-held hill in Korea.

M/Sgt. John D. Hanson, whose wife, Joyce, and mother, Mrs. Carl Stromberg, live in this city, distinguished himself during the recent fighting for Triangle Hill to earn the nation's second highest decoration for gallantry in action.

Hanson also was recommended for a field commission.

Serving as first sergeant of Company I, in the 7th Infantry Division's 31st Regiment, Hanson took command of the company after all its officers and the top non-com had been killed or wounded.

He reformed the company into a squad and directed the assault, moving with his men across the steep, treacherous terrain under intense enemy fire.

Maj Gen Wayne C. Smith, 7th Division commander, presented the award in a front line ceremony.

Long-pending Project Awarded to Northwood, Minnesota, Contractor

The Pennington county board at its December session Tuesday voted to accept the low bid of John M. Sund of Northwood, Minnesota, in the amount of $22,636.32 for the improvement of County Ditch No. 39.

The project, which has been pending for several years, and which includes the construction of new laterals, is located in Cloverleaf, Goodridge, Highlanding and Kratka townships. Four bids were received.

For the support of agricultural extension work in the county, the board appropriated the sum of $1,510, which compares with $4,250 a year ago.

Finding that the school tuition fund is running short this year the 1952 levy for the purpose was raised to 18.5 mills after having been set tentatively at 16.5 mills at the July session.

A Marshall county coroner's jury last Wednesday found that the death of Melford Peterson, 13, of St. Hilaire, who died November 25 in a Thief River Falls hospital as the result of a gunshot wound in the back suffered while deer hunting, was accidental.

Peterson was hunting in a party of 12 St. Hilaire men when the accident occurred in the brush 7 miles west and 4 miles north of Grygla.

The jury which termed the death accidental met in Warren Wednesday morning and included: Glenn Aune, Fleet Gilbert, Ray Eastby, Alton Sparby, Arthur Johnson and Ernest Roe, all of Eckvoll township.

Small Chance of Reaching Goal in Community Chest

With Goal of $11,354, Less Than $7,000 Has Been Subscribed to Date

With only a few teams left to report, and with contributions of less than $7,000 to date, it appeared probable yesterday that the quota of $11,354 in the annual Pennington County Community Chest fund campaign will not be attained.

Jim Parkins, drive chairman, and other officers of the chest organization ascribed the apparent failure to the fact that too many citizens have made donations of one dollar, the same amount they would normally give to any one of the nearly a dozen agencies supported by the Community Chest if separate drives had been conducted as in earlier years.

It was announced that members of the public school faculty had made an excellent response to the appeal for contributions.

Phyllis Carlson Weds A1-c Donald Green Saturday

Baskets of white 'mums and candelabra provided a beautiful setting for the wedding of Phyllis Jean Carlson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Carlson of Thief River Falls and A 1/C Donald William Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Green, also of this city, at the First Lutheran Church at eight o'clock Saturday evening. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Carl F. Johnson in the presence of one hundred and fifty relatives and friends.

As the wedding guests were ushered to their seats, a program of nuptial selections was played by Miss Ilene Pearson. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Ray Larson, nee Helen Lindland, of Moorhead sang "Because", and, following the exchange of vows, she sang "The Lord's Prayer."

As Lohengrins' Wedding March was played, the bride proceeded to the altar on the arm of her father, by whom she was given in marriage. She was lovely in a gown of white bridal satin, designed with bodice of lace, high neckline, lace-covered buttons down front of bodice, long sleeves, and lace insert down front of the skirt which extended into a train. A crown of tiny seed pearls secured her fingertip veil of illusion net. She carried a white Bible, a gift from her parents, with a white orchid, surrounded by baby 'mums. The traditional "something old, something new, something borrowed, and something blue" was worn by the bride and her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom.

The bride was attended by Miss Glorian Pic as maid of honor and Miss Glenyce Lendobeja as bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of iridescent blue, with full skirts, lace boleros with three-quarter length sleeves, and stand-up collar. They carried bouquets of yellow roses encircled with baby 'mums and white carnations. Their tiny seed pearl earrings were gifts from the bride and they wore headdresses to match their gowns and trimmed with white lace.

Paul Green attended his brother as best man and the groomsman was Clifford Larson of this city. Herb Seline of Mora, Minn., served as usher. The groom wore his Air Force uniform and his attendants wore conventional business suits.

The bride's mother was attired in a two-piece teal blue dress with black accessories and the mother of the groom wore a navy dress, also with black accessories. Corsages of yellow roses and white carnations completed their costumes.

Following the ceremony, a reception was given by the parents of the bride in the church parlors. The tables were decorated with lighted tapers, baskets of yellow and white 'mums, and purple heather. A three-tiered wedding cake, topped with bride and groom figurines, flowers, and wedding bells, centered the bridal table. Waitresses were Mrs. Luverne Carlson, Mrs. Lyle Willer, and Miss Betty Skibicki. Mrs. Lawrence Berg cut the wedding cake and Mrs. Palmer Lornatson and Mrs. Howard Sosby poured. Helen Green and Marlys Thom arranged the gift table and Dorothy Huseth had charge of the guest book.

For their wedding trip to Detroit Lakes and Minneapolis, the bride chose a teal blue two-piece knit dress with red accessories and the white orchid from her bouquet. The couple will make their home at Great Falls, Montana, where the groom is stationed with the Air Force.

Out of town guests attending the wedding included the following: Herb Seline and Helen Green, Mora, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. Iver Green and son David, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Green, and Miss Leola Green, Fargo; Mrs. Idor Green, Detroit Lakes; Mrs. Anna Green and son Burton, of Audubon; Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Zimmerman, Oklee; Mrs. Lyle Willer, Grafton; Mrs. Bernard Skibicki, Betty Lou and Bernard, Fordville, N. D.; Mrs. Mary Hagness, Fordville, N. D.; Mr. and Mrs. William Huggins, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Berg and daughter Joanie, and Mrs. Lorna Lemier, Grand Forks.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Olson and son Jeffrey Ray left Friday for Harvey, N. Dak. after a three months stay in Thief River Falls. They were accompanied by Ray's sister, Yvonne Olson, and Ray Sylvester, who will visit for a couple of days at the Richard Olson and Dewey Amlot homes en route to St. Paul, where they are both employed.

Dorothy Geving Becomes Bride of Robert Kidd

St. Luke's American Lutheran Church at Sacramento, California, was the scene of a beautiful candlelight wedding at seven o'clock Saturday evening, November 1, when Miss Dorothy Idelle Geving, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Geving of Thief River Falls, became the bride of Robert Bruce Kidd, son of Mr. W. R. Kidd of Berkley, California. Rev. Arnold C. Schultz read the double ring ceremony in the presence of relatives and friends.

The white-carpeted aisle was lined at each side with tall white baskets of white chrysanthemums and white baby 'mums arranged around lighted white candles.

The prelude of nuptial music was played by Thomas Thompson of Sacramento and, preceding the ceremony Donald Grosslie sang "At Dawning." As the couple knelt before the altar, Mr. Grosslie sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. A. L. Blackstad, of Richfield, Calif., who was also her sponsor at her baptism in infancy. She was lovely in a chapel length gown of Chantilly lace over tulle and satin, designed with long tapered sleeves, snug bodice, and bustle effect skirt. Her scalloped veil of French silk was arranged from a Juliet hat of seed pearls and Chantilly lace. She carried a white Bible with white butterfly orchids and white stephanotis tied with white satin streamers. The traditional "something old, something new, something borrowed, and blue" was carried out in the bridal attire.

Attending the bride were her twin sisters, Marian of Minneapolis as maid of honor, and Muriel of Los Angeles as bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of pink nylon tulle over taffeta, and carried pink muffs with deep pink chrysanthemums and maroon streamers. Their headbands were fashioned of velvet and nylon net.

Best man was the groom's brother, Herbert Kidd of Berkeley, and Robert Durkin of San Francisco was the groom's other attendant. The groom and his groomsmen wore white jackets and black trousers. Ushers were Robert Durkin and Leonard McCord.

For the wedding of her daughter, Mrs. Geving wore a navy dress with matching accessories and a corsage of chartreuse spider 'mums and tea leaves in variegated colors.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors for approximately eighty-five guests. Centering the bridal table was a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and groom, and decorated with wedding bells and lovebirds carrying a wedding ring. Mrs. James Thompson of Sacramento poured, Coranne Perez cut the wedding cake, and Louise Notti had charge of the guest book. The gift table was arranged by Florence Mendes.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln High School, attended Concordia College, and graduated from the Minnesota School of Business in Minneapolis. She was employed by the Augsburg Publishing House until last fall when she left for California where she has held a secretarial position with the Davidson-Jenkel Optical Co. at Sacramento. The groom attended schools in Berkeley and is a veteran of the Korean war.

As the couple left to spend their honeymoon in Mexico and LaJolla, California, the bride was wearing a two-piece gray dress with gray coat and matching accessories. Her corsage was of white baby orchids. Mr. and Mrs. Kidd will make their home in Berkeley, where the groom plans to attend the University of California.

Among the out of town guests attending the wedding were the bride's mother of Thief River Falls, and Miss Edna Stein, formerly of this city.

Spending Thanksgiving day at the Martin Rux home at Grand Forks were Mrs. Fred Rux, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rux, Darrell Sevre, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Krause, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Bengtson, Sharon and Bonnie, Evelyn and Stella Bengtson.

Ernest Norquist before an altar decorated with chrysanthemums and lighted candelabra.

Miss Phyllis Dobson was at the organ for a program of nuptial music preceding the ceremony and Mrs. G. H. Kraywinkle was the accompanist for Rev. Norquist as he sang "O Perfect Love." As the couple knelt for the benediction, Rev. Norquist sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gray suit, white hat, and shoes and purse in gray reptile leather. Roses and 'mums made up the bridal corsage. Her attendant, Miss Gertrude McFarlane of Badger, also wore a gray suit with white hat and a similar corsage. Best man was Donald Guillemette of Plummer, a friend of the couple.

Mrs. Hofius wore a rose dress with a corsage of white carnations and the mother of the groom wore a navy dress with a corsage of pink carnations.

Marriage Vows Exchanged in Evening Ceremony

Baskets of cut flowers graced the altar of the Evangelical Free Church for the candlelight ceremony which at eight o'clock on Friday evening united in marriage Miss Clarice M. Skyberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence T. Skyberg of Lancaster, and Gilbert E. Trontvet, son of Mrs. Gunda Trontvet of Thief River Falls. The double ring service was read by Rev. J. O. Jacobsen in the presence of two hundred relatives and friends.

Mrs. Floyd Dalzell, sister of the groom, played the piano prelude. Mr. Dalzell sang "Because" as the bride entered with her father, and "Together" as the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride wore a gown of white satin, styled with long sleeves coming to a point at the wrist, fitted bodice closed at the back with tiny satin-covered buttons, and skirt extending into long train.

The bride's mother was attired in a green dress and the mother of the groom wore dusty lavendar, each with corsages of red roses and white 'mums.

Here's how to ease BACK STRAIN and get sounder sleep...

So many people let back trouble cheat them of sound sleep. If you wake up in the morning with that tired dreary feeling and with a stiff or sore back, do what eminent doctors recommend:

Choose a mattress that will relieve muscular tension and encourage healthy normal posture. A too-soft or mushy mattress keeps the muscles tensed all night ... it literally surrounds you on all sides ... you toss and turn to overcome the mattress "clinginess."

Here's the answer. Get POSTURE-REST—a new firm mattress especially-designed for those with back troubles. It gives you firm, level support. You'll sleep better and feel better than ever before.

CHOOSE YOUR FARM ORGANIZATION BY ITS RECORD

ONLY THE FARMERS UNION—Fought in Washington for firm, high-level price supports and prevented the "flexible" price support system from going into effect this year as scheduled under the Agricultural Act of 1949 and as URGED BY OTHER FARM ORGANIZATIONS.

ONLY THE FARMERS UNION—Opposed the proposed cuts in appropriations for soil conservation vitally needed in national interest.

ONLY THE FARMERS UNION—Defended the farmer-elected PMA committeeman system against attacks of those who do not want the farmer to run the farm program.

ONLY THE FARMERS UNION—Opposed efforts of the private power utilities to monopolize the supply of electric power from the Missouri River projects.

ONLY THE FARMERS UNION—Helped the REA fight against the discriminatory 3½% tax on REA power.

ONLY THE FARMERS UNION—Supported the St. Lawrence Seaway project without any "strings" attached.

ONLY THE FARMERS UNION—Is fighting for price supports at full parity on all farm production, including perishables, which in Minnesota make up 70% of the cash farm income.

THE FARMERS UNION opposes the sales tax, opposes the NTEA attack on co-ops, opposes freight rate increases on agricultural commodities, supports full appropriations for farm credit, rural telephone, REA, and other agencies.

Every farmer should belong to a farm organization. If you believe in the above program—if you really want something done about getting fair farm prices—if you want parity in your pocketbook (instead of flimsy theorizing about parity in the market place)—you belong with us in the FARMERS UNION.

Main av. Motors to Show 1953 Pontiac Saturday, Dec. 6th

New Models Are Marked by Roomier Bodies and Increased Wheelbase

Main Av. Motors, local Pontiac dealers, will display the 1953 line of Dual-Streak Chieftain cars in its show rooms Saturday, December 6. Kern Olson, manager, announced, adding that free door prizes will be awarded.

For 1953 Pontiac introduces a completely new line of automobiles with new roomier bodies, mounted on longer wheelbase chassis, with important improvements incorporated in styling, riding qualities, ease of steering, and equipment; and, in the case of the six cylinder model, substantially increased power.

Eleven body styles are incorporated in the new line in three series, the Special, Deluxe and Custom. They include two and four door sedans, three station wagons, a convertible coupe and two new Catalinas. Each series is introduced with either eight or six cylinder engines.

Featuring the new bodies, which are immediately distinguishable from previous models by their large one piece wrap-around rear windows, one-piece curved windshields, high deck contour, modern rear-fin fender design and completely revised styling of sheet metal and trim, are new luxurious and highly practical interiors.

In addition, such engineering advances as power steering, as optional equipment, modified Curve Control front suspension, ignition key starting, electronic headlight dimmers, improved Dual-Range Hydramatic transmissions, and other technical developments characterize the new cars.

Plan New Route from Winnipeg to Join Highway 59

Manitoba Works Minister William Morton said in Winnipeg last week Manitoba will have direct highway routes to Minneapolis and Duluth through its southeastern section by the end of next year if the 1953 highway program is approved by the government.

In a statement, he said it was expected the La Rochelle-Tolstoi road to the international boundary would be taken over as a provincial trunk highway. This would connect with U. S. Highway No. 59 extending north from Lancaster, and provide a through route to Winnipeg.

Morton also said the government probably would construct No. 12 (Ste. Anne-Steinbach) through to Piney, thus connecting with U. S. Highway No. 89.

Homemakers Busy with Lampshades

Home Project to Study Beef Cookery in January

Members of the Pennington county home extension organization have been busy making lampshades during the past month, this being one of the lessons in the 1952 home extension program. Over 100 lampshades were made at the workshops conducted by Mrs. Sylvia Olson, home agent, at Thief River Falls and Goodridge.

Many different types of shades were made including fabric-covered, fabric-lined; fabric-covered, paper-lined; and laced-on shades. Denims, embossed cottons, dotted swiss, taffetas, butcher linens, and light-weight drapery fabrics were some of the materials used for lampshades. The laced-on shades were made of different colored polyplastic.

The next lesson in the home extension program will be held during January on the topic, "Beef Cookery."

Anyone interested in joining the homemakers organization can do so by contacting Sylvia Olson at the county agent's office in the Auditorium.

Prowler Quint Whips Fertile 49-30; Plays R. L. Falls on Friday

A lanky Prowler basketball team, using its decided height advantage to smother a small and inexperienced Fertile Falcon team, scored a comparatively easy 49 to 30 win over the visitors in a season-opening game played here Tuesday night.

On Friday night the Prowlers, the defending champions of the 31st district, will open conference competition by meeting coach Darold King's Red Lake Falls Eagles on the local floor. On Tuesday night, Dec. 9th, coach Bob Nick's squad will journey to Fosston for a game against the Greyhounds, resuming a long-time rivalry that has been in recess since 1949.

The Prowlers, setting up a blanket-like defense, held Fertile to two points, on free throws, in the first period of Tuesday night's encounter, and, on field goals by LeRoy Aasland, Larry Evanstad, Art Johnson, and Duane Rafteseth, and three free throws, picked up thirteen points on offense.

In the second period, with some red-hot basket-shooting by Evenstad, Rafteseth, and Gary Smith, coach Nick's team racked up eighteen points, and held a commanding 31 to 10 lead at the half-time.

The Prowlers, with big Art Johnson notching three field goals and a free throw in third period, boosted their point margin to 44 to 16, and gave the local mentor an opportunity to send numerous reserves into the game. In the final period, the ever-scrappy Fertile club, with Rod Rasmus scoring nine points, outpointed the Prowlers 14 to 5.

The Prowler scoring was very well divided, with Smith collecting 13 points, Rafteseth, tallying 12 points, and Johnson adding 11 points. Evenstad scored 8 points, all in the first half; and Lefty Aasland pushed in a pair of field goals.

Fertile's Rod Rasmus won the game's high-point honors, scoring 16 points on five field goals and six free throws.

Social Security Man Stationed in City December 9

A representative of the Grand Forks office, Social Security Administration, will be at the employment office in Thief River Falls beginning at 10:00 a. m. on Tuesday, December 9th to give information and take applications for payments.

A person working part time, or during the holiday seasons for an employer under the Social Security Act, needs to have a social security account number card. This rule is in accordance with the law, was the statement of W. D. Kistler, manager of the Grand Forks office.

Lost or mislaid cards cause considerable trouble, and every worker should at once apply for a duplicate card to replace the lost one. Workers should show their cards to their employers as soon as they start to work.

Thieves Hockey Team Opens Season Dec. 6-7 vs. Winnipeg Orioles

The senior hockey season will open at 8:45 p. m. on Saturday night, Dec. 6th, when player-coach Paul Bedard will skate his Thieves onto the ice sheet at the Arena for an exhibition game against the Winnipeg Orioles. The second game of the two-game series will be played on Sunday afternoon, with the face-off slated for 2:30 p. m.

An advance ticket sales campaign, with a bargain price of two games for a dollar, is being conducted. Tickets are available at local business places, and also from members of the Midget Hockey club, who will receive a percentage of their sales for use in purchase of equipment.

The two-game series against the Orioles, a well-rated hockey organization from Winnipeg's west end, will give the local fans an opportunity to greet the Thieves' new "imports", and renew acquaintances with the club's veteran members.

While center-ice players Jerry Lavergne and Murray Balagus are "imports" that have played with the Thieves in former years, the local club will put four new "imports" on the ice Saturday night and Sunday afternoon. Church Russell, six-foot, 185-pound wingman, who formerly played with the New York Rangers and the Cleveland Barons, is very highly rated.

Jack McGill, now a resident of Detroit Lakes, is an experienced goalie who has played with the St. Paul Saints and Cincinnati. Jerry Rouse, a 190-pound defenseman who has played with the Saskatoon Quakers and more recently completed three years of hockey in England. Oscar Verrier, a speedy 21-year old wingman from St. Boniface College, completes the quartet of "imports" that will be making their debut this week-end.

It is welcome news to the local fans that Jerry Lavergne, a spectacular stick-handler and a crowd-pleasing performer, will return to the Thieves' lineup. And that Murray Balagus, the wide-sweeping and far-ranging center-ice player, will also wear a local uniform.

And bolstering these "imports" will be such locals as Paul Bedard, Tony Dorn, Rob Amundson, Bruce Hall, Lloyd Johnson, Darryl Lund, Mouse Efteland, and Greek Swanson.

Vic Lindquist of Winnipeg will referee the exhibition series, and his presence will assure a well-officiated pair of games.

Classy Plummer Cage Team Takes Prowler B's 60-30

Coach Howie Casmey's classy Plummer high school team, with center Jim Kopp rolling in eight field goals and four free throws, and with Neil Craft lofting in five field goals and three free throws, defeated the Prowler 'B' team, 60 to 30, in a game played preliminary to the Thief River Falls vs. Fertile game here Tuesday night.

Except for the first quarter, when both teams each scored five field goals, and Plummer held an 18 to 13 advantage by virtue of converting on eight of eleven free throw tries, coach Casmey's squad controlled the game. Kopp, a very agile center who is adept with an over-hand hook shot, tallied thirteen points in the first half, giving the red-clad Plummer team a 30 to 17 lead at the intermission.

Plummer, outscoring the locals by ten points in the third period, 21 to 11, boosted their lead to 51 to 28 as the final quarter opened. Both teams utilized numerous reserves in the fourth period.

Ronnie Melhouse, with nine points, and Chuck Humes, with eight points, led the Prowler 'B' team scorers.

Hudson Bay Rules

The season of high elbows and checking in center-ice is just about to begin. In fact, that season, which means ice hockey, will open at 8:45 p. m. on Saturday night when the senior hockey Thieves face-off against the Winnipeg Orioles in the first game of a two-game series.

With the Arena ice sheet having been completed on Sunday, and with the first practice session being held on Monday night, hockey interest has been on the boom this week. Paul Bedard, the Thieves' capable player-coach, who has now joined the locals, will be sending the local talent—Tony Dorn, Bruce Hall, Rob Amundson, Lloyd Johnson, Darryl Lund, and Mouse Efteland—through strenuous skating drills this week in preparation for the exhibition series this weekend.

Paul isn't worried about the condition of the Thieves' "import" division, for he believes those boys—Church Russell, Murray Balagus, Jerry Lavergne, Oscar Verrier, Jerry Rouse, and Jack McGill—are ready to move into top-flight competition.

The capabilities of Balagus and Lavergne are well-known to local fans, with the pair being rated with the Northwest Hockey league's best play-makers. Of the newcomers, Church Russell and Jack McGill will attract the most interest. Russell is reputed to be a stand-out forward, having been a member of the New York Rangers organization. And Bud Brosolt, when he was here on a visit, stated that Rochester's Arley Carlson and player-coach Strobel were "high" on the goal-tending ability of McGill. Bedard, too, is acquainted with McGill's play, and he says that Jack is first-rate.

Cal Farley's Boys Ranch

The current issue of Life magazine carries a feature story on the experiences of a youngster at Boys Ranch at Amarillo, Texas. The item is of particular interest to those of us in northwestern Minnesota because the president and founder of the Boys Ranch organization is Cal Farley, formerly of Badger and Humboldt.

Farley is well-remembered around here because of his wrestling feats. Cal, in World War I, was the welterweight wrestling champion of the AEF, winning the title in the tournament held after the Armistice. And after the war, while employed at Humbolt, he wrestled here on numerous occasions, meeting such topnotchers as Ralph Parcaut, Butch Kolden, and others.

And speaking of the rabid wrestling enthusiasm of those years, how many fans can recall the furor that followed the outcome of the Loren Curtis vs. Sailor Jack match. The match, held in the spring of 1917, was heavily wagered, with local fans mortgaging their property in order to secure funds with which to support Curtis. And when Curtis lost the match, through circumstances that were questionable, there was more excitement here than when the city elected a socialist administration and raised a red flag in the city square.

For the Golfers

The local golf club is in receipt of a splendid trophy, a gift from that contingent of Twin City golfers that are annual participants in the local club's Invitational tournament. The trophy, which is about three feet high, will be used as an emblem to designate the winner of the Thief River Falls Invitational tournament. The trophy will remain in the possession of the local club, and the annual winners of the tourney will have their names engraved on the pedestal plate.

The local club's officers and members are deeply grateful to Ray Swanberg, Fred Storms, Jack Carroll, Pat Sawyer, Dick Evenson, and the others, for their gesture of friendship in presenting the trophy. We're glad to have those fellows up here, and they, apparently, are just as glad to come up here.

Rudy Mehlhoff and Vic Jung, claimants to the golf club's bridge-playing title, will be on hand to repel all challengers at the Stag Night on Wednesday night.

Fair Warning

If A. E. Baird, the Soo Line road-master who received a set of golf clubs from his co-workers in a presentation honoring his retirement from active service, can handle those clubs as deftly as he can maneuver a deer rifle, those Soo Line boys, Earl, Phil, Mel, Leo, and others, had better make arrangements for winter practice. They'll need it.

Baird, hunting around the Lake Bronson territory, and with Helmer Larson and Bernard Anderson as companions, bagged a buck deer that dressed out 225 pounds. Baird has been hunting with the sectionmen from Lake Bronson for several years, but this was the first time that A. E. had actually shot a deer. He was, and is, rightly proud of that accomplishment.

Muskrat Trapping Permitted Thru Monday, Dec. 15th

A 15-day open season for the taking of muskrats, from December 1 thru 15, has been ordered by Chester S. Wilson, commissioner of conservation.

The entire state, except state parks, state and federal game refuges, and public hunting grounds will be opened to the muskrat trapping.

Traps may be set in runways and entrances, but no person shall damage any muskrat house, bank den, and runway by removal of material for the purpose of placing a trap, the order states.

52 Traffic Deaths in State in November

The unusually fine weather which prevailed thruout Minnesota during most of November was held largely responsible for the relatively poor traffic record charged against motorists, with 52 fatalities reported as of late last week. The month's total, however, is expected to be increased somewhat when final reports including the month's last weekend, are tabulated by the traffic accident division of the state highway department.

An evident disregard of safe speeds and warning signs resulted in an abnormally high number of fatalities, with 30 deaths caused when vehicles left the roadway, turned over or struck fixed objects. Another alarming aspect of these deaths was the fact that a great number of teen-age drivers or passengers were involved. This latter fact caused Governor C. Elmer Anderson to point out the need for drastic measures to curtail these driving accidents among young people. He indicated that legislation would be introduced for the consideration by the 1953 legislature to curb the growing wave of this type of traffic mishaps.

Nine pedestrians were among the traffic victims and as in the past, they were either quite old or very young. Only one child, a youngster of 18 months, was killed during the month, with the other victims ranging in age from 54 to 90 years of age.

Collisions between motor vehicles brought death to 13 motorists. Only one of these was attributable to the inclement weather which descended upon the state last week and in this mishap two women were fatally injured when their car skidded into the path of a truck.

Last month's still incomplete traffic toll of 52 brought to 476 the number of people killed on Minnesota's streets and highways during the first 11 months of the year. This compared with 568 killed in the comparable period of last year and represents a saving of 92 lives.

"It is still possible," said Minnesota Safety Council President Arthur V. Rohweder, "to save 100 lives in traffic this year. All that is required is that Minnesota motorists and pedestrians drive and walk as though their very lives depended upon sensible driving and sane walking on streets and highways. If everyone will make certain that the life he saves is his own we can save 100 lives in 1952."

Eisenhower Aide Will Address FU St. Paul Meeting

Senator Frank Carlson of Kansas Will Speak at Dinner Tuesday, Dec. 9

Senator Frank Carlson of Kansas, one of the top farm advisers on the staff of President-elect Eisenhower, will speak Tuesday, December 9, at the annual meeting of Farmers Union Grain Terminal association in St. Paul.

During the recent campaign tour, Senator Carlson was one of the General's closest confidants. He is expected to give the more than 3,500 co-op delegates at the GTA meeting a preview of the new administration's plans for handling farm problems during the next few years.

In his home community of Concordia, Kansas, Senator Carlson is a farmer and stockman. Experienced in farm matters, he served in the Kansas state legislature, as governor of the state, United States representative, and was elected senator in 1950.

His speech Tuesday, December 9, will be given before the annual dinner of Farmers Union GTA delegates and employees in the St. Paul Auditorium, Arena section.

The talk will be broadcast from 7:30 to 8:00 p. m. over WCCO in the Twin Cities area, and a network of Northwest radio stations. Auditorium doors will open to the public for the talk, according to M. W. Thatcher, GTA General Manager.

Delegates to the GTA meeting, from the two Dakotas, Montana and Minnesota, are expected to center their attention on the problem of farm price protection.

The price protection problem will come to a head in 1955, when the present 90 percent support loan program on wheat, corn and other basic crops expires. This is one of the major problems with which the Republican administration will be called upon to seek a solution.

Farmers Warned of High Price of New Kind of Oats

Minnesota farmers were warned today against high prices and unjustified claims for Missouri 0-205 seed oats.

Prices of 5 to $10 per bushel have been asked for this variety, according to reports received by agronomists at the University of Minnesota. They pointed out that C. A. Helm, secretary of the Missouri Seed Improvement Association, which brought out the variety, had made the statement that $3 to $4 should be the top price range for this seed.

Dr. W. M. Myers, chief of the department of agronomy and plant genetics at the University of Minnesota, said, "In yield tests to date, Missouri 0-205 has been a good yielding variety, but so far I can say it is no better than some of the varieties on the Minnesota recommended list.

"It is certainly quite evident that it is not enough better to warrant the high prices being asked. There is a very good probability that it won't be placed on the Minnesota recommended list this winter, since it will need three years of testing."

A STUDY IS NEEDED

State Treasurer Val Bjornson spoke on the subject of permanent trust funds at a national meeting of state officials at Phoenix, Arizona, last month. A reading of his speech convinces us that he was well prepared for the occasion. As a nationwide survey of the history and present status of such funds his address was truly informative.

It is interesting to know that Minnesota leads the nation in the size of trust funds on a per capita basis and that our state's total of about 220 million dollars is exceeded only by the 350 million dollar total of the state of Texas. Texas and Minnesota together have more than half of the national total, and the top ten states have considerably more than 90% of the nation-wide aggregate.

Practically all trust funds are built up from the same sources, publicly owned lands and severance taxes on irreplaceable natural resources. About 40 million dollars of our Minnesota trust funds came from the sale of trust fund lands and the products of such lands. Most of the funds, about 173 millions, came from the half of the royalty and occupational taxes on the iron ore industry that is dedicated to this purpose. It is this latter source that has produced so abundantly in recent years.

There has been considerable talk about limiting our trust funds, and with increasing government costs and new problems in finding adequate sources of tax revenue, there probably will be more of such talk. To apply more of this revenue to the cost of improvements that may be looked upon as fairly permanent rather than invest it and use only what it earns as an investment is especially appealing in times like this when its earning capacity is low.

The limiting probably will take care of itself to a large extent however. As the high grade ores are depleted the revenue from royalty and occupational taxes will diminish too. The surest source of future revenue probably is our forest land. By sound practices we can make secure increased as well as permanent revenues from this source.

Mr. Bjornson's paper on the subject should do much to encourage a special study on the overall problem of our trust funds and their management. His report suggests that there are a few things we might learn from other states. It is always reasonable to assume that we can profit by a study of the experience of others as well as by a search for shortcomings in our own operations.

WELL REPRESENTED

Farm leaders, generally, seem well satisfied with Eisenhower's selection for head of the Department of Agriculture. Ezra T. Benson of Utah has long been recognized nationally as one of the wheel horses of organized agriculture.

Few men have a broader background of experience in the field in which he will serve. For a five year period prior to 1944 he was executive secretary to the National Council of Farm Cooperatives, which is the clearing house, nationally, for the agricultural cooperative movement. Since 1943 he has been on the Board of Trustees of the American Institute of Cooperation, which serves both North and South America.

These are only two of the many offices he has filled. His farm organization experience goes all the way back to the state and local level, including service as a county extension agent.

Among the most important of his qualifications is his close association with the heads of the organizations that speak for various segments of our national agriculture. We are far from having a united agriculture in our country. We have regional differences and strong organization rivalries.

Ezra Benson has had much experience with these differences. And the fact that he has the good will and the confidence of the leaders who represent these conflicting interests is the best possible testimonial to his fitness for the difficult office he now assumes.

Agriculture will be well represented in the small group of men upon whom President Eisenhower will depend for advice and leadership in directing the course of our national government.

INDIA'S PEACE PLAN

A plan for peace in Korea, proposed by India, has been approved in an amended form by the American delegation, and by a 49 to 5 vote it has been placed in a position of top priority in United Nations deliberations.

The five objecting votes came from Red controlled countries. This is not significant in itself. The division on this question was about the same as it has been on all major issues dividing the two groups.

The result is important, however, in that our country is not now in a position where it is standing in the way of a peaceful settlement of an Asiatic problem proposed by Asiatics. It is important that we are now going along with a plan proposed by a statesman who speaks for a great Asiatic power that obviously has tried to remain neutral. In the spirit of that neutrality India has at times been severely critical of our policies.

In the debate on the Korean peace plan the Red bloc is not strengthened by being in a position where it opposes a plan proposed by India. In this development we have not been outmaneuvered.

SIXTEEN TRAGEDIES

Sixteen Minnesota hunters lost their lives during this year's deer season, most of them the victims of accidental shooting. While the number was not large in proportion to the total of all who hunted, the tragedy of this type of accident is so overwhelming that a total of sixteen deaths cannot be written off merely as something to regret.

The problem is sufficiently important to deserve a careful review of the circumstances of all such accidents with the view of determining whether the causes follow some general pattern. With the great increase in the number of hunters in concentrated areas we may find it desirable to be a little more careful in the issuing of licenses and require some check on the condition of the rifles that are used. Our sportsmen's clubs, representing those most interested in the problem, might very properly sponsor an inquiry in this field.

Looking Backward

1922—THIRTY YEARS AGO

The Great Northern freight train was held up for a day because of a heavy snowfall.—Erling Dahlen, son of Mr and Mrs H. S Dahlen, fractured his arm while cranking a car.—Attorney G. Halvorson has resumed the practice of law here.—Dr. J. T. Bowers of River Falls, Wisc. will shortly engage in the practice of medicine here.

1932—TWENTY YEARS AGO

Roy J. Oen, center on the University of Minnesota football team, was elected to serve as captain for the 1933 season.—Emil Gatelstein resigned as president of the Pennington county fair board. He was succeeded by Hans Anton.—Al Christofferson is manager of a local independent basketball team, the players including Howard Hoium, Merle Lindberg, Clarence Offerdahl, Bob Bosten, and Roy Lonson.—Mr. and Mrs. John Havel Sr. observed their golden wedding anniversary.

1942—TEN YEARS AGO

Vernon C. Pope, 32, died from the effects of burns suffered when a can of kerosene exploded while he was starting a fire at his home in Rocksbury township.—Glenn Hanna of Bismarck, N. D., assumed the post of basketball coach in Lincoln high school.—Robert J. Lund returned from Chicago, where he had attended a convention.

ALL IS NOT LOST THAT CAN'T BE FOUND

Wilbur Popp kicked a clod out of his way on a Hutchinson street. It looked, or felt, odd. He picked up an old purse containing $107 and a receipt. Mr Popp phoned the name on the receipt, William Teus, and there was a happy reunion.—A clerk in Virginia's Ketola department store turned in at the office a purse found on a counter. There was no name, but a snapshot with an auto in it. With a magnifying glass the number on the license plate was read, the miner owner at Tower was located, and a surprised and pleased shopper had a goodly sum unexpectedly returned.—Max Suess, 78, lived in apparent poverty as a Willmar recluse. When he was found dead more than $5,000 cash was found stashed away around his hovel.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

A Plea for Honesty

"No, she doesn't look like me or my husband, but she strongly resembles my sisters." Again, as I have seen many times, I was amazed at the way the little hints of remembrance of unhappy childhood experiences can upset me. I am a grown woman, now, and, I hope, a reasonably mature adult.

I didn't now, but I believed that this little girl was adopted, & her mother in a mistaken way thought she was protecting her—My parents adopted me when I was a year old, but they staunchly denied that I was not their own when I came running in, at the age of five, in tears at the taunts of my playmates. In spite of the denials I was confident, in the way children "know things," that they were being untruthful. From then on, I avoided the subject, played the role that they had created for me, but suffered an imagined loss of position in the family, as well as a feeling of insecurity in my school and social associations.

How much better for parents to be straightforward with the adopted child; how comforting to have them tell him that they "chose" or "picked" him for their own. The youngster can then be secure in the real love of his parents, with no doubts of their sincerity.

Parents seldom have any motives other than very strong love for the child when they do not admit adoption. The child, however, applies his intelligence to this as to every other problem of importance. It is unavoidable that many situations, such as meeting old friends who make unfortunate remarks will occur, and the child eventually pieces together his information.

So, as an adopted child, my plea to foster parents is: Please, be honest with your child. All parents learn to love own as well as foster children. The formula is: tender, loving care.

Yemen Customs

Yemen is a country in which noon comes at six o'clock—six hours after sunrise; where thieves are tied to posts and their loot in turn is tied to them; where high-grade Mocha coffee is grown, and where hot and cold running water come from roof tanks laboriously filled by chanting porters carrying four-gallon tins from nearby cisterns, and springs.

"DEER DON'T DIE FROM LEAD ALONE"

Minnesota's outdoor magazine, The Conservation Volunteer, points out an astonishing discrepancy between deer mortality and hunter success. In the ten years 1941 through 1950 cause was determined in the death of 1,339 deer. Cars and trains accounted for 998, predation 133, starvation 35, "miscellaneous" 91, while the myriad hunters bagged only 82—scarcely more than 6 per cent. For the winter of 49-50 of 179 deaths analyzed, starvation took 51, timber wolves 43 definite (probably 10 more), other predators (dogs, coyotes, bobcats) 20, exposure 18, miscellaneous 36.

Report to the People

By Governor C. Elmer Anderson

VACATION OVER

Honolulu seems a long way off this week and that land of flowers and sunshine far removed from the snow and cold winds of Minnesota. Our brief vacation is over. It was very interesting while it lasted and afforded a restful respite from official duties. Many Minnesotans, more than 200, it seemed, came to a reception to greet us, and every one tried to make the days pleasant for us. But now we are back in the rigorous land of snows, and, time for resting over, I am wrestling with the state budget.

It takes a lot of stamina to tackle that budget.

BUDGET MAKING ON

Our state government is in many ways the biggest business in Minnesota, and providing funds for its operations involves many problems. The Governor is required by law to prepare and submit to the Legislature a budget which he thinks will be essential to cover state activities during the coming two years.

In preparation for this task, the commissioner of administration and the other state budget officials gather detailed information on prospective needs of the various departments for the coming biennium, and the Governor must study this data and determine the appropriations he will recommend.

We are now in the midst of this big job. To supplement the information assembled, I have arranged to hold a series of budget hearings running through December. I will sit down from day to day with our budget-making officials and heads of the major departments, and, going over the requests item by item, seek to eliminate any proposed expenditures that may be omitted and still maintain adequate services.

The task presented is a most difficult one. We must consider the needs of the people aided by the state services, weigh carefully the hardships imposed by the taxes required to pay for the services and then somehow try to strike a balance that will be fair and just and serve the greatest number. With tax burdens so high, it is more urgent than in other years that we make special efforts this year to keep appropriations down.

Power Steering on the Roadmaster and Super
Television treat— the BUICK CIRCUS HOUR — every fourth Tuesday

How would you like the fun of Christmastime to last all the year through?
That's the way it seems to be when you call this Buick beauty your own—what with the constant cheer it brings to you week after week, month after month.
The cheer of traveling in style that's bright and gay as a holiday wrapping.
The cheer of having rich and spacious comfort—plus the cheery thought that nowhere else can you get as much room for the money.
The cheer of knowing abundant and mighty able power is on call, with all the solid thrift of a Fireball 8 Engine that's valve-in-head—and also high-compression.
The cheer of riding wonderfully buoyant, level and steady—with a ride that feels like the million dollars it cost to perfect.
The cheer of taking your travel free and easy—with Dynaflow Drive* doing the chores in letter-perfect smoothness—with Power Steering assisting to make parking and slow-motion maneuvers no task at all.
Even the price is a cheerful note here—low enough, you'll find, to crowd the so-named "low-price three."
That means action is called for this very week, to make the most of this good deal while it lasts.
Why not drop in today or tomorrow and see how much cheer is to be found in a Buick showroom right now?
Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series. Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster and Super only.

In Memoriam

In sad but loving memory of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs Gertie Carlson, who passed away Dec. 1st, 1949.

Always so true, unselfish and kind,
Few in this world are equal to find.
A beautiful life came to an end,
She died as she lived, everyone's friend.
God took her home to watch and take care,
Although her absence is so hard to bear.

Sadly missed by Charles F. Carlson and family. 49p

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our husband and father, Eno Olson, who passed away three years ago, Dec. 2, 1949.

If we could know, father, today
As God doth know
Why dearest treasures pass away
And tears must flow,
And why the darkness leads to light
Why dreary paths will soon grow bright
Some day life's wrongs will be made right
Faith tells us so.

Sadly missed by his wife, Mrs. Eno Olson and family. 49c

Card Of Thanks

BUSY BARBERS TOP NEWS OF OLD TIMES

Roy Peterson has operated a barbershop in the same location on Bridge Square in Northfield for the past 38 years.—In 30 years of tonsorial service to the city of St. James, Walfred and Elmer Erickson have "cut quite a swath"; well over 200,000 shaves and haircuts, besides the many other services of the trade; they, too, are in their original location, and had some comments on the days of 20 cent shaves and 40c haircuts.—At Redwood Falls John Schmechel retires after 41 years as assistant and superintendent of Ramsey State Park—watching it grow from original 70 to 185 acres.—A vigorous 69, R. E. Coughlin, Proctor, ends a 43-year railroad career; at Tracy, J. A. Burchill stayed with it 52 years; at Two Harbors three Peterson brothers retire from the DM&IR with 115 years to their credit: 32, 41, and 42 years respectively.

Wounded In Action

At Camp Lejeune, N.C., Marine Pfc. Thomas Byrd petted a cat, learned too late it was a skunk, next day got badly stung by a hornet, the following day was bitten by a rattlesnake, upon discharge from the hospital stubbed his toe on the hospital steps, limped back to bed.

Plywood

The discovery of modern synthetic resin glues, even before the war, had done much to revolutionize the manufacture of furniture plywood. Not only do they reduce the difficulties of manufacture, but they produce a plywood that is equally strong in both directions of the grain. In addition, the tremendous use of plywood in war production has vastly improved both method and product.

Barleycorn

The length of a grain of barley—called a "barleycorn"—still used as a measure for shoes, sizes starting at four inches and increasing one "barleycorn" (one-third inch) for each additional size.

Candle Stubs

For easy fire-starting in your fireplace, save leftover candle stubs. They ignite logs quickly and surely, and you don't have any burning paper odor.

War Bonds Bought in 1942 Now Maturing

Most United States bonds bought by Minnesota residents during World War II are starting to mature, Darrell Bandy, savings bonds director for Minnesota, said Saturday.

Chances are, he said, that most bond-holders will leave them in their safety deposit boxes and bureau drawers where they will continue earning money for another 10 years.

The federal government started selling defense bonds, which later became war bonds, in July 1941.

No figures are available on bonds maturing after May 1, 1952, Bandy said, but redemptions probably will be even smaller since these bonds will continue earning interest at 3 per cent a year.

In other words, a bond bought for $75 in May 1942 reached a maturity value of $100 in May 1952. If held until May 1962 it will be worth $134.68.

Bond sales to Minnesotans since July 1, 1941, totaled $1,392,000,000, Bandy said. Of this total, 806 millions have been redeemed, almost all before their date of maturity.

Value of outstanding bonds held by Minnesotans, including accrued interest, is 781 million dollars.

Total value of series E and H bonds—designed for purchase by individuals — reached $34,905,000,000 nationally as of June 30, 1952.

Of this total, $3,450,000,000 will reach maturity in 1952, $5,133,000,000 in 1953, $5,674,000,000 in 1954 and $4,439,000,000 in 1955.

2,167,000 Duck Stamps Sold in '52

All previous sales records for Federal "duck stamps" were shattered during the year ended June 30, 1952, according to the U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service.

A total of 2,167,767 stamps of the 1951-1952 issue was sold to hunters of migratory waterfowl, conservationists, and philatelists. Previous high was in 1948-49 when 2,127,598 duck stamps were sold.

Minnesota, with 162,486 ranked second to California's 173,136. Minnesota total in 1950-51 was 145,708.

Essay Contest in Conservation to Start January 12

Women's Club Federation and State Department of Conservation Sponsors

"Keep Minnesota Green" has been selected as the topic for the tenth annual conservation essay contest for Minnesota high school students, it was announced today by Mrs. E. R. Starkweather, president of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs. For the past decade the federation has sponsored a contest each year with the cooperation of the Minnesota department of conservation.

"Keep Minnesota Green" is a familiar slogan," Mrs. Ole Aune, conservation chairman, M.F.W.C. declared. "By means of a directed study, as promoted by the essay contest, this slogan can become a challenging patriotic and personal responsibility in the lives of Minnesota boys and girls."

The contest which has been approved by the state contest committee of the Minnesota Association of Secondary School Principals, opens January 12, 1953, and closes April 9, 1953. All students in Minnesota high schools, grades 9 to 12 are eligible to enter. Twenty winners (2 from each of the ten districts of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs) will be awarded a weeks vacation at beautiful Douglas Lodge, Itasca State Park, where all forms of outdoor recreation are offered, with excellent facilities. Complete information about this year's essay contest will be sent to all high schools in the near future.

Sister Kenny Is Dead in Australia

Was Founder of Kenny Institute in Minneapolis

Sister Elizabeth Kenny, who developed a new method of reducing the crippling effects of polio, and who founded the famed Sister Kenny Institute in Minneapolis, died at her home near Sydney, Australia, Saturday after a week-long battle against cerebral thrombosis. She was 66 years old.

The woman credited with saving many from the dreaded crippling of poliomyelitis spent her last days with her right side paralized and unable to talk.

Physicians had administered a new drug, trypsin, in a last minute effort to save her life. A Pacific airliner bringing the drug from the Jewish Memorial hospital in New York made a special stop at Brisbane, 85 miles from her home in Toowoomba, to hasten the drug to her bedside. But it was too late.

The funeral services were held at the Neil Street Methodist church, Toowoomba.

A New One Every Two Minutes

A FENDER AND GRILLE ASSEMBLY is installed on this new car in a St. Paul plant by assembly line workers Richard Nygren and Al Zeman. The factory turns out 244 finished cars and trucks a day for distribution throughout the Northwest. This is one example of how iron ore comes back to Minnesota—tons of Minnesota ore went into the steel for those cars. This full circle, from ore in Minnesota mines to steel used in Minnesota factories, helps create more jobs, more income, more prosperity for the state and all its people. This prosperity can continue for generations to come if Minnesota's iron mining industry can maintain its competitive position in the iron ore market. To do so, however, it must be treated as fairly as other industries in the state.

At the age of 21 in 1893 he came to America with his parents and the rest of the family making the ocean trip in the ship Sardinian. The family first arrived in Stephen, then took up homesteading rights in Nelson Park where young Anton also homesteaded his own piece of land. He was married on March 19, 1899 to Miss Hilder Lindholm and to this union 6 children were born, two of which died in infancy. Eight years later in 1907, they moved from their farm and into Strandquist where they operated a restaurant and hotel for 13 years. They then left town and settled on a piece of railroad land which they bought in the town of Wright and here they made their home until retirement and moved in Strandquist about three years ago.

The New DEARBORN INDUSTRIAL LOADER

For faster—more profitable loading

There's no need to single out just one man to work with the Dearborn Industrial Loader. Easy to operate—easy to handle, at a crack, this big loader and the Ford Tractor puts any available man in the "loader operator" class, handling 9 cubic feet—1000 pounds.

And talk about loading height, this loader will dump at any level from the ground clear up to 10'8". The new Dearborn Industrial Loader is the low cost way to high speed loading of sand, gravel, dirt . . . a score of materials. A hydraulic system . . . completely separate from the tractor hydraulic . . . provides steady power to the rigid lift arms of this loader. Thus, the Ford Tractor hydraulic mechanism and linkage is always free for use with other tools from the wide line of Dearborn Equipment. And not one, but two hydraulic cylinders control dumping of the bucket at any height.

There are many reasons why this big new Dearborn Industrial Loader can help keep your work moving along on schedule. We invite you to come in soon and ask for a demonstration.

Bar Assn. Gives Tips to Used Car Sellers

When you sell a car it is customary to deliver to the buyer not only the car, but also the registration card duly assigned to him. Minnesota traffic laws provide that the buyer shall then have the registration changed in the office of the secretary of state within seven days after his purchase.

The Minnesota State Bar association points out that as far as the statute law is concerned, the seller need pay no attention to this change of registration. However, as a practical matter he is vitally interested in seeing that the change is made.

In case of a traffic violation or even in the case of some serious accident, a claim will be made against him as the record owner of the car, unless the registration shows that it has a new owner.

The seller may have a complete defense to the claim when the matter is reached for trial in some court, but in the meantime he will have been put to expense and inconvenience in loss of time and the probable employment of a lawyer to defend him. Such a situation can be avoided if, at the time of the sale of the car, he sees to it that the transfer of registration is made in the records of the Secretary of State.

Accordingly, many dealers in used cars give to the purchaser only a bill of sale or a memorandum of sale with a statement that he will receive the new registration card direct from the secretary of state. Then the dealer at once sends the assigned registration card to the secretary's office. In this way the transfer is made a matter of record almost as soon as the sale occurs. This is the course which should be followed by anyone who sells a car.

This free service rendered to the buyer may pay the seller handsomely in freedom from the necessity of defending a traffic case or a damage suit which originates after he has sold and delivered the car to the purchaser.

State Seed Test Laboratory Asks for Early Samples

Each Farmer Entitled to Five Free Test Each Year, Says County Agent

The Pennington county agricultural extension office has been asked to remind farmers who plan to have their seed tested at the state seed laboratory to send the samples in early in order to avoid the winter rush.

Early testing will guard against disappointment at not getting reports on the seed back before time to plant or sell it, according to J. L. Larson, seed laboratory supervisor at the University Farm, St. Paul.

The peak season in the seed lab begins to build up late in December. The peak is reached in February and March, continuing through the spring planting season.

To get prompt returns on tests during this peak period is usually impossible because neither laboratory equipment nor personnel is available to take care of the load as fast as the samples are received, says Larson. "Analyses of samples received during the rush season are likely to be delayed several weeks."

Farmers wishing to know the germination of their seed before they clean it should send in at least 1,000 kernels for a germination test, advised Larson.

"Dealers with hold-over seed should send in samples for a germination test before January 1. Do not wait until time to put the seed back on sale. A new purity test is not necessary on hold-over seed.

"All seed should be thoroughly cleaned before taking the sample for purity test. Do not send in uncleaned seed for testing," says the laboratory superintendent.

Each resident of the state is entitled to five free tests of his seed each year.

Larson also pointed out that seed that is to be sold for planting must be tested and each bag sold labeled. Testing will tell the quality of seed which is to be planted. "Samples are tested in the order in which they are received, so it does no good to ask special consideration for samples."

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Veterans with personal problems or questions should consult Leo L. Haley, Contact Representative, Room 210-211 Post Office Building or Box 875, Grand Forks, North Dakota.

(This service is based on questions asked at Veterans Administration offices in the State. Answers are supplied by VA.)

Q: I've been totally disabled for six months, and I applied to the VA for a waiver of my National Service Life Insurance premiums. Now that I've applied, may I stop paying my premiums?

A: No. You should continue to pay your premiums regularly as they become due, until you have received word from VA that you are entitled to waiver. In that way, you'll avoid the possibility of your insurance lapsing, in case your claim is not granted.

Q: Does the $310-a-month ceiling under the Korean GI Bill apply to all types of training?

A: No. It applies only to veterans training on-the-job. It means that if a job trainee's monthly allowance plus his earning as a trainee exceed $310 a month, VA will reduce the allowance accordingly.

Q: I was under age when I enlisted in the Army during World War II. I was in for six months before the Army found out and sent me home. Would that service entitle me to a GI loan?

A: Yes. A veteran whose enlistment was cancelled because he was under age is entitled to eligibility credit for GI loans.

Q: Are there any types of courses not permitted under the Korean GI Bill education and training program?

A: Yes. Couses in bartending, dancing and personality development are prohibited by law, and cannot be approved under any conditions.

A. F. Berge will serve as Pennington county chairman of the 1953 March of Dimes polio fund campaign, which will open officially January 2, it was announced by M. C. Gulbranson, chairman of the county chapter, following a meeting last Thursday evening.

Other campaign directors appointed by Gulbranson include Steve Austin, chairman for Thief River Falls; Mrs. Adam Lendobeja, rural chairman; Mrs. Orsis Johnson and Mrs. Elmer Zachar, co-chairmen of the Mother's March on Polio, with Mrs. W. G. Claffy as advisor; and Mrs. Harlan Olson, chairman for St. Hilaire. A Goodridge chairman remains to be appointed.

Also assisting in the campaign will be Alvin Christofferson, who conducted the 1952 drive, and who this year is serving as regional advisor for Northwest polio chapters.

While the drive does not open formally until January 2, it will get under way before the first of the year in the rural areas in order to avoid severe winter weather as far as possible.

In the 1952 drive approximately $4,500 was raised in Pennington county, and the goal has ben set higher for next year due to the heavy drain on the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis resulting from the record-breaking polio epidemic this year.

Rocksbury, North Officials Confer on New Fire Truck

Arrange to Submit Plan to Voters at Township Elections Next March

The second meeting of the newly formed Township Fire Prevention Assn. was held at the fire hall Dec. 4th. Aldermen Ed Christensen and Harry Lund represented the city and a good sized representation was on hand from Rocksbury and North Twps. At a previous meeting of the fire department, it was decided to limit the areas to be covered in these two townships, and perhaps at a later date arrangements could be made to service more of them.

Discussion was held regarding the type equipment best suited for rural areas and its cost. The aldermen present thought the rest of the councilmen would go along on the proposed proposition whereby the two townships would purchase the truck and the city would house, man, equip and maintain the truck so that the townships would have no future expenditure other than a small service charge for each fire call, this to go to the Fire Department Relief Assn. The truck would be available for use in the city also.

Chairman Albert Koop, Secretary Alfred Longren and Fire Chief Roy Langevin were named to formulate a proposed contract between Rocksbury and North townships and the city. This would be a tentative contract for the inspection of the provisions by township residents before their annual meeting next March.

Mrs. I. G. Lane and Mrs. R. G. Lane attended the Junior class play at McIntosh Thursday evening. The play was directed by Pat Lane, who teaches there.

Over 200 Farmers Hear Discussion of Soil Problems

Harold Jones, Extension Specialist, Speaks in C. and C. Room Thursday

More than 200 Pennington county farmers filled the Civic and Commerce rooms on Thursday afternoon to hear Harold Jones discuss soil testing and fertilizer use.

Mr. Jones, extension specialist in soils at the University, explained the value of soil testing before ordering fertilizer for a particular crop. Land varies much as to mineral requirements and only by knowing which are in short supply can you use fertilizer efficiently, he said.

Along with soil testing, other factors are important such as past land use and crop rotation. On land that has been farmed for many years the crops grown will determine the kind of fertilizer needed in many cases. Crops such as potatoes, beets, and legumes, especially alfalfa, are high users of potash while grain requires a much smaller amount. Also, inoculated legumes will add nitrogen to the soil while other crops use it up. He also pointed out that the organic matter content of soil is very important and should be kept as high as possible.

The dry fall this past year will also have a bearing on fertilizer requirements. Because of lack of moisture material plowed under did not decompose and nitrogen is apt to be short. Consequently nitrogen fertilizers are being recommended for many fields.

Mr. Jones was the first of a series of specialists scheduled for the Pennington county extension program this winter. On January 13, S. B. Cleland and D. C. Dvoracek, specialists in economics, will discuss farm family rental and partnership agreements and the agricultural outlook for Pennington county.

Two hundred creamery operators and directors, representing forty creameries in Northwestern Minnesota, were guests last Wednesday at an enjoyable turkey banquet served in the Trinity church dining hall under the joint sponsorship of the boards of Land O'Lakes Districts 17 and 14.

Art Stenberg, president of District 17, called on M. H. Mauritsen of Shelly, vice president of Land O'Lakes Creameries, to preside over the lengthy program. C. L. Cole, superintendent of the North Central school of agriculture at Grand Rapids, was the principal speaker.

Short talks also were given by W. E. Dahlquist, T. M. McCall, superintendent of Northwest School at Crookston; County Agent Howard Balk of Bagley; M. L. Totten, director of eastern sales branches for Land O'Lakes Creameries; Stuart McLeod, and the Rev. G. S. Thompson, who also offered the invocation.

Mrs. Orvin Svien led the assemblage in spirited group singing, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Art Stenberg. Vocal solos were supplied by Mr. and Mrs. E. W Tele of Roseau, and Miss Renee Pederson of Greenbush gave a humorous reading.

Vern Evenson of Viking, in behalf of the creamery operators of District 17, presented John Lager, Land O'Lakes field man, with a handsome wrist watch in appreciation of his valuable services thru the years.

Mr. Cole, in his address, discussed some of the problems facing the dairy industry today, including competition from butter substitutes, a rising cost of production and a decrease in the number of dairy herds. At the same time, he saw encouragement for the producers in the new dairy products constantly being developed, and said that because of this fact Land O'Lakes Creameries continues to flourish. He also strongly endorsed the organization of more dairy herd improvement associations to build up production of the average cow.

Stuart McLeod, manager of the local Land O'Lakes plant, presented members of the plant personnel, as well as other local guests. Art Stenberg closed the meeting by thanking all who had contributed to its success.

Approximately 125 creamery men attended an afternoon session in the Civic and Commerce room and heard talks by a group of Land O'Lakes officials from Minneapolis, including F. J. Council O.K's Curb & Gutter Assessments

Owner of Dine-a-Mite Tells of His Plans to Develop Trailer Court

The city council, at its regular December session Tuesday evening, conducted a hearing on the assessment rolls for sidewalk, curb and gutter work done this season on Maple, Merriam and Reserve avs. No property owners were present to register objections, and the assessments were approved.

Two building permits were approved for Stanley Ranum, authorizing him to erect two houses on Arnold av. N. at a cost of $18,000 each.

Subject to approval of City Attorney Robert A. Wurst, the council authorized execution of a lease to the state highway department for 400 square feet of floor space in the old water treatment plant at a monthly rental of $75, including heat. The lease is for a three-months period, and is subject to renewal. It is anticipated that rental arrangements for other portions of the recently remodeled building will be worked out later.

Wm. Soeby, owner of the Dine-a-Mite at the southwest edge of the city, told the council he has made tentative plans to develop a modern trailer court on State av. south of his cafe, and he asked about the possibility of having the sanitary sewer main extended for a distance of three blocks to serve his property. He was advised to have a petition signed by property owners and to present it at a later meeting of the council.

Favorable action was taken on a recommendation of the street committee, headed by Alderman Ed Christensen, that the sale of gravel from the city-owned pit north of the city be discontinued, and that the remaining gravel be saved for municipal needs. It was voted also to erect a fence around the pit.

The council approved a call for bids on a new two-ton truck chassis and cab for the use of the street department, the bids to be opened at the January meeting. The unit will replace the present 1947 model Reo truck, which would be turned in on the deal.

Muriel Geving, D. Dagoberg Nuptials Read

In a beautiful candlelight service at the Bethel Lutheran Church, Los Angeles, California, Muriel Geving, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Geving of Thief River Falls, became the bride of Donald W. Dagoberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Dagoberg of Stephen, Minn., at seven o'clock Sunday evening, Nov. 9. The Rev. Myrus L. Knutson performed the ceremony before an altar setting of large baskets of white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Esther Prudhomme, organist, played nuptial music and the traditional wedding march. Before the exchange of vows, Robert Growan sang "Because", and, as the couple knelt, he sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, escorted to the altar by Mr. Alv. Vistaunet, close friend of the couple, was beautiful in a chapel length gown of Chantilly lace over tulle over satin, with illusion neckline, long tapered sleeves, fitted bodice, and bustle-effect skirt. A scalloped veil of French silk was arranged from a Juliet hat of seed pearls and Chantilly lace. The wedding gown was that worn by her sister, Dorothy, whose marriage took place the week previous. The bride carried a bouquet of white gladiolus and bavardias.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Miss Marian Geving of Minneapolis, who wore a gown of pink pleated nylon net over taffeta and carried a bouquet of pink gladiolus and bavardias.

The groom was attended by his brother, Vernon Dagoberg of Stephen, and the ushers were David Long and Charles Murfee, both of Los Angeles.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue dress with navy accessories and the mother of the groom wore black with matching accessories. They wore identical corsages of orchids.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alv Vistaunet for 150 guests. Mrs. Robert Kidd, nee Dorothy Geving, poured. Mavis Guttu cut the wedding cake. Delphine Anderson served the punch, and Helen Dagoberg had charge of the guest book. The gift table was arranged by Lola Kueehn.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln High School, attended Concordia College, and now holds a stenographic position with Copy-Craft, Inc. of Los Angeles.

Mr. Dagoberg is a graduate of the University of North Dakota and is now employed as accountant for the General Petroleum Corporation.

For her going away outfit, the bride chose a suit of medium blue wool with navy velvet accessories and a corsage of white gladiolus. The couple spent a week honeymooning at Santa Barbara.

Guests from a distance who attended the wedding were the bride's mother, Mrs. I.R. Geving, of Thief River Falls; Marion Geving of Minneapolis; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kidd of Berkeley, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Dagoberg, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Dagoberg and son of Stephen; Helen Dagoberg of Fargo; Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Christian of San Diego, Calif. Legion Post Will View Movies at Meeting Monday

Nohre and Brattland Also to Submit Reports on Legion Conference

The main feature of the regular monthly meeting of Ecklund-Holmstrom Post of the American Legion, Monday evening, December 15 will be an interesting film prepared under the direction of Ed Shave, outdoor editor of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune. The picture depicts highlights of the annual pheasant dinner for hospitalized veterans.

Veterans and civic organizations each year shoot pheasants which are transported to the various veterans hospitals in Minnesota for preparation. The film is in color and has many good shots of the hunters in action as well as showing the dinner being served at the hospital.

Another interesting message will be given to the membership in the form of a recording by National Commander Lewis Gough stressing the importance of Legion membership.

A drawing will be conducted at the meeting and two prizes will be awarded, one to be given to the lucky membership worker and one going to some member of the post who has renewed his membership prior to December 15th. The post is now in the final phase of its membership campaign.

A report on the Legion fall conference held in St. Paul on December 5 and 6 will be given by Gordon H. Nohre and L. G. Brattland, commander and adjutant respectively, who attended as representatives of the local post.

Prowler Quint Wins Season Opener from Red Lake Falls 59-35

Coach Bob Nick's basketball Prowlers opened ther district schedule on Friday night by scoring a 59 to 35 win over coach Darold Kings' Red Lake Falls' Eagles in a game played on the local court. In a preliminary game, Coach Ralph Skjod's Prowler 'B' squad, with Dale Liggett scoring 14 points and Arvid Wedul tallying 12 points, easily outpointed the Red Lake Falls 'B' team, winning by a 31 to 15 score.

The Prowlers will make the trek to Grand Forks on Friday night for an inter-state game against coach Fritz Engel's Central high school Redskins. Last year's game between the two teams, played at Grand Forks, was won by the Redskins in a defensive thriller 24 to 22. Last year's earlier game, played on the Prowler court, was won by Grand Forks, 49 to 45.

In their game against the Eagles on Friday night, the lanky Prowlers, controlling both boards, and with some sharp-eyed basket-shooting, pulled away from coach King's squad in the second and third period to pile up a commanding point margin.

Don Marwitz sent the Eagles into a short-lived lead by dunking a field goal in the opening seconds of play, but Art Johnson, on a rebound, evened the tally after 40 seconds. Larry Evenstad, who gained high-point honors, took an assist from Johnson to score on a lay-up. Ken Bombardier, Red Lake's fine all-round athlete, looped in a field goal, to knot the game at 4-all. Evenstad's long shot, and LeRoy Aaslands' overhead flip shot moved the Prowlers into the lead, and the locals continued to boost their advantage, holding a 10 to 12 first period margin.

The Prowlers, with Evenstad scoring three field goals and Aasland adding a pair, increased their lead to 34 to 21 at the intermission.

In the third period, in which the Prowlers outscored the Eagles, 17 to 8, Johnson and Duane Rafteseth provided the bulk of the locals' scoring punch, with Johnson getting three field goals and a free throw, and Rafteseth, in addition to proving sturdy in grabbing rebounds, flipped in a pair of field goals and a couple free throws.

In the final period, coach Nick utilized a number of the Prowler reserves, and the reserves outscored the Eagles, 8 to 6.

Dick Williams led Coach King's Red Lake Falls aggregation in scoring, with the blond forward getting four field goals and four three throws.

Tunberg Motor Co. to Present 1953 Ford Here Friday

Free Coffee to Be Served; 50th Anniversary Model Has Many Improvements

The 1953 Ford, marking the 50th anniversary of the Ford Motor Co., will go on display Friday, December 12, in the showrooms of the Tunberg Motor Co.

Coffee and doughnuts will be served Friday from 9 to 11:30 a. m. and from 1:30 to 4 o'clock p. m., with a drawing for a valuable door prize scheduled for Saturday evening, it was announced.

A massive new grille with a center spinner characteristic of recent Ford design and a low, road-hugging look, advance the Ford styling for 1953. And an outstanding improvement in suspension termed the "miracle ride" heads a list of mechanical improvements.

L. W. Smead, general sales manager of Ford Division, said that Fords' "new miracle ride brings to the high volume field for the first time the smooth riding characteristics of much heavier, costlier cars. It is smoother, softer and permits the car to hug the road at high speeds and low, on rough roads as well as on smooth pavement"

The 1953 Fords are available in the following models: Mainline: Tudor and Fordor sedans, business coupe and two door ranch-wagon; Customline: Tudor and Fordor sedans, club coupe and four-door Country Sedan; Crestline: Victoria, Sunliner convertible and Country Squire four-door station wagon.

Ford features its Strato-Star V-8 engine as the only V-8 in the high volume field. Also available on the 1953 Ford is the Mileage Maker Six with free-turning overhead valves.

FU Grain Terminal Assn. Earnings up

Annual Meeting Now in Progress in St. Paul

Farmers Union Grain Terminal association of St. Paul, which since it was founded in 1938, has made cooperative marketing by farmers a dominant factor in the Minneapolis and Duluth grain markets, announced December 8, that net earnings for the 1951-52 fiscal year totaled $2,353,537.

The announcement was made by M. W. Thatcher, general manager, in his annual report to more than 3,500 stockholders and delegates attending the cooperative's fifteenth annual meeting in the St. Paul Auditorium, December 8 to 10.

The three-day GTA meeting, which began Monday, December 8, is the largest farm cooperative meeting of its kind in the nation.

Thatcher revealed in his report to stockholders that despite drouth, short crops and a record amount of grain going into the Federal price support program, Farmers Union GTA maintained a grain volume of 106 million bushels. This is one-fourth of all grain annually going thru the Minneapolis and Duluth markets.

Patrons and members, Thatcher told annual meeting delegates, now have an equity in GTA and its auxiliary institutions of $27,037,933. Their equity in GTA's grain marketing enterprise alone is $23,465,912.

Fosston Takes Prowler Quint Tuesday 43-41

Greyhounds Lead All the Way in Hard-fought Contest at Fosston

The basketball Prowlers had their two-game winning streak snapped by the Fosston Greyhounds on Tuesday night when, in a game played on the Fosston court, Coach Bert Tveit's Greyhounds outlasted the locals to win a 43 to 41 decision.

In the preliminary game, which went into an overtime period, the Fosston 'B' team, with Ken Nystrom's one-handed loft with 40 seconds to play, edged out Coach Ralph Skjod's Prowler 'B' team, 35 to 33. Nystrom, with seconds of the regular game remaining to be played, forced the contest into overtime by notching a field goal to deadlock the score 31 to 31.

Able defensive play by the Fosston Greyhounds, and their ability to recover the rebounds off the boards, provided Coach Tveit's squad with the game-winning factor in Tuesday night's contest. The Greyhounds, with a team that nearly matched the Prowlers in ranginess, piled up what proved to be their winning advantage in the first period, outscoring the Prowlers 9 to 4 in the opening quarter.

The Prowlers remained off the pace in the second period, being able to pick up but one point on the Greyhounds, giving Fosston a 22 to 18 lead at the intermission.

The locals, who were giving up numerous rebounds to the aggressive Greyhounds, were outpointed by a 12 to 9 margin in the third period, and trailed by 34 to 27 score as the final period opened.

The Prowlers, with LeRoy Aasland, Art Johnson, Gary Smith, and Duane Rafteseth doing the scoring, rallied to narrow the Fosston lead to 35 to 34 with five minutes of play remaining. Field goals by Glen Olson and Don Otness, plus a free throw, moved Fosston into a 40 to 37 lead with four minutes to go.

Rafteseth looped in a long shot; Bob Lindberg flipped in a Fosston field goal; and Art Johnson converted for a point on a two-shot free throw, and the score was 42 to 40 with a minute to go. Johnson, on a two-shot foul, made the second of the tries, and the Prowlers trailed by a point, 42 to 41. With 13 seconds to play, the Prowlers, in attempting to set up a scoring play, lost the ball. Gerry Carlin, fouled in the last second of the game, made a free throw, giving Fosston their 43 to 41 edge.

Don Otness, a hard-driving forward who scored seven field goals, and sturdy Bob Lindberg, who turned in a fine all-round game, sparked the Greyhound victory. The Prowlers, who were off the basketshooting form they exhibited against Red Lake Falls on Friday night, were led in their scoring by Art Johnson, who tallied 13 points, and Duane Rafteseth, who racked up 11 points.

The schedule-opening game, slated to have been played against the Detroit Lakes Lakers at Detroit Lakes on Saturday, Dec. 13th, has been postponed because of lack of ice on Detroit Lakes' outdoor rink. The game has tentatively been re-scheduled for January 3rd.

The Prowlers, if ice conditions permit, will open their season on Wednesday night, Dec. 17th, when coach Bob May brings his ever-dangerous Grand Forks Central Redskins here for a game at the Arena. Although the Redskins lost several of the players from last year's team, and the Redskins played the Prowlers on near-even terms until midway in the second period, coach May has such performers as Jim Knauff, Ralph Hjelmstad, Roger Carl, Chuck Howlin and Ron Rudrud returning to form the scoring nucleus for this season's club.

Coach Rolle, handicapped by the lack of ice, has been forced to send the Prowler hockey candidates through their practice sessions on the outdoor rinks. And thaw conditions have forced the cancellation of several of these practice drills. With a rebuilding process to be faced, the Prowler hockey mentor has been shuffling the dozen or so varsity candidates in an effort to arrange a pair of well-balanced scoring lines. It is evident that this year's club will be forced to rely on skating ability and finesse in order to rack up goals, and will not be able to overpower the opposition, as was the case with last year's burly Prowler squad.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

The management of the Thieves hockey club have, with the rest of us, been enjoying the mild weather, but they are hoping for a few degrees of temperature drop so that the ice sheet in the Arena can be completed, and so that the once-postponed exhibition series with the Winnipeg Orioles can be played this weekend.

According to present plans, the first game of the two-game series will be played on Saturday night, with the face-off slated for 8:45 P. M. The concluding game is billed for 2:30 P. M. on Sunday.

Although there has been a lack of "indoor ice", the local members of the Thieves club haven't been idle, for player-coach Paul Bedard and his squad have been utilizing the river-rinks. On Saturday and Sunday, the local contingent, augmented by the presence of "import" goalie Jack McGill, "enjoyed" a pair of practice sessions on the rink below the Fire Hall. Answering "present" to the calling of the roll by Coach Bedard were Tony Dorn, Bruce Hall, Darryl Lund, Rob Amundson, Lloyd Johnson, Mouse Eltsland, and McGill. A couple of other pretty fair hockey players were on hand, too, namely Swede Lund and Bud Brossoit. Swede, of course, is a member of Fido Purpur's North Dakota Sioux team, and Bud is playing with the Rochester Mustangs.

Coach Bedard expressed himself as pleased by the play of Darryl Lund, stating that the former Prowler center-ice man—he was a member of Coach Dennis Rolle's regional champions last year—will be a valuable team man when he gains some league experience.

There has been some reshuffling in the Canadian "imports" that are to play with the Thieves. Ching Dheere, a defenseman, notified the local management that he will be playing his hockey in eastern Canada. In his stead, the Thieves have signed Dan Summers, a well-regarded defenseman, and he will be on hand for the series this week. And Ron Castellane, a wingman, is expected to be here, too, and intends to vie for the place on the club that is now being reserved for Oscar Verrier.

Coach Bedard has a problem in arranging his "lines," for in the list of the "imports" are three centers—Murray Balagus, Jerry Lavergne, and Church Russell. Paul doesn't expect too much trouble in finding a solution, for he believes that any of the three can be shifted to a wing position.

Whist League Begins Play

The four-team city whist league, composed of teams representing the Elks, Eagles, Vets, and the American Legion, will open its 1952-53 schedule on Thursday night, Dec. 11th, with the first series of matches being played at the Legion club rooms.

The Eagles team, champions last season and always a contender, will have their veteran lineup ready for the opening match. According to Helmer "Eagle Ole" Ness, the only contest this year is to determine which team will be the runners-up to the Eagles, for the Eagles are a "cinch" to retain possession of the city championship trophy.

It Looks Strange

It looks strange to read the Tuesday night Business league standings and find Ham Bergland's Western Oil team sharing fourth and fifth place with the Ben Franklin team.

How the mighty have fallen, or words to that effect, is what the Vets, Middle River, and Hartz have been saying as they enjoy their positions on the rungs above the Westerns.

On a pin-for-pin basis, those Western Oil bowlers—Phil LeGault, Berdeen Nornes, Am Wysoski, Emil Dostal, Ed Karwand, Elmer Poole and Ham Bergland—are just about the league's best. Phil has been south-pawing the agate into the one-two pocket for a 185 average, and if he can continue that pace, and if Ham can boost his lowly 154-pin average, the Westerns may yet threaten the Vets' 6½ game lead.

LEARN HOW to relax

The pressures of our speeded-up modern civilization create tensions in the human body. We are inclined to work too fast and eat too fast. We tend to be always "on the go."

Some persons seem able to adapt themselves to this swifter pace of living. But many others become constantly over-tense. Eventually they may become seriously ill.

It is not enough to remind yourself to relax; you must know how to relax. Your physician is the one best able to tell you how. Sometimes he may find it necessary to prescribe a medicine to aid in relieving tension. If you are over-tense, unable to relax … see your doctor.

And bring his prescriptions to us for prompt, courteous, personal service.

Fire Chief Warns of Added Perils During the Holiday Season

Fire Chief Roy Langevin warned today that combustible Christmas decorations introduce serious fire hazards during the current season, and asked local citizens to take extra precautions to avoid turning holiday cheer into grief and tragedy.

Chief Langevin recalled last year's tragic Christmas fire in Tijuana, Baja California, when 34 died and 98 were injured in a fire resulting from a blazing Christmas tree at the annual charity party for orphans and poor children. To prevent a similar disasert this year, he urged that these safety rules suggested by the National Board of Fire Underwriters be followed by any persons or organizations holding parties at home, school or church.

1. Don't locate the Christmas tree near any stairway or elevator shaft which would provide a draft.

2. The tree should not block a door or any exits

3. An inspection of the tree should be made by someone in authority to determine whether the tree has dried out to the point that it should be removed.

4. Be sure plenty of ashtrays are provided for smokers. Don't allow smoking near the Christmas tree.

5 Be sure that all decorations throughout the room have been flameproofed.

6 Avoid using net or gauze-like fabrics for dresses, costumes or children's clothes. Loosely woven fabrics easily catch fire.

7 If loosely woven costumes have to be worn, they should be flameproofed with the following solution: mix 9 ounces of borax and 4 ounces of boric acid in a gallon of water. Dip the fabric into this solution, wring by hand, then hang to dry. This flameproofing method must be repeated after each laundering of the garment.

Children's Sleds Can Be Dangerous, Says State Council

A child's sled, improperly used, can be just as deadly as a lethal weapon, says the Minnesota Safety Council. This is borne out by the fact that although the state has had snow for only two weeks so far this winter, there already have been one fatality reported and many other serious accidents resulting from the unwise use of children's sleds.

"No parent," says Arthur V. Rohweder, president of the council, "would give a youngster a gun, knife or any other weapon without giving the youngster very definite instructions in its safe use. But how many parents give their young children sleds and then fail to warn them of the dangers to which the youngsters expose themselves every time they use the sled?"

Rohweder urged every parent to "lay down" a very definite set of rules for the safe use of a sled by every youngster. They should be told, among other things, that sleds should never be hitched onto cars or trucks, because any sudden stop or driving maneuver by the motorist can hurl the youngster beneath the wheels of the vehicle.

Winter Workouts Can Be Dangerous, Physicians Say

Medical Association Warns Public Concerning Danger of Snow Shovelling

Onset of the snow shovelling season prompts the Minnesota State Medical association, today to warn people of the dangers involved in the old-fashioned winter workout with the shovel.

Regular mild exercise is fine, according to the doctors, even with a shovel; but the occasional, violent and prolonged spurt does nobody any good and, in adults after age 40, can end in disaster.

The truth is that violent exercise has no tonic effect at any age. What you get even from continuous strenuous exercise is just bigger muscles, enlarged heart, liver and other organs and more reserve power to meet the emergencies which most people who aren't professional athletes never have to meet anyway.

There is abundant medical evidence that you do not get greater resistence to disease or longer life or better health from exercise. Even overweights can not rely upon exercise to substitute for dieting, except the simple, uncomplicated exercise of pushing the chair back from the table.

Fat or lean, if you save your exercising for the occasional weekend or vacation, or for the big snow, you are simply courting trouble. Better to shovel the walk in sections or get a youngster to do it for you. Or leave the stalled car and walk.

Most people get an adequate amount of exercise in their daily round of activities, according to the doctors.

TO SELL WE MUST ALSO BUY

What happens to the market for tuna fish isn't of much importance to us lovers of lutefisk up here in northwestern Minnesota. It is tremendously important however for those who depend upon tuna for a living. And it is good for us to know that they have problems too.

At the present time the tuna industry is in the middle of a three-way battle. The fishers and canners of southern California are alarmed about foreign competition and want higher tariffs. Northwest Pacific and Atlantic coast canners who depend upon imports are dead set against any form of protection. And Japan, Peru and other tuna fishing nations of course are hopeful that they can sell their product in the American market as a means of paying for goods they want to buy from us.

It is easy to laugh off a problem of this kind as just another tempest in a teapot, as long as it does not effect us personally. But when our own interests are threatened we are all for moving in with both arms swinging.

As sideline spectators in this argument over tuna we are hopeful that those who oppose special protection will get the decision. We are satisfied that a free exchange of this food would be in the best interests of all groups from the long range point of view.

There are many reasons why our country has a high standard of living of course, but one of the important reasons certainly is the fact that there is no barrier to trade at each of the borders of our 48 states. And barriers to a free exchange of goods internationally are not conducive to a high world standard of living.

As our own national standard of living will rise with a higher world standard, we have more to gain than to lose by the gradual removal of these barriers.

Conceivably our people might eat more of our home grown chickens if it becomes difficult for them to buy imported "chicken of the sea" in cans, but as we would gain in one market we would lose in another. We do not subscribe to the notion that you can get rich only by making others poor, and as the rest of the world gets richer we are not necessarily going to get poorer.

And in this small world of ours we are not going to be able to maintain a Mrs. Uppercrust standard in a world of poverty for long. The nations that are struggling with the-other-side-of-the-tracks problems are seeking to improve their own living conditions. We have established a good pattern for them to follow. They are potential customers for our goods and services.

If we hope to sell them we must also be willing to buy from them.

BIG DEBT—BIG TAXES

George Humphrey has a big job cut out for him as Secretary of the Treasury during the next four years. During the first 12 months of the new administration one-half of the marketable national debt comes due and during the next five years all but 30% of the 148 billion dollar total in this classification, well over 100 billion dollars, will have to be refinanced.

These are the dollars we were earning and spending ten years ago. The dollars themselves didn't grow wheat and meat and didn't build ships and planes. It took human brawn and brains to get the production we needed. The dollars were issued to us for our contribution of brawn and brains, and the surplus dollars we invested in bonds.

If those surplus dollars had been taxed away from us at that time we would not now have the bonds. But neither would we have the debt, so collectively we still would be just as well off. If the dollars had been taxed away from us at that time all we would have to show for our extra effort would be tax receipts. Now the painful procedure of paying for tax receipts is still ahead of us.

Now that we are forced to it by a grim necessity we are recognizing the need for a pay-as-you-go plan. When our debts get so big that we do not dare to further increase them then we must pay-as-we-go and that is what we must do now.

And that is why it is foolish to talk of tax relief under existing conditions. By good management and the elimination of waste we undoubtedly can reduce costs and this could result in a slight saving to the taxpayers. But tax reduction in an amount large enough to bring real relief to the taxpayer is not a probability in the foreseeable future.

A GOOD APPOINTMENT

Senator Taft's criticism of Eisenhower's appointment of Martin Durkin to serve as Secretary of Labor left little room for doubt on the question of how heavily the president-elect was leaning on Taft for advice. The Gentleman from Ohio has been ignored and his remarks made it clear that he doesn't like it.

This is not conducive to harmony within the Republican party. If, however, it tends to encourage harmony within the nation it may still have a good net result.

Taft speaks for the conservative wing of the party and is highly respected in all top-level political circles. But while he personally has not been recognized in the selection of those who will advise the next president, certainly the conservative group that he represents has no reason to complain. The new cabinet is predominantly conservative. The only member of that cabinet any conservative could reasonably complain about would be Durkin.

And as we see it, the selection of Durkin was a good appointment from the standpoint of the country as a whole. Through Durkin organized labor has a voice in that cabinet, and that is as it should be. There should be a man in that cabinet to represent the special interests of that very important sector of our population and our economy.

The new Secretary of Labor is especially well qualified for this important office. He has a good record in his home state of Illinois as a director of the Illinois Department of Labor, and he has a good background of service in labor organization.

If this appointment does work out well and proves to be in the best interests of the country as a whole, then it will also prove itself to be in the best interests of the Republican party.

300 Tons to the Flask

IT'S LIKE MAGIC, the way Hibbing laboratory technician Carl Larson analyzes a five-ounce iron ore sample dissolved in a flask, and determines the exact amount of iron in 300 tons of Minnesota ore. His analysis is necessary in order to put the ore into one of 88 different grades. There's far more to iron mining today than just digging and shipping ore—it takes the brains and know-how of thousands of people working together to produce the special grades of ore to meet the exacting specifications of different steel mills. And still more Minnesotans can be employed in an even wider range of jobs if Minnesota's iron mining industry is successful in developing low-grade ores and taconites.

Corn after Sod — Worthwile gains in yields of corn following one-year sod crops and following legumes grown with grain were obtained in recent University of Minnesota experiments. For more information, see your county agent.

Congressmen Investigate Fertilizers—A special congressional investigating committee has reported that proper use of chemical fertilizers may result in crops with yield and nutritional quality superior to those grown in any other manner. Some of the committee's findings have been made public by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee. Headed by Rep. James J. Delaney of New York, the congressional committee heard leading soils and plant scientists testify. The congressional group pointed out in its report that organic matter is important for conserving and building up soil fertility, adding: "However, claims that only organic fertilizers improve the nutritional value of food crops and that use of chemical fertilizers produces harmful effects are not supported by substantial controlled experimentation."

Forage Feeding Profitable — Good use of roughage can save corn and bring higher returns over feed costs in fattening cattle than a program of full feeding. Read all about it in Extension Folder 109, "Pasture Feeding of Beef Cattle," by S. B. Cleland and W. E. Morris.

Legume hay is the best roughage for fattening lambs, says Morris and P. S. Jordan in another University publication, Extension Folder 37, "Fattening Lambs." You can get either or both of these folders from your county agent or the Bulletin Room, University Farm, St. Paul.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

They'll Do It Every Time

You know where Hammy Jackson lives—on that small dead-end street off Maple Avenue near the library? Well, about a month ago, the town finally put up a sign on the corner there saying: "No thoroughfare . . . Dead End."

Yesterday Hammy dropped by to see us. "Can't understand it," he says. "Hardly anybody drove down our street before—but, now, since they put that sign up, there's been more cars than ever turning around in my driveway."

From where I sit, those people who bother Hammy on his one-way street are the same as those who automatically ignore a Wet Paint sign and touch their finger on a freshly painted surface. But you can't change human nature. People like to find out for themselves—and then make their own decisions.

That's why I say "live and let live." You can drink your buttermilk, but let me have my glass of beer, when I choose. And let's not feel we're obliged to "paint the way" for the other fellow.

Glow, Little Glue Spot

Before modern furniture is given its fine finish, every precaution is taken to make sure that all cracks and nail holes are filled and that all "vagrant" glue spots or smears are removed. To aid the eyes in the glue search, fluorescent dye is sometimes mixed with the glue. The use of this dye in the glue does not cause any harmful effects and, when the furniture is exposed to a near-violet ray lamp, it fluoresces like a neon sign.

Near the Tracks

There is no place in England more than 10 miles from a railway line.

GULLY . . .

By Mrs. Arnold Nesvold, Gully, Ph. 40

Dorothy Nesvold, Eden Township Homemakers Chairman and Mrs. Verny Lanman, Gully chairman drove to McIntosh on Friday to attend the Christmas Homemakers meeting. They exchanged their favorite cookie recipes and also brought samples along which they had for lunch that day.

The Lund Luther League will meet next Sunday evening, Dec. 14, which will be one week earlier than usual because of Christmas programs. This will be the annual meeting. Everyone is welcome and members are especially urged to be there.

Santa Claus day will be held in Gully on Saturday, Dec. 20. The program will begin at 1:30 at the Community Hall. All prizes to be given away by the Legion and by the business men, will be given away at the hall. Santa Claus has sent word that he too will meet the children at the hall instead of by the Christmas tree as in previous years. So often the little folks have sat in the hall with their wraps on until they are warm and have then rushed out in the cold to wait for Santa Claus and have caught cold by doing so. A children's movie will be shown. A Walt Disney picture featuring Ichabod Crane. Five sleds will be given away by the Legion to the little folks. Bring the children.

Prizes for the nicest decorated homes will also be given this year with $10 for first and $5 and $2.50 for second and third prize. Judges will be chosen from the country.

Recent visitors at the Henning Olson home were Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Runman of Superior, Wisc. The Runmans have just lately been visiting in Sweden and brought greetings to the Olsons from their friends and relatives in Ostensund, Yamtland.

The Committee in charge of reports that 105 pounds of used clothing was collected by the Gully parish for Lutheran World Relief and was shipped out last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sollen have received word from their son, Pfc. LuVern Sollen that he landed in Germany Nov. 27. He is staying there for 2 or 3 weeks and then will go to France where he will be stationed at Toul, he left San Francisco on Nov. 4.

Officers and department secretary of the Lund Ladies Aid met at the Harold Stiele home last Thursday prior to the annual meeting which will be held on Wednesday, Dec. 10. After the business meeting Mrs. Stiele served lunch to those present which included, Mrs. Edvin Bergh, Mrs. Bennie Carlson, Mrs. Ed Kvale, Mrs. Kenneth Forsberg, Mrs. Curtiss Melbo and Mrs. Arnold Brovold.

Visitors at the Carl Gunvaldson home on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Gunvaldson, Patty and Michael of Bemidji, Mr. and Mrs. Norris Smith, Stuart and Mark of Nielsville, and Mrs. Delbert Aker of Crookston. Mrs. Aker remained until Monday when she and Mrs. Gunvaldson attended the funeral for John Votsaas of Gonvick.

RICHMOND PRIEST WINS HIGH HONORS

Richmond, Minn.—To Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ostendorf not too many years ago, a son was born. He was christened Cornelius, attended District School No. 20 here, and went on to St. John's University to become a Catholic priest—as had an uncle and a brother, besides several sisters who are nuns. Father Cornelius went to the Bahamas and was assigned to lonely Long Island, 24 hours by boat from Nassau. There for years he has been priest, surgeon, dentist, veterinarian, agriculturist, architect, counsellor to a parish of 1,500 or more. With such devotion and signal success that recently Father Cornelius became probably the only American to win from Queen Elizabeth and one of the few ever to win the highest British honor, the Order of the British Empire.

NOTED ON THE "LONG, LONG TRAIL"

At 74 William T. Cox, Minnesota's first state forester, was cited by the National Conservation Association in Galveston convention for "meritorious service to conservation progress"— L. C. Bergan at 80 waits on customers every day in his Wendell hardware store, where he has been nearly 53 years.—John J. Green celebrated his 100th birthday November 18 at Hokah where he and his family have lived since 1866; he married and joined the Masons in 1874, has been a member of the Order of Railway Engineers since 1877.— Mrs. Carl Kraft, Fairmont, reached 100 November 8; she keeps house for a son no longer exactly young, and remembers seeing Abraham Lincoln and the disastrous 1871 Chicago fire.

FOWL PLAY

Double-yolk eggs are no longer news, but Mrs. Harold Oldendorf, Hart, made headlines when Mrs. T. Esser, Milroy, reported that, judged by make and model of his car the invader of her hen house could well afford to pay for his chickens and eggs. So he could. Turned out to be her brother-in-law who didn't think there was anyone home when he left a belligerent bantam that he thought the Essers better qualified to cope with than he.—Two able-bodied Farmington firemen, recruiting for a benefit dinner, were unable to subdue a husky white rooster that flew like a pheasant.—Crawling under a fence without his gun, a Brandon hunter came face to face with a pheasant—and caught it.

You Know Something About This Man!

You've never seen him before.

And yet, as you watch him approach his motor car—you feel instinctively that you know something about this man.

You feel you know something of his background and his standing among his fellow men. You sense his consideration for the safety and comfort of his family and his friends. And you have a clear indication of the mark he has made in his chosen field of endeavor.

For that's one of the extraordinary things about the great Cadillac car: It speaks so clearly and so eloquently of the man who owns and drives it.

It does so from its long association with the world's distinguished motorists . . . and out of its constant participation in the lives of the nation's leading people.

In every community across the land, Cadillac is the predictable choice of those whose choice is unrestricted.

And how well they choose—and how wisely!

For the Cadillac car—as any owner can tell you—is surpassingly satisfying from every standpoint.

Smooth, powerful and responsive—it makes each and every journey a pleasure to anticipate and a joy to experience.

Beautiful, luxurious and inspiring—it adds to the pleasure and satisfaction of the whole day's activities.

And dependable, long-lived and economical to operation—it compliments its owner's practical wisdom through every marvelous mile he drives.

• • •

Wouldn't it be wonderful to enjoy all these things in your motor car? Well then . . . come in and see us. We'd be delighted to see you at any time.

70 Scouts from Lake Agassiz Council to Attend '53 Jamboree

The Lake Agassiz Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be sending 70 boys from many of the Scout troops in the council to the 1953 Jamboree to be held next July on 3,000 acres of the Irvine Ranch near Santa Ana, California. They are a small part of 50,000 men and boys who will participate in the Jamboree. The Lake Agassiz Council chose the Greyhound Bus Line as their method of transportation. Thirty-seven boys will go in each bus and will be followed by their own truck with equipment.

The boys will gather on July 9 at a camping ground to set up their camp and equipment, practice cooking, pick their partners and in general get ready for the Camporee. They will leave Grand Forks on the morning of July 12 and will travel thru Fargo, Bismarck, will stop off for a sight-seeing tour of the Badlands of N. Dak., from there to Billings and then south for a sight-seeing trip thru the Yellowstone National Park.

After leaving the park they will travel thru Salt Lake City, seeing Great Salt Lake, and then thru Utah National Park on down to Santa Fe, New Mexico; and on to the Jamboree. They will spend one week playing together in a tent city populated by boys from every state in the nation. It will be a city of 30,000 tents and 5,440 troop kitchens.

The return trip will be made by way of the Grand Canyon of Colorado, a trip over Pikes Peak, thru Denver, Colorado on up to the Black Hills of South Dakota for sight-seeing and then back into Grand Forks. The entire trip will take from July 9 to July 29.

All boys who are now Scouts and are 12 years of age are urged to sign up at once. A reservation fee of $50 is required with each registration. The entire cost of the Jamboree is $225.

Estimates Show Success for 25-30 Pct. Deer Hunters

From 55 to 70 Per Cent of Hunters in This Area Got Deer, Wardens Say

A preliminary report of deer hunting success compiled from estimates made by 70 Minnesota game wardens assigned to the 29 northern counties opened for 9 days and the 6 southeastern counties opened for 3 days, indicates that on a state-wide average between 25 and 30 percent of the hunters were successful.

The estimated average success ratio for the northern zone was around 30 percent, with the wardens reporting a heavy to medium hunting pressure, poor to fair hunting conditions and a poorer hunting success than last year. The estimated success ratio for the southeastern zone was about 20 per cent, with very heavy hunting pressure, poor hunting conditions, and a poorer hunting success than last year.

The highest hunting success estimates came from five northwestern counties: Kittson, Roseau, Lake O'Woods, Marshall and Pennington. The percent estimates were from 55 to 70 percent. The same five counties had a very high hunting success for the 1951 season, which was a little higher than for 1952. St. Louis county reported a success average of 31 percent which is slightly lower than the 38 percent reported in 1951. In Beltrami county the estimate for 1951 was 57 percent, while this year it was 49%.

In the southeastern zone this years' estimate of 20 percent compared with 41 percent for the same counties for 1951.

Moving Day

Uninhabited Nassau Island is a tiny northwestern outpost of New Zealand's Cook Islands in the southwestern Pacific. Finding themselves overcrowded among 600 neighbors, some 100 inhabitants of Pukapuka, in the Danger Islands 60 miles north of Nassau, arranged in 1951 to pay New Zealand $5,600 for the right to settle on Nassau. The migrants took with them food and food-plants to develop supporting crops on their new island home.

Can't Resist

"There is not a man in the world, no matter how cold he may be, who could resist a woman really intent upon his conquest."—Esme Wingfield-Stratford.

Face Powder Shade

Face powder and foundation slightly darker than her natural skin tone are becoming to the older woman. A shade that is too light points up every line and hollow of her face. On the other hand, the color must not be too dark, or it will look unnatural and make her skin seem thick. When you cannot decide between two shades, put one on the right side, the other on the left side, of your face; then compare the results.

Norsemen Visited Massachusetts

Norsemen may have entered Cape Cod, Martha's Vineyard or Nantucket at about 1,000 A.D.

Flavor and Moisture

Left-over lamb should be stored in a covered container in the refrigerator to preserve its flavor and moisture.

Better Gravy

Make slits in the fat on a roast of pork; before roasting, insert pieces of tart apple. Result: more flavorful gravy.

Index Tabs

Do the index tabs on your dictionary or other indexed books curl up with use? Then dab the tabs with at least two thin coats of fresh, white shellac. Not only will the tabs stay stiff and lay flat but they can be easily cleaned.

Knob Washer

Are the knobs of your kitchen cabinets and dresser drawers always working loose? Make a small washer out of a piece of fine sandpaper, thread it onto the screw, with the abrasive side next to the drawer, and tighten. You'll never struggle with loose knobs again.

There's many a howl when a gravy train is derailed.

FISH: AGE, SIZE VARIETIES, ETC.

Minnesota's Conservation Volunteer is authority for the announcement that only 2 per cent of the fish taken by state anglers are perch, 3 per cent bullheads, while walleyes at 29 per cent lead the piscatorial parade by a handsome margin; crappies and northern pike tie for second honors at 19 per cent, sunfish 17 percent, bass 4 per cent, other varieties 7 per cent. Most fishes, says CV, live only a few years—a 15-year-old game fish is a patriarch; carp and sturgeon are the longest lived. "Old Granny" a mackinaw trout spawned in Minnesota died as the undisputed matriarch of California's Mt. Shasta hatchery at the disputed age of 38.

200 Deer Taken on Refuge This Season

While exact totals have not as yet been computed it now appears that slightly more than 200 deer were taken on the Mud Lake Wildlife refuge during the regular state open season.

In spite of patrol by plane, special warnings and presence of additional wardens in the area, a total of four moose were shot within or closely adjacent to the refuge.

Two of the moose were located in time to salvage the meat.

The Pennington County and Newfolden sportsmen's clubs cooperated in protection of the moose herd by contributing funds for operation of the plane patrol.

The state and federal personnel responsible for protection of the moose herd greatly appreciated this fine gesture of co-operation and sportsmanship. It is quite possible that the loss of moose might have been greater but for the presence of the plane in the area during the open season.

Over 100 deer have been weighed, ear tagged, and released within the refuge during the period of 1947-1951.

Much valuable information necessary for the proper management of the Mud Lake deer herd has been provided by these operations, and it is hoped that every hunter who was successful in shooting a deer in the general vicinity of Mud Lake will make a close examination to determine whether or not the deer might have been one of the tagged animals. Information as to weight, location of kill, date of kill, tag number, etc., should be forwarded to Mud Lake Refuge, or the St. Paul office of the Minnesota Conservation Department.

Tunberg Showing '53 Mercury Line in Its Showrooms

On display today at the Tunberg Motor Co., local distributor, is the 1953 Mercury line of automobiles. The new models feature an improved high-compression V-8 engine, and a choice of three transmissions: Merc-O-Matic, Touch-O-Matic Overdrive or Silent-Ease standard drive. Many body refinements also are included in the new line, including a new type combined bumper-grille and a new rear window.

Political Roundup

By Arthur Naftalin

These are busy weeks for the 198 men and women who will constitute the membership of the 1953 state legislative session, which gets under way just four weeks from next Tuesday.

With both the senate and the house firmly in the control of conservative caucuses, there are few problems of an organizational nature for this session, although there is some scrambling among old-timers and newcomers for favorable committee assignments.

For the most part, however, the leadership of both houses and the committee personnel will be very much like the 1951 session. This was made certain at the recent caucusing of liberals and conservatives, when John A. Hartle of Owatonna was selected by the conservatives as their candidate for speaker of the house and Fred Cina of Aurora was chosen again to lead the liberals.

House Conservatives Have Majority of 85

Minnesota's legislature has the unique non-partisan feature. In all other states—except Nebraska—the organization in both houses follows party lines, and responsibility for execution of a legislative program falls upon the party that succeeds in electing a majority of the membership to the two houses.

In Minnesota, the political party plays no official role in the legislative function. Instead individuals assume the responsibility for developing a majority group, and, having attained control, proceed to appoint the committees and determine the rules.

The recognized leader in this activity in Minnesota is Roy E. Dunn, the veteran house member from Pelican Rapids. He is the majority leader and has been since the 1939 session. In advance of each session he invited all members who wish to affiliate with the conservative group to attend a caucus. This year Dunn claims a following of 85 out of the 131 house members. This is an overwhelming majority, and is almost enough to give the conservatives the 88 votes that is sometimes needed for special action when a two-thirds vote of the house is required.

Liberal Group Struggles To Build Effective Unit

In the fact of such strong conservative organization, the liberals have been waging an uphill struggle since 1939 to build their minority number into some kind of effective opposition group. Being in the minority, they are at the mercy of the conservative leadership when it comes to committee assignments, and they regularly complain that they are not given proper representation.

It is not generally recognized how ineffective the liberals are as an opposition group in the legislature. There is an obvious explanation for their weakness. It is due to the fact that the individual liberal legislator dare not be too vigorous in opposing the dominant conservative majority, for fear that he may suffer reprisal in the form of the loss of special local bills in which he is interested.

Most legislators arrive at St. Paul for the session with one or more bills of immediate and pressing importance to his legislative district. These bills are uppermost in his thinking, and they ordinarily have nothing to do with liberal-conservative division. He knows he must deliver on these bills or face an unhappy constituency, but to deliver on them he must get the co-operation of the conservative majority. All of which means he dare not be too outspoken in criticizing the actions of the important conservative leaders.

Success Breeds Success In Organizing Caucuses

This is what accounts for the overwhelming strength of the conservative group. The individual legislator is completely free to decide for himself whether he wishes to affiliate with the conservatives or the liberals. If he chooses the group which will have a clear majority, he will be aligning himself with the side that will be running the show and it will therefore be easier for him to get favorable consideration of his local bills. And it may also mean—as it frequently does—that he will get better treatment in his committee assignments.

On the other hand, if he affiliates with the minority group, he immediately moves into the group opposed to those who control and he exposes himself to the loss of his influence and to possible reprisal. Thus, the success of the conservatives in winning a majority breeds further success, and the liberals face a corresponding problem in maintaining their numbers.

Legislative Procedures Need Much Improvement

Conservatives are, of course, reasonably well satisfied with the existing methods and procedures in organizing house and senate leadership. But there was a day—back in the '30s—when they suffered in the minority status, just as the liberals do today.

Leaders on both sides are prepared to concede that the situation basically needs improvement. For one thing, there are too many committees in both houses, 38 in the house and 35 in the senate. The 90-day limit places a high premium on experience in leadership. A revamping of legislative procedures could not only eliminate some of the more unfair features but also could result in better legislative practices.

TABLES

Remember when the only tables usually found in a home were the marble-topped table in the parlor, the dining room table, and a kitchen table? Now, what with card, coffee and end tables, as well as bedside telephone, television and occasional tables — well, it would make great-grandmother dizzy just to count, let alone dust, all the tables in a modern home. Remember?

OUR LAND

Prepared by the Minnesota Soil Conservation Service in cooperation with University Farm, St. Paul

Schools Being Visited— A cooperative effort by the Carver County Soil Conservation District, the county agent, and the county superintendent of schools to acquaint the school children of Carver county with the importance of soil conservation is being held during the month ending December 25, according to District Conservationist H. G. Halverson of St. Peter.

Each school is being visited and color movies shown, followed by a short discussion on soil and its importance in city and rural life. The visit ends with the children filling out questionnaires and the presentation of literature on soil and its use to the children.

Christmas Helps Conservation —The expression "eat your cake and have it, too" might be paraphrased to read, "have your Christmas tree and practice forest conservation at the same time," according to Marvin Smith, extension forester at the University of Minnesota. Some people believe the Christmas tree tradition is a wasteful one. Actually, the supervised and proper harvesting of Christmas trees is good for the forest, says Smith. Nature often establishes many thousands of seedlings per acre, and ultimately only a few hundred can comprise the final crop. The Christmas tree harvest makes it possible to thin these dense stands profitably, he says.

Hay Guide—Here's a guide to hay needs, January 1 to May 15, from S. B. Cleland, extension farm management specialist at the University of Minnesota: If without silage, 2 tons per cow plus one ton for each head of young stock. If you have silage, figure two-thirds as much. Better do a little figuring. Determine your surplus, so you will know whether to sell in case of an offer.

Political Roundup

By Arthur Naftalin

Minnesota legislators are beginning to get some idea of the tremendous task they will face when the 1953 legislative session convenes three weeks from next Tuesday.

On all sides there is concern over what may happen to the state's taxing program, with business leaders insisting that whatever happens the line must be held against further taxation on industry. Others are voicing apprehension over the prospect of a sales tax. Yet, the picture clearly indicates the necessity for finding more revenue.

Spokesmen for education, better highways, improved facilities for mental health care, and expanded social welfare programs are all busily drawing their plans for increased appropriations, and the time will soon be at hand when the problem of more state revenue must be met squarely.

'Little Hoover' Reforms Getting New Consideration

The pressure for economy in state government is resulting in new interest in the recommendations of the Efficiency in Government commission. This "Little Hoover" body's report to the 1951 session didn't receive much attention two years ago, mostly because its recommendations reach into virtually every department of state government, and if adopted in their entirety would disturb many deeply-entrenched interests.

What action this legislature takes on the "Little Hoover" reforms will be the measure of the sessions' willingness to face up to its problems courageously. Senator A. O. Sletvold of Detroit Lakes, chairman of a subcommittee studying the reforms, has predicted that the session will see some real action on this matter.

Among the many reforms are proposals that would consolidate all state operations in 17 major agencies, as compared with 105 at present. The railroad and warehouse commission would be abolished, and its functions transformed to regular executive agencies responsible to the governor. Many duplications and overlappings in inspectional and licensing operations would be eliminated.

Iron Ore Taxation Big Issue In Next Session

The 1951 legislature established an interim commission on iron ore taxation, in an effort to work up reliable evidence in this controversial field. The mining companies have long insisted that they cannot absorb increased taxes and still adequately provide for the costs of developing the low grade ore, upon which further expansion in the industry must depend.

On the other hand, others—notably labor spokesmen—insist that the mining companies have been receiving favored treatment at the hands of the legislature and that the taxes they pay are not in line with the size of their profits.

With pressures coming from all sides for more revenue this next legislative session will be compelled to give the most serious attention to the report of the interim committee, because when the show down comes the choice may very well be between increased income taxes and a sales tax.

Other Than Money Items Also Worry Legislators

Money is, of course, the big worry for the legislators, but they have their other problems, too. The perennial question of reapportionment will be up again, and this time it may have some special pressure behind it. The state constitution calls for periodic reapportionment of seat in both houses on the basis of population, but the last time this was done was in 1913.

Since then there have been enormous population shifts, with the result that the large metropolitan counties are vastly under-represented. Rural legislators have persisted in refusing to vote a reapportionment that would more nearly equalize the basis of representation, and year by year the inequality has grown larger.

Another interesting controversy may develop over the proposal to require the televising of University of Minnesota football games. The sponsor of this legislation claims that he has commitments in support of it and that this year the bill, which almost passed in the house two years ago, will be adopted.

State GOP Goes To Work On Patronage Problems

The many faithful Republican Party supporters who are hopefully seeking an appointive position in the new administration will soon have their applications processed.

State Chairman P. Kenneth Peterson said last week that he and National Committeeman George Etzell have been receiving dozens of applications and that, for the time being, they are being put on file. After the January 20 inauguration, however, they will be acted upon by joint action of the party officers, including Peterson, Etzell, National Committeewoman Elizabeth Heffelfinger, and State Chairwoman Marge Howard.

Meanwhile, state GOP leaders are busily arranging for the states' part in the inaugural ceremonies. They are planning to charter special trains that would take Minnesotans to Washington and serve as their "hotels" during the inaugural period.

Far-Off Islands

Far-off islands made news in 1951. The Cocos, or Keeling, Islands in the Indian Ocean are soon to pass administratively within the British Commonwealth from Malaya to Australia, in order to expedite their use as a way point on a projected air route between Australia and South Africa. Most of the 1,700 Malay inhabitants of Cocos-Keeling seek to migrate to greener fields in North Borneo, where a colony of the islanders has been started.

Draft Appeal

The national selective service appeal board is located at national headquarters and consists of three civilian members appointed by the President. The President has authorized the national board to finally determine, upon appeal or upon its own motion, all claims or questions with respect to the inclusion of registrants for, or their exemption or deferment from, training and service. In carrying out its functions the national board is independent of the director of selective service.

F-U Leader Asks for Improved Long Term Farm Credit

Edwin Christianson, State President, Voices Plea at Red Lake Falls

Assurance of fair farm prices and the availability of low-cost long-term credit were described as the greatest needs of agriculture at a district conference of farm leaders held December 2 at Red Lake Falls says the Gazette of that city.

Officers of Farmers Union locals from several counties heard Edwin H. Christianson, president of the Minnesota Farmers Union, and Russell Schwandt, state secretary, stress these points in talks at the conference

Attending were 105 local leaders from Marshall, Polk, Pennington, Red Lake, Clearwater and Beltrami counties.

Other speakers included Mrs. Lura Reimnitz, state director of education, and Floyd Borghorst, district representative for Farmers Union insurance.

President Christianson termed the lack of farm credit suited to the needs of the family farmer as one of the chief bottlenecks to greater agricultural progress.

He urged greatly increased appropriations for the Farmers Home Administration and proposed a federally-insured long-term farm mortgage loan program.

"It takes an investment of perhaps $25,000 to $30,000 to begin farming today," explained Christianson. "A young man starting out with that kind of debt load simply cannot manage to pay four to six per cent interest or more and also make a payment on the principal.

"What is needed is a long-term mortgage-loan program with terms suited to the family-type farmer and with interest rates at perhaps two per cent.

"Such a credit program, coupled with effective price supports, will strengthen agriculture and the entire national economy," said the state farm leader.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Veterans with personal problems or questions should consult Leo L. Haley, Contact Representative, Room 210-211 Post Office Building or Box 875, Grand Forks, North Dakota.

Q: I hold a National Service Life Insurance policy, and I'm also drawing monthly disability compensation payments from the VA. Would it be possible for VA to deduct the monthly insurance premiums from my compensation checks, so I wouldn't have to bother with the payments myself?

A: Yes. You may authorize VA to deduct premium payments from your monthly compensation, provided your compensation is large enough for this purpose. VA form 9-887, available at any VA office, should be used in authorizing the deduction.

Q: Assume that a veteran meets all the requirements for the Korean GI Bill training. May he enroll under this act, even though he has gone back on active duty and is now in uniform?

A: No. Veterans on active duty are noe eligible for Korean GI Bill training, even though they meet all the law's basic requirements.

Q: A veteran in my family is eligible for extra pension payments because he is so helpless that he needs the constant aid and attention of another person. Is he supposed to hire an outsider to attend him, or would it be all right for a member of his immediate family to help him?

A: A veteran entitled to the increased payments need not go outside his family to hire an attendant. Any membe, of his family may help him. He still would be entitled to the extra pay, so long as he is otherwise eligible.

Q: I've just been discharged from service, and I plan to apply for Korean term insurance sometime within 120 days of my discharge. Is an application sufficient, or must I also pay a monthly premium?

A: An application alone would not be sufficient. You must also pay the required first premium before the 120-day deadline.

The Outdoor Crowd

Cotton separates which you can mix and match are still going to be very popular with the outdoor crowd. Classic styles are still the most favored, the blouses being sleeveless, round or pointed collared, while the skirts are swirling or single-pleated in back or front or both.

Les Ihle Named New President of C & C Assn.

Is Elected to Succeed Ward Nichols at Boar Organization Meetin

Lester A. Ihle, local insura man, Monday evening was promoted from vice president to president of the Civic and Commerce association at the annual organization meeting of the new board of directors. He will succeed Ward Nichols, who has served the past two years, January 1.

Other officers elected include Lucian Krause and Wm. Thompson, vice presidents, and Ralph Luhman, treasurer. Glenn Carlson holds over as secretary. President Ihle stated that he will announce the names of chairmen of the standing committees before the end of the year.

Arrangements are now being made for the annual meeting of the association to be held Wednesday evening, January 14, in the Eagles auditorium.

Announcement of the election of seven directors was made at last Thursday's luncheon meeting by Clarence Mattson of the tellers' committee. Elected for two-year terms were Robert A. Wurst, John Anderson, Arthur Hamilton, Arthur Christianson, Lucian Krause and Ralph A. Luhman, while Kenneth Lindberg was named for a one-year term to serve out the unexpired term of A. C. Tiedeman, who has left the city.

Hold-over members of the board include Ward Nichols, L. A. Ihle, Wm. Froiland, Sidney Lieberman and Wm. Thompson.

Principal speaker at Thursday's session was David Keenan, district traffic representative for North Central Airlines, formerly known as Wisconsin Central Airlines. He announced that the airline would inaugurate regular passenger service between Thief River Falls and Minneapolis Thursday morning, January 1, and that Chet Matthews of Duluth is taking over the duties of station manager, with a local man to be engaged as his assistant. Further details concerning the inauguration of air service appear elsewhere in this issue.

County Agent Ray Mitteness thanked the association for its cooperation in staging the recent successful 4-H recognition banquet.

Airline to Commence ssenger Service City January 1st

The long-awaited scheduled airline passenger and mail service between Thief River Falls and Minneapolis will become a reality on New Years Day. This definite assurance was given local officials at a conference here last Friday with David Keenan, district traffic representative for North Central Airlines, formerly Wisconsin Cental.

Under the schedule adopted, the plane will leave Wold-Chamberlain Field in Minneapolis at 8 a. m., arriving at Thief River Falls at 10:09 a. m., going on from here to Grand Forks. On its return trip, the plane will leave Grand Forks at 11:17, and after stopping at the local airport will arrive at Minneapolis at 1:24.

An afternoon plane will leave Minneapolis at 2:30, arriving in this city at 4:39. During the winter months the afternoon plane will not stop at Thief River Falls on the return trip to Minneapolis owing to the fact that landing lights have not yet been installed here.

The round-trip fare from Thief River Falls to Minneapolis and return will be about $30.50 including tax, Keenan stated.

A group of officials of North Central Airlines will arrive here from Minneapolis on the first plane January 1, and will remain here while the plane goes on to Grand Forks and back to this city. City officials and a delegation from the Civic and Commerce association will entertain them during their stay here. Because of the season, no attempt will be made to stage a celebration at this time, it was announced.

The jury, after reporting its verdict, was dismissed by Judge J. H. Sylvestre of Crookston, subject to recall at a later date.

The Hafdal action was the outgrowth of an automobile accident August 14, 1951, on Highway 59 between Detroit Lakes and Pelican Rapids, in which the Walker car struck the Even Ose car from the rear, resulting in injuries to Hafdal, a passenger in Ose's car.

H. O. Chommie served as attorney for the plaintiff, while Ose was represented by Lyman Brink of Hallock and Walker by Field, Arveson & Donoho of Fergus Falls.

Community Chest $3,400 Short of Goal

$8,000 Was Contributed in Course of Campaign That Ended Last Week

Approximately $8,000 was contributed to the Pennington County Community Chest during the recent fund campaign, which was concluded last week after having been in progress since late October, it was announced by James Parkins, drive chairman.

This amounts to $3,400 below the quota that had been set, based on the needs of the seven organizations receiving support from the chest.

In announcing the disappointing outcome of the drive, Parkins and E. B. Benson, president of the Community Chest joined in expressing regret that too many donors failed to take into consideration the fact that the campaign is designed to raise funds for not one but seven different agencies. They added that the board of directors of the chest will meet early in January to apportion the available funds.

Together with R. J. Dryden, city chairman, and Don Lawrence, rural chairman, Parkins and Benson expressed appreciation of the work done by solicitors as well as contributions made by supporters of the campaign.

Lions Are Advised as to Progress of Hospital Project

Norman Peterson and Dr. M. D. Starekow Stress Need for Popular Support

Led off by Norman Peterson, secretary of the Northwestern Hospital board, several Lions affiliated with the institution discussed the hospital building project at the Lions club luncheon meeting last Wednesday noon in the Rex Cafe.

Peterson stressed the point that, despite the recent allocation of $419000 in federal funds to aid in financing the project, the hospital will need the wholehearted backing of the community and the payment of pledges when they fall due if the new addition is to become a reality. The announced increase in the estimated cost of the project to a total of $942,000, he added, is due to the inclusion of more facilities than were originally planned.

Dr. M. D. Starekow of the hospital medical staff called attention to the acute need for acquiring new facilities to replace the former Mercy Hospital, as well as to add to the facilities of Plant B. He also stressed the need for popular support, and recommended the organization of a women's hospital auxiliary group.

Also sharing briefly in the discussion were Bill LaFave and John Anderson, both members of the hospital board. Ralph Luhman served as program chairman.

Ellen R. Haug Weds SN Calvin Bradley Friday

Large baskets of chrysanthemums graced the altar of the Zion Lutheran Church for the ceremony which at eight o'clock Saturday evening united in marriage Miss Ellen R. Haug, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin D. Haug of Karlstad, and SN Calvin B. Bradley, son of Mrs. Anna E. Bradley of Thief River Falls. The double ring service was read by Rev. Walter Pedersen in the presence of one hundred wedding guests.

The organ prelude was played by Mrs. Reuben Lockrem, who was also the accompanist for Gail Brown as she sang "Because" and "O Perfect Love." As the couple knelt at the altar, she sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a floor length gown of white tulle over satin, styled with bodice of Chantilly lace, high neckline, long tapered sleeves, and full skirt. She wore a fingertip veil of illusion net edged with lace and arranged from a beaded Juliet hat. Yellow roses, white carnations, and baby 'mums made up the bride's bouquet and her jewelry was a strand of pearls and rhinestone earrings, gifts from the groom.

Miss Kathryn Vorachek attended the bride as maid of honor, and the junior bridesmaid was Gail Lindberg, a cousin of the bride. They wore gowns of net over taffeta, in yellow and mint green, respectively, and carried bouquets similar to that of the bride.

Robert Knutson, a student at NDAC at Fargo, was best man, and the groomsman was Milan Borsheim of this city. Clarence Haug of Karlstad served as usher.

For the wedding of her daughter, Mrs. Haug was attired in a street length dress of deep heather with black accessories and the mother of the groom wore a wine dress, also with black accessories. They wore identical corsages of yellow roses and white 'mums.

A reception was given by the parents of the bride in the church parlors, with Circle 7 in charge of the serving. Evergreen boughs and lighted tapers decorated the room, and the table of the bridal couple was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with bride and groom figurines. Mrs. Clarence Haug cut the wedding cake and Mrs. Albert Swenson poured. The gift table was arranged by Darlene Lolshand and Joyce Gangness, and Donna Lunde had charge of the guest book.

The groom will leave Friday to return to his duties with the Navy at Boston, Mass. and his bride will remain here to continue her work in the office of the Northwestern Hospital.

Out of town guests attending the wedding included Mrs. Olger Grove, Mr and Mrs. Jack Grable, Mr and Mrs. N. O. Burlingrud, and Mr and Mrs. A. O. Buringrud of Hillsboro, N. D.; Mr and Mrs Clarence Haug and family of Karlstad; and Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Johnson of Red Lake Falls.

Entertaining Program Given By Woman's Club

The Woman's club held its Christmas program in the Civic and Commerce room of the Auditorium Monday evening, Dec. 15, Mrs. James Wiley, president, presiding. She welcomed the members and the members of the Newcomer's club, the invited guests for the evening.

The Allegro group, under the direction of Miss Elaine Bessler and Miss Leona Thompson, accompanist, sang the Club Creed. After a short business session, the program began with a candlelight processional "O, Come All Ye Faithful" and "Joy to the World" by the Allegro group with Miss Bessler directing and Miss Judith Halvorson, accompanist. The group sang four songs, the latter number as sung by Mrs. Walter Pedersen and Mrs. Geo. Effinger.

A very interesting skit, recalling the first meeting of the Woman's club and their first Christmas meeting was given by three charter members, Mrs. O. P. Mellby, Mrs. G. W. Booren and Mrs. P. W. Mabey. The first meeting was held in the fall of 1914 with a membership of 71 members. (The club has now increased to a membership of 173 members.) The meetings were held in the Brumund Hotel lounge. They reminisced about what they wore, who the officers were, the program and what refreshments were served.

This skit was followed by talks by five ladies depicting Christmas in their original home lands. Mrs. Theodore Helle told about Christmas in England. The English people observe Christmas with two holidays, Christmas Day and Boxing Day. Their Christmas foods are much the same as ours except for a few imported foods, such as tangerines, which are a treat they have only at Christmas. Christmas trees are also a luxury but they pick their own mistletoe and holly. They do not observe New Year's day as a holiday.

Mrs. Paul Bedard told about the French-Canadian Christmas and Christmas in Hungary. Christmas is observed until Jan. 6th in Hungary and the tree is decorated two days before Christmas. The French-Canadians attend midnight Mass on Christmas eve and return home to a lunch including mince meat pie which is made weeks in advance, frozen and then warmed in the oven before being served. Gifts are opened Christmas morning.

Mrs. Gust Thompson told about Christmas in Germany. They start baking cookies weeks before Christmas. The mothers try to hide them from the children and the cookies are sometimes put "under lock and key." But as Mrs. Thompson stated, sometimes the children find the key.

Miss Torill Spiten told about Christmas in Norway, which is observed until Jan. 13th. They attend church on Christmas eve then return home to a big supper usually including ribs, sausage and creamed rice. They have a Santa Claus and Christmas trees. They also attend church on Christmas Day.

Miss Margaret Walsh stated that Christmas in Ireland is very much the same as Christmas in England. They observe St. Stephen's Day instead of Boxing Day. A large Christmas candle is lighted for 12 days observing the twelve days of Christmas.

Following these talks, Mrs. Walter Pedersen sang a vocal solo, a Negro spiritual, "Sweet Little Jesus Boy," by Robert MacGimsey.

The Allegro group sang another group of songs. Singing the solo parts were Mrs. Peter sen, Mrs. George Effinger and Mrs Wm Feigal. The last selection, done a Cappella, was "Silent Night! Holiest Night!" by H. Seymour.

The program was introduced by Mrs. Ray Jude and closed with the audience singing Christmas carols, directed by Miss Bessler, accompanied by Miss Leona Thompson at the piano and Miss Judith Halvorson with the violin.

The room was attractively decorated in the Christmas theme by the Current Events group, Mrs. A. E. Baird, chairman. The room was lighted only with Christmas lights and candles. At the front of the room was a large lighted star; to the right was a decorated fireplace by which stood a small Christmas tree. At the left was a large decorated Christmas tree and candle-lighted tables.

Refreshments were served buffet style at the back of the room, from a table attractively decorated with a lighted centerpiece. Mrs. O. F. Mellby and Mrs. G. W. Booren poured. Hostesses were Zehlian and DeCor groups of which Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen and Mrs. Millard Peterson are chairmen.

Needy ones in the Community are being remembered by the different groups of the Woman's club at this Christmas season.

A playlet "Keeping Christ in Christmas" was presented. Mrs. R. B. Westacott, Mrs. A. F. Lanska and Mrs. Bernard Lanska were the main characters. Where there is any question as to the alteration of a registration certificate the person should be requested to show his classification card.

There is at present a plan to so process the registration certificate so as to make it impossible to alter it, but this plan has not yet been adopted.

Correction

The Times reporter last week misconstrued a report at police headquarters and erroneously stated that a car driven by G. I. Sjurseth of Holt had hit one driven by Donald Erickson December 5 at the intersection of Third st. and Davis av. Instead, Sjurseth had stopped his car before making a left turn onto Davis av. when hit by the Erickson car, which had skidded on the icy street. The Times regrets the error.

And in Yemen you sit on the floor, Eastern style, not in chairs.

Awards to Gopher State 4-H Club Youth

TOP RATING honors in Minnesota were awarded four teen-agers for high ratings in the 1952 National 4-H Poultry, Farm and Home Electric and Public Speaking programs. Highlights of their records indicate they were active all-round 4-H'ers.

Marland Dow

Dale Kelsey, Jr.

Paul Melchert

Rhoda Senechal

Marland Dow, 17, of Barnesville, state poultry winner, has made a pleasant and constructive 4-H project pay off. Starting with 25 chicks, he raised 900 hens, 2,455 pullets and 100 roosters. Scientific housing and feeding have been an important consideration, and Marland's exhibits have won two poultry trophies, two trips to Livestock Show and two trips to State Fair. Even though many hours went into his poultry project, Marland found time to lead recreation programs, take part in plays, help younger members, and entertain with his accordion. His trip to 4-H Club Congress in Chicago was provided by Dearborn Motors.

State winner in the 4-H Farm and Home Electric program, Dale Kelsey, 21, of Lewisville, was awarded the Westinghouse Educational Foundation all-expense trip to National Club Congress. A better understanding of electricity and the know-how gained during five years in the project, has meant greater productivity, better management and more leisure time for the Kelsey family. He not only has fixed numerous light switches, radios and other electrical equipment, but has also built a tape recorder, public address system, amplifier, and communications system. When his family bought a television set the young electrician made a rombic antenna to improve reception. This year he constructed a facsimile radio to transmit programs to different parts of the farm.

Recognition for outstanding performance in the 4-H Public Speaking program went to Paul Melchert, 17, of Cologne and Rhoda Senechal, 19, of Sabin. Paul received a 17-jewel watch; Rhoda, a gift chest of lovely silverware, provided by the Pure Oil Company, as state awards in the program. Paul concluded his winning speech, "Learning to Live in My Community", with some personal resolutions. He determined to keep himself well informed on current affairs. Realizing the influence of church, school and 4-H on better community living, he has pledged himself to active participation in each. Finally, he promised to grasp every opportunity for publicly speaking in behalf of Democracy and the American Way of Life. Paul is vice-president and reporter for his club and is presently enrolled at Valparaiso University.

Throughout her talk, Rhoda praised the many wonderful qualities of American Communities but emphasized a need for open-mindedness concerning racial tolerance. "Here in our community we have learned, through actual down-to-earth situations, to live charity, democracy and neighborliness. But when we look down on other human beings, we aren't practicing democracy," Rhoda is enrolled in Moorhead State Teachers College and serves as Junior Leader of her Club.

Grygla Area Man Jailed Recently

Gordon LaBree of the Grygla area, who had been convicted last April in Bemidji on a charge of illegal possession of moose meat, was committed to the Beltrami county jail late in November after having been granted a stay of sentence in order to appeal to a higher court. Under the terms of his sentence, he will be required to serve sixty days, with an additional four months to be served in the event the fine is not paid.

Natural Gas

Natural gas is mainly methane, and when a cubic foot of this gas burns completely, it would produce one cubic foot of carbon dioxide and two cubic feet of water vapor. Carbon dioxide in high concentration may have some effect on the body, but in ordinary amounts it is not injurious. However, ventilation should always be provided where gases are being burned, since the process of combustion consumes oxygen in the air, and the oxygen must be replaced to avoid suffocation.

Flood Damage

Flood damage, becoming more and more costly each year, is estimated to have cost $5,000,000,000 in the last 50 years. Fully $1,000,000,000 of the total damage was caused in 1951 and thus far in 1952.

Lincoln Head

The treasury's latest and current cent, the Lincoln Head, was first struck in 1909. Pennies of that year bearing the initial S (for the San Francisco Mint) and V D B (for the initials of the designer, Victor D Brenner) have the highest book value of the issue because of their relative scarcity. This scarcity came about when the designer's initials were removed soon after minting was started.

Prowlers Edge Grand Forks 51-48; to Play Moorhead on Friday

The Prowlers, holding off a desperate fourth period rally by the Redskins defeated Coach Fritz Engel's Grand Forks Central team, 51 to 48, in an exciting basketball game played on the Grand Forks woodenblock floor on Friday night. The win, and the locals registered their triumph by picking up 29 points from the free-throw line, was the first that the Prowlers have recorded over the Redskins on the Grand Forks court in more than ten years.

Coach Bob Nick's squad will conclude their pre-holiday schedule on Friday night when they meet the Moorhead Spuds on the local floor. In a preliminary game, the Prowler reserves and 'B' team will engage the Argyle team from the 32nd district.

In Friday night's game at Grand Forks, the Redskins, on a pair of field goals by Jim Lowe and a free throw by Frank Miller, gained a 3 to 0 lead after three minutes of play. Scoring five points on free throws, with Grant Gulseth and LeRoy Aasland each dropping in a pair and Art Johnson flipping in a single, tied the score at 5-all at the midway mark. Johnson, with 1:55 to play, scored a two-pointer from close in to give the Prowlers a 10 to 8 lead, and the locals held that advantage to hold a 14 to 12 margin at the end of the period.

The second period was a continuation of the nip-and-tuck play of the first quarter, with Grand Forks' Tommy Brown hitting with seige-gun accuracy to drop in three long shots and keep Coach Engel's squad within reach of the Prowlers. Aasland's overhead flip, with fifteen seconds to play, gave the locals a 27 to 24 lead at the intermission.

The Prowlers held an edge in the play in the third period, and boosted their lead to six points, holding a 37 to 31 margin moving into the fourth period. Miller racked up a pair of quick goals to open the final stanza, and the Redskins were back in the game, trailing by two points.

Johnson scored from close in; Miller added a Grand Forks free throw; Duane Raffeseth who played a fine all-round game for the locals, made a free throw. Harold King scored on a rebound, and, after Gary Smith had looped in a free throw, Grand Forks, on a gift shot by Miller and long toss by Brown, evened the score at 41 to 41 with four minutes to go.

A free throw by a Smith, and a pair of charity tosses by Raffeseth, gave the Prowlers a three-point lead. King pumped in a long shot for the Redskins. Johnson, who was the game's high-point man, scored from the lane, and Raffeseth dropped in a pair of free throws, and the Prowlers led by a 48 to 43 score.

Jim Lowe scored on a one-handed toss, and George McKinnon's free throw carried the Redskins to a 48 to 45 score with a minute to play. Bob Christensen added a pair of points on King's personal. Jim Lowe, with ten seconds to play, hit with another one-handed heave. Grant Gulseth closed out the game's scoring with a free throw.

In a preliminary game, the Prowler reserves and 'B' team, with Chuck Humes and Louie Wedul each scoring eight points, defeated the Grand Forks 'B' team, 45 to 25.

Thieves Open Season with 1 Tie and 1 Win

Locals Held to 4-4 Tie Saturday by Winnipeg Six; Win Sunday 7 to 2

The senior hockey Thieves opened their 1952-53 season by playing a 4-all draw on Saturday night and winning by a 7 to 2 score on Sunday afternoon in the two-game series against the Winnipeg Orioles played here during the weekend.

The Thieves will meet Serge Gambucci's league-champion Crookston Pirates in an exhibition game at Crookston on Wednesday night. The Crookston team, with such players as Russ and Prince Johnson, Wendy Felst, and Jimmy Williams returning to play with the Grand Forks' club, has been forced to re-shuffle the roster that brought a league title to the Pirates last year. It is reported that Fort Frances, the team that won Canada's Allen Cup last year, will provide Crookston a "first line."

Player-coach Paul Bedard's Thieves, after being held to a 4 to 4 game on Saturday night, showed much improvement in their goal-getting maneuvers on Sunday afternoon, and scored a convincing 7 to 2 victory.

Sunday's game, on Ron Castelane's rebound shot late in the first period, was a 1 to 0 game until midway in the second stanza when Bedard, on an assist from blond Church Russell, beat burly Jack Warwick for a goal. Goals by Castelane, Dan Summers, and Russell, gave the Thieves a 5 to 0 lead at the end of the period.

In the final period, the two teams were at a stand-off in the scoring, with Oscar Verrier and Murray Balagus scoring for the locals, and Red Hay and Klemkiw registering for the Orioles.

The Thieves' players who were making their debut before the local fans were center ice Church Russell, wingmen Ron Castelane and Oscar Verrier, defenseman Dan Summers, and goalie Jack McGill.

The Thieves will open play on their Northwest Hockey league schedule on Sunday, Dec. 21st, when they travel to Grand Forks for a game against Don Thurston's highly-rated Redwings.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

It's Been a Long Time

It was twelve long years, lacking one day, that the basketball Prowlers had to wait before they were able to gain a win over the Grand Forks Redskins team on the Grand Forks Central high school court. On Friday night, by a 51 to 48 score, the Prowlers scored their first triumph over the Redskins on the Grand Forks floor, since way back in 1940. It was in the 1940-41 season, on Dec. 13th, that the Prowlers, captained by Tommy Carlisle and coached by John Lindenmeyer, defeated the Redskins, 28 to 22.

In that triumph, Eddie Flasch had a field day, and he had a number of those days during his high school career, to score 21 of the locals' 28 points. Eddie, a chunky and hard-driving forward, dropped in six field goals and converted on nine of ten free throw tries. The balance of the Prowler points scored that December evening were collected by Lenny Lorentson, who tallied a field goal, Babe Peterson, who looped in a pair of free throws, and Carlisle, who scored a field goal and free throw.

Since that time, the Prowlers have lost nine games on that Grand Forks floor, although several of those contests have been touch-and-go until the final whistle. Coach Glenn Hanna's team in 1943-44, with Bill McKechnie, Virg Evenstad, Ninsk Carlson, Norm Furuseth, Burdell Merritt, Rog Tunberg, Chuck Richards, and Johnny Powell, lost a 29 to 28 decision to the Redskins.

And last year, in a tough defensive game, the Prowlers, after leading by a 20 to 19 score with less than three minutes to play, were edged out by Coach Fritz Engel's team, 24 to 22.

On Friday night, on the high school court, the Prowlers will meet up with another of their "jinx" opponents when they play the Moorhead Spuds. In an off-and-on rivalry that began with a regional finals game in 1926, and which was won by the Spuds, 20 to 16, the two teams have engaged in twelve games, and the Spudders have won ten of those games.

Only in 1938-39, when the Prowlers had Earl Nicholson, Loren Stadum, Rube Mickelson; Cliff Lunke, Red Eide, Wayne Bredeson, Flasch, Bob Kielty, Len Furuseth, Loren Jung, Bill Claffy, and Babe Peterson on the roster, have the locals been winners. That 1938-39 team won by a 31 to 26 score; while the '39-40 squad trounced the Spuds, 49 to 24.

While Bob Nick's rangy 1952-53 team have been playing a surprisingly fine brand of basketball, and neutral observers have been impressed with the team's potential, the fact is that the locals are definite short-enders against the Spuds in Friday night's game. Moorhead, with a tradition of turning out strong clubs, are reputed to have a regional contender in the making, and the manner in which they defeated the Fergus Falls Otters gives support to that report.

They'll Be Contenders

The weekend hockey series against the Winnipeg Orioles, gave the local fans their first look at the Thieves' aggregation that will move into the Northwest Hockey league play on Sunday, when they meet the Redwings at Grand Forks.

It's apparent that the Thieves, with a bolstering of the defense will have a better balanced club than last season, when the team finished third in the league standings.

It's a question whether the Thieves will have the scoring punch to cope with the proven scoring ability of the Grand Forks Redwings and the Roseau Cloverleafs. Coach Paul Bedard's club has an abundance of play-makers, having Church Russell, Jerry Lavergne, and Murray Balagus, all center-ice men, on the roster, but, judging by the series against the Orioles, the Thieves need a sniper on the order of Roseau's Don Stay.

Stay, the league's leading scorer last season, is an ornery and cantankerous individual and he'll never win the league's good-nature prize, but when it comes to pulling the trigger on those Leaf scoring plays, usually set up by Wally Stefaniw, he's a deadly marksman.

Promoter Offers Holiday Wrestling Card Here Monday

Interstate Sports Group Will Present Grapplers in Municipal Auditorium

L. D. Nordlum, promoter for the Interstate Sports organization, has arranged a holiday wrestling card to be held at the Auditorium on Monday evening, December 22nd. Headlining the program, and with wrestling the main event, which will be a one-fall and one-hour time limit, will be Joe Pazandak, a 228-pound wrestler from Minneapolis, and Mike Paidousis, a 235-pound grappler from Steubenville, Ohio.

The second match on the card will pit Al Mills of Camrose, Canada, weighing 254 pounds, against Roy McClarity of Winnipeg, Canada.

The opening bout, which is scheduled to begin at 8:30 p. m., will find Tiny Mills, one of wrestling's most accomplished "Villains" meeting Jackie Nichols of Richmond, Maine.

Promoter Nordlum announced that the Interstate Sports intend to conduct wrestling matches here on a monthly basis.

Hockey Prowlers Face Grand Forks Tonight at Arena

Six Stalwart Members of Local Team in '51-52 Are Missing This Year

Coach Dennis Rolle's hockey Prowlers, the defending champions of the eighth region, will open their 1952-53 schedule on Wednesday night when they meet Coach Bob May's Grand Forks Central sextet on the Arena rink.

Coach Rolle, losing six of the stalwarts that carried the blue-and-gold to the consolation title in the state tournament last season, has been forced to re-shuffle his inexperienced squad. It is probable that Wednesday will find Joey Poole and Marv Jorde playing the center positions, with Mike Hajostek Lyle Guttu, Bob Helgeland, and Darryl Durgin on the wings.

The blue-liners, and that has been a particularly vexing problem for the Prowler mentor, will have Jim Zavoral, Mike McMahon, Lester Sabo, Ronnie Reese, and Niel Aase available for the defensive chores. Bill Maruska, who co-captains the team with Hajostek, will be in the nets.

Bob May, a University of North Dakota graduate, has taken over the coaching duties at Grand Forks Central this year, replacing Carl Morken. May, who is a member of the Grand Forks Redwings squad, will probably have Roger Carl, center, and Jim Knauf and Ralph Hjelmstad at the wing's on his number one line on Wednesday night.

Orion Buan and Win Jensen are slated for the defense, with Buddy Granger in the goal. The Redskins lost such standouts as Curt Storbakken, John Knauff, Ron Hjelmstad, Bob Wedin, and Ronnie Geatz, but with the "feeders" that come up from the Grand Forks' recreation program, the Central squad will always provide first-rate opposition.

12 to Die in State Christmas Traffic, Safety Leader Says

Tragedy will strike 122 Minnesota homes during the Christmas holiday weekend as a result of traffic accidents, according to the forecast of the Minnesota Safety Council. Basing its prediction on deaths reported during each of the past three years, the Council made the grim observation that this year's traffic fatalities would probably follow in the familiar pattern.

"Nothing would please us more," said A. V. Rohweder, president of the council, "than to be proved wrong in our prediction and have Minnesota motorists come up with a Christmas record greatly below our forecast. If they do—and it can be done—they will have given themselves and their families one of the greatest gifts it is possible for them to give."

Rohweder offered the following suggestions for a greatly-improved Christmas traffic record:

1. If in doubt, check with the Highway department concerning road conditions along the route you intend to travel over the Christmas holiday weekend. If conditions are such that the Department advises against anything but very essential driving, be sensible and postpone your trip to a later date.

2. Remember that patches of ice or packed snow are present along most highways, especially in protected areas and in cities and villages. Drive at reduced speeds and even then slow down when approaching these potential danger spots.

3. Keep windows and windshields clear of frost, snow and ice You can't avoid an accident if you can't see the dangers ahead.

4. Don't try to cover too much distance in too short a time. Start a little earlier than usual; drive more carefully than usual and start back just a little sooner. You'll be able to drive more carefully and will arrive at your destination relaxed instead of a bundle of nerves.

"Be good to yourself and to your fellow-men this Christmas," concluded Rohweder, "by being a sensible driver. There's no better time of the year to exercise the Golden Rule of driving—Drive as you would have others drive. By doing so you'll contribute greatly to this most joyous holiday season and will help make it a truly Merry Christmas for all."

Three 'U' M. Men Given Promotions

Dr. Dowell Advances in Agriculture Institute

The promotions of three prominent members of the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture staff—A. A. Dowell, T. H. Fenske, and H. J. Sloan—were approved Friday, Dec. 12, by the board of regents.

Their appointments, which become effective January 1, are a part of the reorganization plan of the University's Institute of Agriculture.

Dr. Dowell will be director of resident instruction and assistant dean of the college of agriculture, forestry and home economics. The directorship is a new position which includes many of the duties formerly discharged by Dr. Henry Schmitz who left June 30 to become president of the University of Washington.

Dr. Sloan will be the director of the agricultural experiment station. He succeeds Dr. Harold Macy who, as previously announced, will become dean of the Institute of Agriculture, January 1, 1953.

Professor Fenske will be assistant dean of the Institute and will serve as administrative assistant to Dean Macy. His work will be much the same as he performed as associate director of agricultural administration with some additional responsibilities.

In 1922 Dr. Dowell joined the University staff as extension livestock specialist. In 1927, he was named superintendent of the Northwest School of Agriculture and agricultural experiment station at Crookston. In 1932 he was granted his Ph.D by the University of Minnesota, and in 1937 he returned to the St. Paul campus as professor of agricultural economics.

Crookston Votes Fluoridation of City Water Supply

By a vote of seven to one the Crookston city council December 9 voted fluoridation of the city water supply following discussions that dated back to 1950. Some 200 Crookston residents attended the council meeting.

Dr. C. D. Mitchell, speaking for the Crookston Dental association, cited that the cost per capita of fluoridation of the water supply in Red Lake Falls ran to five cents annually and that some cities have brought the cost down to two cents per capita.

The lone Crookston alderman voting against the fluoridation was George Widman, who believed that the question should be submitted to a vote of the people. It was pointed out the cost of voting was estimated at $1.81 per vote cast.

Nelson of Lengby will be in charge of the service in the Swedish language on Wednesday. Thursday's program will originate in the Home for the Aged at Thief River Falls and will be in charge of Rev. BACK FROM KOREA

President-elect Eisenhower is back from Korea but he "ain't talkin'" and that suits us. When the time comes for him to speak he will no doubt say what he thinks should be said. Some idea of his thinking might be obtained from his statement that in dealing with an enemy for whom words have no meaning we would have to lean more heavily on deeds.

A shift away from the wordy battles of the past would be refreshing. Certainly we have not been impressive in the name calling diplomatic skirmishes of recent years. It would be interesting to see how the Reds would respond to a full treatment of Teddy Roosevelt's policy of speaking lightly but carrying a big stick.

The big difficulty in dealing with the Korean situation is the fact that Korea is only one of many trouble spots in the world today. Most of them are related to the same general problem which is Red Russia. The battleground of that hot and cold war extends over Asia, Europe and Africa. It does not help our cause to win a battle unless that battle helps us to win the war.

France, still far from recovered from World War II, has been carrying a heavy load in the defense of Indo China and now is threatened in Morocco. Britain has suffered a series of serious reversals, and what is left of the old Empire is likely to shrink still further as new revolts develop.

In spite of the weakness of these former powers however, the nations of the North Atlantic Treaty organization have undoubtedly gained strength as a defense unit in recent years by pooling their resources. The organization that is opening another conference in Paris this week looks back upon much encouraging progress.

This North Atlantic Treaty Organization, which Eisenhower helped to form, is probably the kind of a deed he thinks the Reds may come to understand. It is the kind of a fact they are most likely to respect and it is to this kind of united effort that Eisenhower now pins his hopes for ultimate peace.

What we do in Europe is important in the defense of Korea and what we do in Korea is important in the defense of Europe. As Eisenhower takes over and gives direction to the defense effort this relationship probably will become more apparant.

MORE BASIC AID?

Schoolmen are asking the Legislature to increase basic school aid from $70 to $100 per pupil unit. Present income tax receipts are not sufficient to pay the cost of aid on this basis. It would be necessary therefore to tap the surplus that has accumulated to the credit of this fund. The surplus would soon be exhausted and then it would be necessary to either reduce the amount of aid or find new sources of tax revenue to make up the deficit.

Here is an opportunity for the taxpayers associations and the groups that are pleading for an end to the steady increases in taxes to perform a useful service. The schoolmen are obviously making unreasonable demands upon the state. There is no justification for such an increase in basic aid as they ask for.

There is a need for increased assistance to some schools but that need can be met far more fairly and at comparatively little increased cost by increasing equalization aid. The state does have a first obligation to equalize educational opportunities thruout the state and for this purpose more liberal aids can be justified. But under the present circumstances, to spread more state money in the form of basic aid, giving to those districts that do not need as well as those that do, is an invitation to wasteful spending.

GIVE US FACTS

Those who argue that taxes in Minnesota are unduly burdensome to industry and are driving industry out of the state would perform a useful service if they would be more specific. They would get a more favorable response if they would cite examples.

We are all interested in developing the state's industrial resources. We want a better market. We want more payrolls. These are things that serve the selfish interests of all of us. Give the people of Minnesota convincing proof that a particular tax is unfair to Minnesota industry and that tax inequality would soon be corrected.

Little is accomplished however by sweeping generalities. On the contrary these broad, unproven charges do considerable harm. They in themselves tend to discourage industrial expansion within the state. Repeated often enough, they are finally accepted as true. The unproven charges become undisputed facts, and an evil results where a good was intended.

There undoubtedly are things about our tax structure that need correction. Taxes require constant study and must be amended from time to time to meet the needs of changing conditions within our own state and in the other states whose industry competes with ours.

Those who point out specific defects and argue for their correction serve a useful purpose. But the carping criticism of those who merely talk loud in sweeping charges against the entire tax structure accomplish no good and do considerable harm.

ORE PRODUCTION UP

In spite of a two-months shut down because of the steel strike the Great Lakes tonnage of iron ore has come up to pre-season expectations. This was made possible by the increased shipping capacities of the carrier companies. An expanded fleet of ore boats enabled them to do the big job in a shorter time.

Because of this increased capacity next year's ore tonnage is expected to rise from this year's total of 75 million tons to 105 million tons. Most of this increased tonnage will originate in Minnesota and will provide more payroll and more tax revenue for our state.

There is no indication that the Republican depression will descend upon us in 1953.

1922—THIRTY YEARS AGO

All local diphtheria patients who have been quartered in the Auditorium were released last week.—Arthur Lanon, former local man rejected an appointment as county auditor to newly organized Lake of the Woods county.—Loken Bros. are closing their department store here this week and will engage in business in Madison, Wis.—Mrs. F. O. Mogenson was named worthy matron of the local Eastern Star chapter.—Mrs. C. W. Bowen and her mother Mrs. Chas Robbecke visited in Fargo and Devils Lake, N. D.

Dahle, former Lutheran pastor at St. Hilaire, succumbed at the age of 68.—The recreation board opened a toboggan slide in Randolph park.

DIGGING UP THE LONG PAST

A freakish bone found in an Adrian gravel pit, a foot long, about seven inches in diameter, weighing eight pounds, is believed to be the tooth of some prehistoric animal.—Willmar street repairs unearthed what was believed to be a petrified buffalo horn.—When a saw stalled in a Spring Lake Park log it was split to reveal a pair of ancient rusty horseshoes, apparently hung on a branch or nail many years ago, and completely absorbed into the growing tree.—The biggest annual timber yield of Superior National Forest no doubt began many years prior to the fiscal year ending June 30, 1952 of 96,581,000 board feet 82 per cent was pulpwood, 16 per cent sawtimber, 2 per cent poles etc.—Says Superintendent Pike, "Enough lumber to build 19,300 average size homes."

Fewer Freight Cars

There are more than [illegible] fewer freight cars serving major American railroads today than in 1942 to carry an increased volume of transport. More than [illegible] of the railroad's cars are over [illegible] years old [illegible].

2 ways to hurry your Holiday phone calls
1 MAKE CALLS BEFORE OR AFTER CHRISTMAS EVE OR DAY
Long distance lines will be crowded most of Christmas Eve and Christmas Day—especially with so many servicemen away at camp. A full force of operators will be on duty and every switchboard in service. We'll do our best to put all calls through, but some will surely be delayed—and others may not get through.
To avoid delays why not call the week-end between the holidays? You can take advantage of reduced rates on most toll calls after 6:00 P.M. and all day Sunday.
2 GIVE THE OPERATOR THE OUT-OF-TOWN TELEPHONE NUMBER
New operator toll dialing equipment lets many local operators ring directly the telephones in some 1500 U.S. cities. Your call may go through nearly twice as fast—if you call by number.

River of Corn

A GOLDEN STREAM of Minnesota sweet corn gets a final inspection from Mrs. Deloris Unglaub (left) and Mrs. Hazel Reynolds as it flows toward the canning machines in this big cannery at Glencoe. Much of this Minnesota-produced food is sold in the state, too—for example, on the iron ranges. In fact, the thousands of ore miners, enjoying a $67 million annual payroll, are good customers of most Minnesota industries. And, with huge new ore processing plants under consideration, there can be more mining employees, more families and dependents, more customers for business all over Minnesota. That's why fair treatment for the iron mining industry is important to all Minnesotans.

A cousin, Leroy Johnson of Walhalla, N. D., is also up here visiting. He is at present recuperating from a short stay at a Canadian hospital. Several films were also shown during the evening. These films had been sent home by Milton Lindquist from Korea and he had taken them by himself. There were scenes of both Korea and Japan and they were very interesting to see. We are glad to have this young couple back and hope that they will enjoy their new business undertaking. This is not exactly a new venture for Marvin, as he cooked in the army and also operated a cafe here in Strandquist a few years back. The Boens have two children, a girl and a boy. But, although we welcome the Boens, we shall certainly miss Ed and Minnie Carlson who have become so familiar to us all and made us feel so much at home in their place, but the Carlsons do need a rest as they have worked hard. The Carlsons own a residence here in town, so will be living here.

Mr. Lockwood and Robert Rokke chauffeured the following high schoolers to Thief River Friday afternoon. Janice Johnson, Ethlyn Erickson, Carol Bodsvold, Nina Paulson, Jean Nelson, Joanne Hoskin and Roger Grundstrom. The early part of the evening Janice, Ethlyn, Carol and Mr. Lockwood spent visiting at the Oscar Odegaard home. Then later on they joined up with the rest of the bunch and visited at the Oscar Knutson home. Dorothy Borsvold, who had accompanied her teacher, Mrs. Oscar Knutson to Thief River Falls after school came back with the group.

The Bethesda Ladies Aid held their annual meeting last Wednesday. Mrs. Art Anderson was elected president and Mrs. Ingvold Rokke vice president. Dolpha Johnson will serve as treasurer for the coming year and Mrs. Henry Bruce as secretary. Mrs. Daryl Haugen and Mrs. Willard Renstrom were elected as the flower committee.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

It Can Be Done

"Aw Dady, I just have to use the car tonight. All the other fellows are driving to the dance. Do you want them to think I'm queer?"

"Make some other arrangements, son. We'll have no wild driving in this family."

At the end of this conversation the boy may sulk or kick something out of his path. If Dad becomes angered by this show of "ill-will," a family quarrel may be right around the corner. A cool-headed understanding of the difference in outlook is not impossible.

Certainly, we owe our young boys and girls a calm study of how they see problems of companionship, recreation, conduct etc. As we face their efforts to become grown-up, our sympathetic understanding will go far towards discovering the real source of teen-age hostility—their own immaturity.

Instead of taking personal hurt as our share in "rubs" with adolescents, we may still continue helping them to avoid physical and moral harm. "Let's see this thing another way," or "May I help you get to the bottom of this," will convince youths that they are partners with us in this business of living. More often than not they will begin to learn from the mistakes of others, as well as to accept the results of their own poor choices of what is done or left undone. As these folks mature socially and emotionally, conformity to standards is seen as worth while. Values are built upon trust and cooperation, loyalities are cemented.

It is wise to anticipate what a youngster is planning. We should meet requests for independence, more spending money, new activities with consideration, rather than in the heat of disappointment or rejection. Adolescents do not need to sample all life's feeble pleasures. Our homes are not courts of justice. Success rests in the good, common sense of home guidance.

Topsy-Turvy Child

Disorderliness is not synonymous with child life, nor does it add pleasure to child experience.

According to tradition girls are more orderly than boys. While it may be generally true that girls are more interested in details of arrangement, one cannot place the blame on inheritance. The cause may be found in the difference in training given to boys and girls, and in the performance we expect from them.

All children may be taught orderly ways from their early childhood. Instead of merely "telling" a child to put away his toys or to hang up this or that article of clothing, it works better if we show him how to do so. Our help will be seen as doing-it-with-me if we take care to keep an interested attitude. It takes a long time for even the brightest child to be orderly, so parents lose out if they become impatient or over-demanding. Play changes into drudgery when we force adult standards on young children.

Two important factors to remember in this phase of child training are: all children like to be noticed; they thrive on praise. Never fail to recognize and praise a child for a well-done piece of work. Secondly, growing children enjoy doing things with others. Real punishment consists in being told to "go away." Thus, the more opportunities we find for cooperative activity in straightening up, putting away, mending or fixing a broken toy or household article, the more will orderliness have value in the eyes of the child.

Parents should not expect the child to be a perfectionist. His early attempts to do a job well, deserve praise for "trying" even though the result is a bit topsy-turvy. That fault lies in his inexperience. As long as he remains a willing family member, rejoice. Good example? Nothing better.

LITTLEST CHURCH HAS BIGGEST WEDDING

It doesn't take many folks to crowd Carl Kehret's "wayside chapel" on highway 16 west of Austin. Believed to be one of the world's smallest places of worship, the tiny structure is complete with colored windows and steeple. A capacity crowd witnessed the church's first wedding ceremony when Wilma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Norman of Austin, and Roy Madison of Cumberland, Wisc., were united by Rev. Emmanuel Giblin, Austin Methodist minister. These three with two attendants and nine guests literally packed the 8x10 chapel.

Health Assn. Reports on Work Done Locally Thru Yule Seal Sales

"Look to the living!"

This is the slogan for 1952 fighters against tuberculosis, according to a report on Christmas Seals at work. The report for Pennington county is now being sent to officers of the county Tuberculosis and Health association and to volunteer Christmas Seal workers in every community.

"It is more important to save the living than to count the dead," the report states. "Tuberculosis is still a killer, but each year in Minnesota it is taking fewer lives—because of improved methods of finding TB and treating it, and because more people are learning the facts about the disease."

Money raised in this year's Christmas Seal sale will help continue the work of saving lives, according to Mrs. Geo. Erickson, secretary of the county TB association. "The most important work of all is to find TB cases early, when complete recovery is possible, and to teach all of us how to guard ourselves and our families against the disease." The drive to raise funds for fighting TB began Nov. 17 and continues until Christmas.

During 1952, Pennington county's Christmas Seal funds were used to help finance the following health education and health projects:

$250 contribution to the new H. Longstreet Taylor TB research project begun at the University of Minnesota.

Purchase of a health education radio series, "The Constant Invader," for broadcast over the Thief River Falls radio station.

Purchase of three height and weight measuring scales for use in county schools as part of a school health program.

Distribution to county schools of "Everybody's Health," Christmas Seal magazine, and health supplies including paper handkerchiefs, towels, cups, first-aid provisions and health books.

Showings at schools and group meetings of special health films, lent without charge by the state Christmas Seal association.

Publicity aid to the orthopedic clinic held at Thief River Falls May 17 by the crippled children services of the state division of social welfare. Pennington was one of six counties participating in this clinic.

Providing a "scholarship" for the Thief River Falls school nurse and physical education teacher to attend a one-week school health workshop conducted this summer by the Minnesota departments of health and education at Camp Aquilla, near Dent, Minn.

Former Oklee Man Dies in Montana

C. Rolandson Is Victim of Monoxide Poisoning

Carbon monoxide poisoning has claimd the life of Clifford Rolandson, 49, former Oklee man, near Zortman, Montana. His foreman, Arlo Johnson, with whom Rolandson worked in an oil field, also lost his life, says the Oklee Herald.

According to reports received at Oklee, the men were en route from Landusky to Hays, Montana, when their car became stalled on an icy mountain road. A third passenger in their automobile started out afoot to get help while Rolandson and Johnson stayed in their car with the motor running. Both men were found dead in their car Wednesday morning.

Mr. Rolandson's body was returned to Oklee for funeral services which were held in Clearwater church last Wednesday afternoon with the Rev. H. Lie officiating. Interment was in the Clearwater cemetery.

Rolandson was born at Roland in Equality township Aug. 19, 1903 and spent his entire life in Equality and Mayfield townships with the exception of the last five years when he has been employed in Montana.

Surviving relatives include a son, Jerome, and a daughter, Clarice of Goodridge; four brothers, Knute of Oklee, Orville of Thief River Falls, Melvin and Arthur of Circle, Mont., and four sisters, Mrs. Bill Seeger and Mrs. Melvin L. Johnson of Oklee, Mrs. Jake Simonson of Fertile, and Mrs. Annlebelle Fore of Yakima, Wash. He was preceded in death by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Rolandson, and three brothers.

Assistant State 4-H Leader Gets Washington Post

Feeding of Game Birds Important, Says Supervisor

States Birds Lose Cover Due to Extensive Fall Plowing and Burning

Supervisor of Game, Taylor W. Huston today warned farmers and sportsmen that winter feeding of game birds is more important this year than ever before—primarily because of a shortage of protective cover.

"An unusual amount of fall burning and plowing resulted in a great loss of cover," Huston pointed out.

"The first snowstorm of the year, although not unusually severe, resulted in pheasants dying from smothering as a result of inadequate winter cover," he declared.

Shelters and feeding stations should be located close to cover that is acceptable to the species of bird for which it is intended. When located near good winter cover, birds need not be exposed to predators. Neither are birds unnecessarily exposed to freezing and of suffocation as when they must range over open fields in search of food. Always face stations south, southeast or east to prevent their drifting full of snow. When the lean-to teepee or shocked type of shelter is used, loosely piled brush should be placed in front of the opening to prevent predators from pouncing on the birds while they are feeding and to permit them to escape from the shelter in such emergencies.

Corn is the most satisfactory grain and may be fed in ears, shelled or cracked as scratch feed. Other suitable grain, such as soy beans, wheat, millet, buckwheat, cane, barley, oats, etc., screenings and waste grain products obtained from mills or elevators & hay mown chaff will provide much feed at a low cost. However, caution should be exercised that such feed does not contain noxious weed seed. Grit should also be provided.

Northwestern Bell Telephone reports that 64 per cent of rural telephones are on lines having eight or fewer parties.

Dairy co-ops to the number of 538 are most numerous among Minnesota's 1,341; farm supplies are second, 300; grain 232, livestock 187, poultry and eggs 36, services 33, fruit and vegetables 12, wool-alfalfa-seeds 3.

Political Roundup

By Arthur Naftalin

The 1954 Minnesota election campaign was launched unofficially last week. Senator Hubert H. Humphrey, who faces re-election in two years, spent the week in the state, visiting with Democratic-Farmer-Labor leaders and sparking a rejuvenation program aimed at putting the Party in good shape for the battles to come.

State Republicans, riding high as the result of the Presidential victory this year, have made it clear that they will go all-out in an effort to capture Humphrey's Senate seat, and the challenge was quickly taken up by Humphrey who let it be known that he was prepared to wage a vigorous battle against all comers.

DFL Ranks Restless As Result of Defeat

For some time now there has been a good deal of restlessness among DFL'ers who feel that the Party's strength is greater than is reflected in the election results. There is a tendency to blame the incumbent leadership at both the state and county levels to pursue a more energetic and more effective organizational program.

This criticism is not directed at Humphrey, because he is uniformly supported within the Party. But it does lend to conflicting demands upon him. One group of DFL'ers feel that the Party's leadership is not broadly enough based, that those in top control constitute a "palace guard" of close Humphrey associates. This group insists that Humphrey should not try to exert too much influence on Party affairs and that he should use his influence to demobilize what is loosely called the "palace guard."

On the other hand, another group feels that the Party is not as effective as it might be because it lacks firm and concentrated leadership at the top. This group constantly urges Humphrey to assume a more positive organizational leadership, to give orders for the carrying out of a program, and, if necessary, to "crack the whip" to keep all elements in line.

Program to Revitalize Party Calms Discontent

For the moment at least the DFL waters are calm, following Humphrey's round of consultations with various county, district, and state leaders. He spent 6½ hours with the state executive committee, hearing complaints and doing some complaining himself about the Party's failure to get itself fully organized at all levels.

Humphrey made it clear that he was not assuming any kind of "king-maker" role, that there had been failures in maximizing the Party's strength, and that he was prepared to join with any and all in activities aimed at bolstering the DFL machinery, but that direction and leadership would have to emanate from the ranks.

As a result of the discussions, the DFL voted to call a statewide delegate conference for late in January. This conference will seek to develop a program that will revitalize party activity at all levels and plan an early start for the 1954 campaign.

Anderson Faces Similar Problem In GOP Ranks

The problem of leadership is always a difficult one for a political party. Not enough top direction leads to confusion and inactivity, too much leads to resentment and charges of dictation.

Governor C. Elmer Anderson is currently facing this same dilemma within the Republican Party. There have been demands for a "strong man" to take over GOP leadership, now that former Governor Harold Stassen has completely removed himself from Minnesota politics and Roy E. Dunn is no longer national committeeman.

Anderson is feeling this situation out cautiously. He is by nature soft spoken and not given to energetic assertion of authority. Right now there are no pressing problems of concern, but the wise heads in the Party know that the problem of federal patronage may very well bring with it serious discord if not carefully handled. The big test for Anderson will, of course, be the 1953 legislative session, when the divisions between the conservative and liberal wings of the Republican Party come into conflict.

Legislative Problems Continue to Mount

Each day brings new worries for the 1953 legislature, which convenes in St. Paul two weeks from next Tuesday. Last week the University outlined its requests for "high priority" building and maintenance needs, totalling $10,428,000 for the biennium. For general operations the University will ask $34,753,298.

The state teachers colleges, too, have been indicating the need for substantial increases both for general maintenance and for buildings. The Governor made it clear he would support ample appropriations for continued expansion of the mental health program.

Under consideration, too, on the part of state employees is a request for increases in salaries. At the moment it is difficult to get an overall picture of the extent of the state's financial problem. This will come when the Governor gives his inaugural message and later his budget message to the 1953 legislature.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

(This service is based on questions asked at Veterans Administration offices in the State. Answers are supplied by VA.)

Q. I'm studying in college under the Korean GI Bill, and the goal I put down on my VA application is an AB degree. After I get it, I want to go on for my master's degree. Would that step be considered a change of program, even if my advanced studies are in the same field?

A: Yes. The reason would be that your original GI training goal had been changed.

Q: I am a World War I veteran drawing a VA pension for a non-service connected disability. I had to sell my house for a price less than I paid for it. Am I supposed to count the proceeds of the sale as income, in figuring out whether I come under the annual income ceiling of $2,700 for a married veteran?

A: No. Since you sold your house at less than your purchase price, no part of the proceeds need be considered as income.

Q. I'm applying for the new type of post-Korean term insurance. Whom may I name as the beneficiary of my insurance?

A: You may name any person or persons. Or, if you want, you also may designate any firm, corporation or other legal entity, including your estate.

Q. I have just received orders that recall me to active duty. I don't think my service pay will be sufficient to allow me to keep up payments on the house I bought with a GI loan. Is there anything I can do about it?

A: Yes. You should discuss your entire situation with the holder of your mortgage, and make arrangements to pay as much as you can while you're in uniform. That part of the payment you cannot make can be postponed until you get out of service. At that time you should see the mortgage holder again, and make arrangements for a repayment schedule.

Optometrists of State Will Award New Scholarship

A full, three-year scholarship for high school or college students desiring to enter the profession of Optometry was announced today by the Minnesota Optometric association.

In making the announcement, the group's president, Dr. Harold L. Carlson, Mankato, said that inviting career opportunities are open to both young men and women in optometry, which is the art and science of vision care. The scholarship, which covers full tuition and fees, has a nominal value of approximately $1500.

The scholarship contest, which is offered in cooperation with the Chicago College of Optometry, is of the essay type and is open to any young man or woman in Minnesota. Entry information can be secured from any optometrist who is a member of the state association. Maximum length of entries is 1500 words and they should be written on the subject, "As An Optometrist, How Can I Best Serve My Community."

Decreased Deaths

Antibiotic drugs and advances in treatment methods have reduced deaths among American combat forces in Korea to the lowest rate in the history of U.S. military medicine.

Ratified by the five governments, the charter became effective on December 14, 1951.

DO THE JOB Right FROM THE BEGINNING with MOLINE-MONITOR FLUTED FEED DRILLS

. . . with single or double disc openers

Progressive farmers in this area rely on Moline-Monitor drills with fluted feed and double disc or single disc openers to sow crops accurately, at uniform depth with uniform covering and careful handling.

The deep-cut fluted feeds prevent bridging and grinding of seed. Even trashy seed flows through evenly. An exclusive MM feature permits the operator to actually see the seed being delivered to the spouts. No special gates of any kind are needed on the quality MM Monitor Drills. The regular feeds with two speed drive handle everything from soybeans to flax.

Grain growers also prefer Moline-Monitor Drills because of their dependability and long-life, trouble-free operation. Typical of the better construction are the axle bearings which are extra large and completely enclosed in a self-aligning dustproof housing.

Foot Warmth

The warmth of a fabric depends generally on its thickness and, more particularly, its thickness under a given pressure. Thus, if cotton and nylon socks are about the same general thickness and weight, they will be equally warm. However, the sole of the sock may vary in its ability to insulate against cold, depending on how far it can resist reduction in thickness under the pressure of the foot. This, in turn, will depend on the properties of the fiber, construction, etc., so that no general answer to this question is possible.

OUR LAND

Prepared by the Minnesota Soil Conservation Service in cooperation with University Farm, St. Paul

Redwood District Favored — Redwood county voted in favor of organizing a soil conservation district in November, reports M. A. Thorfinnson, extension soil conservationist at the University of Minnesota and secretary of the State Soil Conservation Committee. The vote was 243 in favor and 32 opposed. The proposed district would include all of the county except Homer, Sherman, Three Lakes, Morgan, Sundown and Brookville townships. The State Soil Conservation Committee will take action on this referendum at its December meeting. This is the third county to take favorable action this summer. The other two, Lake of the Woods and Pipestone, have already been approved by the State Committee.

College Students Study Land— Land conservation practices in LeSueur County were recently studied by geography students of Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter, when their class made a field trip of county farms. The tour, under the guidance of the LeSueur County Soil Conservation District, was conducted for the students by Mrs. Mary Erickson, geography instructor at the college, and Herbert G. Halverson, district conservationist, and Lynn J. Skalfe, farm planner, of the Soil Conservation Service.

The tour gave the students a first-hand view of the soil problems in LeSueur County and the practices being used to conserve the soil. Practices seen on the stops were diversion terraces at Olson farm; study of profile of soils along the Minnesota River bluffs; gully and sheet erosion; fish hatchery northwest of St. Peter; terracing at the Art Mosser farm; and strip cropping on various farms.

At the Hayden and Maxwell farms, the students observed field practices and noted changes in land use after adoption of farm plans. Also under observation was the field windbreak on the Glendon Penney farm near LeSueur, which was planted 5 years ago at the time the district was started. Some of the other highlights of the tour were stops at Cook's Mink Ranch, Minnesota Valley Canning Company, and a view of the area in Le Sueur County recently struck by a tornado, showing uprooted trees, etc.

OUR LAND

Prepared by the Minnesota Soil Conservation Service in cooperation with University Farm, St. Paul

Redwood District Favored — Redwood county voted in favor of organizing a soil conservation district in November, reports M. A. Thorfinnson, extension soil conservationist at the University of Minnesota and secretary of the State Soil Conservation Committee. The vote was 243 in favor and 32 opposed. The proposed district would include all of the county except Homer, Sherman, Three Lakes, Morgan, Sundown and Brookville townships. The State Soil Conservation Committee will take action on this referendum at its December meeting. This is the third county to take favorable action this summer. The other two, Lake of the Woods and Pipestone, have already been approved by the State Committee.

College Students Study Land— Land conservation practices in LeSueur County were recently studied by geography students of Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter, when their class made a field trip of county farms. The tour, under the guidance of the LeSueur County Soil Conservation District, was conducted for the students by Mrs. Mary Erickson, geography instructor at the college, and Herbert G. Halverson, district conservationist, and Lynn J. Skalfe, farm planner, of the Soil Conservation Service.

The tour gave the students a first-hand view of the soil problems in LeSueur County and the practices being used to conserve the soil. Practices seen on the slopes were diversion terraces at Olson farm; study of profile of soils along the Minnesota River bluffs; gully and sheet erosion; fish hatchery northwest of St. Peter; terracing at the Art Mosser farm; and strip cropping on various farms.

At the Hayden and Maxwell farms, the students observed field practices and noted changes in land use after adoption of farm plans. Also under observation was the field windbreak on the Glendon Penney farm near LeSueur, which was planted 5 years ago at the time the district was started. Some of the other highlights of the tour were stops at Cook's Mink Ranch, Minnesota Valley Canning Company, and a view of the area in Le Sueur County recently struck by a tornado, showing uprooted trees, etc.

Pike-Cook Nuptial Vows Spoken

Baskets of white mums, palms and candelabra provided a beautiful setting for the wedding of Miss Monna Ruth Pike, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lavell Pike of Anderson, Indiana, and David Gerald Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cook of Newfolden, at the East Lynn Christian Church at Anderson Friday evening, Nov. 28. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Geo. A. Harris, in the presence of almost 100 relatives and friends.

The organist, Mrs. Earl Leighton, and Miss Martha Lou Hockenberry, vocalist provided music before the ceremony including "Because," "Always," and "Thru the Years."

As Lohengrin's Wedding March was played, the bride proceeded to the alter on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She was lovely in a gown of white lace and net fashioned with a formal bodice. The sculptured lace jacket had a small collar and long sleeves tapered to bridal points. The full ballerina-length skirt was interspersed with bands of lace and net. Her tiered veil showered from a matching headpiece. She carried a white Bible and an orchid.

The bride was attended by Miss Kathleen Cook, sister of the groom, as maid of honor and Miss Effie Allen, friend of the bride, as bridesmaid. They wore identically styled gowns of taffeta and net in ballerina length in pink and green. They carried colonial bouquets of pompoms in white and yellow. Their rhinestone necklaces were gifts from the bride.

Candlelighters were Mrs. Robert LaGarde and Miss Beverly Spicer. Mrs. LaGarde wore a pale green off the shoulder gown of nylon net, and taffeta. Miss Spicer chose a pink taffeta gown which was covered with black lace.

The groom was attended by a friend, Rolan Porter, of Albert Lea, as best man. They were in service together. Raymond Passwater of Anderson, and Robert Pike of New Madison, Ohio, both cousins of the bride, served as ushers.

The bride's mother was attired in a black dress with black accessories and the mother of the groom wore a French blue suit with black accessories. Corsages of white pompoms completed their costumes.

Following the ceremony a reception, given by the bride's parents, was held in the church parlors. Wedding bells were suspended over the gift table, with pink and green streamers falling to the table, which was accented with baskets of white pompoms. A two tiered cake trimmed in pink roses, and topped with a miniature bride and groom completed the appointments. Servers were Misses Sue McClintic, Joyce, Maxine Houser and Marilyn Gwaltney.

For the wedding trip to Chicago, the bride chose, an aqua faille suit with which she wore black accessories and a white orchid.

The bride is a graduate of Anderson High School and Ball Teachers College, at Munice, Indiana, and is a member of Omega Sigma Chi Sorority, and AAUW. The groom is a graduate of the Newfolden High School, and attended North Dakota State College at Fargo before entering the service. He recently returned from duty in Korea after completing his enlistment with the National Guard.

State's Electors Cast Vote Monday for Eisenhower

Mrs. A. M. Campbell of This City One of Group That Met in St. Paul

After assembling at 8 o'clock Monday morning in the office of Governor C. Elmer Anderson in St. Paul, the Minnesota Republican presidential electors, including a lone woman, Mrs. Alex Campbell of Thief River Falls, were obliged to wait until 12 noon before casting their ballots for Dwight D. Eisenhower for president.

The delay resulted when Attorney General J. A. A. Burnquist, after studying the law ascertained that it would not be legal to act before the noon hour.

Lud Roe, Montevideo publisher, will be Minnesota's electoral college representative at the Jan. 6 session of congress which formalizes the electoral college vote.

Other electors are Dana Stone, Long Lake; Lewis Drill, St. Paul; Gordon Sanders, Minneapolis; Rep. Clarence Langley, Red Wing; Mrs. A. M. Campbell, Thief River Falls and George Campbell, Crookston.

The nation's voters picked 531 electors at the Nov. 4 general election. Most of them, as in Minnesota, are persons of long experience in party affairs. The position is an honorary one.

Stores open evenings Friday through Tuesday.

Ask Presents for People at Fergus Falls Hospital

Dr. W. L. Patterson, superintendent of the Fergus Falls state hospital, today called attention to an opportunity to help make Christmas a happier time for some of the patients there, who have no relatives, but who like to have a gift to unwrap at Christmas time.

Among gifts that are suitable he said, are clothing, candy, cosmetics and toiletries, games, newspaper or magazine subscriptions, playing cards, stationery, cigarettes, pipes or tobacco. Any perishables that are sent should be so marked. All packages should be sent to reach the hospital by December 22.

Those sending gifts are asked to place a slip on the outside of the parcel stating wwhat it contains, as well as what size if a garment.

Growth in Soil Conservation Districts

Rapid growth of soil conservation districts is shown by the chart and 1952 map above. One farmer or rancher out of every five in the United States is now developing or carrying out a soil and water conservation plan as a cooperator with one of the nearly 2,500 locally organized and managed soil conservation districts. Districts now include 84 percent of the nation's farm and ranch land. Farms and ranches of active district cooperators represent more than one-fourth of all our agricultural land. The Soil Conservation Service in 1952 helped these district farmers and ranches apply 7 percent more permanent-type soil conservation practices on the land than in any previous year.

Co. Fair Circuit Sets '53 Dates at Crookston Parley

O. M. Mattson of Warren Is Reelected President of Red River Valley Assn.

All officers of the circuit were reelected, namely: O. M. Mattson, Warren, president; Charles Christianson, Roseau, vice president; and Reynold Erickson, Fertile, secretary-treasurer.

Dates for the other fairs in the circuit follow:

Clay County at Barnesville, July 9, 10 and 11.

Polk County at Fertile, July 12, 13, 14 and 15.

Roseau County at Roseau, July 20, 21 and 22.

Mahnomen County at Mahnomen, July 24, 25 and 26.

The county fair officials discussed the possibilities of operating free gate fairs, but no definite action was taken for the circuit as a whole and the matter was left to the directors of each of the individual fairs.

Grandstand and midway attractions were also reviewed, with most fairs expressing general approval with the type of grandstand programs presented in 1952 and also general approval of the midway carnival which appeared at the last fairs. The delegates who will represent the individual fairs and circuit at the state meeting in Minneapolis on January 5, 6 and 7 were authorized to use their own judgment in entering contracts for the 1953 fairs.

If you're painting, try adding a little blue to the paint used on walls opposite the windows of a well-lighted room, in order to counteract the too-bright effect of the yellow sunlight.

Hunter Violating State Law Fined

Man Fined at Grygla for Hunting Close to House

Wm. D. Swanson of Crookston, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace A. F. Cuno in Grygla Dec. 13. A complaint had been signed against him by Martin Holte of Grygla, who had seen Swanson shoot a partridge within 200 feet of his home. He pleaded guilty to the charge of "taking a wild animal with a firearm within 500 feet of a building occupied by a human being" and paid a fine and costs of $25.

In commenting on the case, J. P. Liemandt, game warden, said "There seemed to be an increase in this sort of violation during the past season. The statutes protect the people who live in the hunting areas. It is up to these same people to cooperate with the local game wardens in reporting violations. In this case, Holte is to be commended for observing the car license number and turning the case over to the warden. Prompt action on his part brought the violator to justice.

"The large number of hunting deaths and injuries will not decline until the hunters themselves start observing laws made to protect the rights of other people. Keeping 500 feet from any building is the least respect that they can show to the owner of the land on which they are hunting."

Party Is Planned by Conservation Group Dec. 29th

Deer, ducks, fish and pheasants will be among the beneficiaries of funds to be raised at the first annual statewide Winter Fishermen's Party to be given by the Minnesota Conservation Federation at the Minneapolis auditorium on the evening of Monday, December 29.

F. W. Kahler, federation president, in announcing the project today, stated that the entire proceeds of the celebration will be used to support the broad conservation objectives of the Federation, which include soil, water, forests, game and fish.

"Five hours of fun" will be the keynote of the party, which will run from 7 p. m. to midnight, according to Kahler.

Among special features will be a full-scale professional floor show, big-name emcees, games of all kinds, concessions, outdoor movie films running continuously, demonstrations, folk, square and modern dancing, exhibits, celebrities, laughs and surprises, along with a big list of awards and prizes.

"Every effort is being made to provide a top-notch show from beginning to end," Kahler said. "The price of admission will be, one dollar, which will cover at least seven dollars worth of entertainment, as well as a year's membership in the Federation.

Organizations of all kinds, as well as the general public, including men, women and children, have been invited, and a large attendance from many parts of the state is expected.

MEMORY LANE

GRANDPA'S PIN-UP GIRLS"

Remember Grandpa's pin up girls? Those peaches-and-cream complexions, scarcely touched by beauty aids, and their very fetching bandos, managed without permanents, certainly made Grandpa's heart throb. Today, they have been replaced by Junior's scantily clad pin-ups. But to Grandpa there is just no comparison. Remember?

The Sanders 4-H club held its regular meeting and Christmas party at the Richard Swanson home Friday Dec. 12th. The enrollment of 25 members responded to the roll call by saying what each would like most for Christmas.

After a short business meeting the following program, announced by James Krohn, was given: readings were given by Martha Uggerud and Dennis Swanson. "Children In The Nursery Rhymans" was presented by Loren Swanson, Andy Welsch, Jimmy Larson and Larry Molskness; piano solo by Janice Bakke, duet by Bonivon Thompson and Peggy Molskness. "Silent Night, Holy Night" was played by Bob Swanson on the accordion and Ted Larson on the guitar. Demonstrations were given by Loralea Larson and Joan Welsch. Recreation was led by Loralea Larson, Martha Uggerud and Joan Welsch. Several prizes were given. Gifts were exchanged. Lunch was served by the club.—Leslie Molskness, reporter.

Rocksbury Club Meets

The Rocksbury 4-H club met on December 10, 1952 at Valhall for its Christmas party. Recreation was enjoyed until 8:30 p. m. Then the program started with demonstrations on Christmas candy by Donna Johnson, Christmas wrappings by Fern Mathson and Jan Finstad, and decorating Christmas cookies by Jeanette Walsberg.

A short business meeting was held after which the Christmas Story was given by a group of members. Music was furnished by Roger Grundhaus.

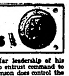
Views and Counterviews



CAN ADLAI STEVENSON assume titular leadership of his party or will the Democrats hesitate to entrust command to one who led the party in defeat? If Stevenson does control the party during its interim out of power, he will be the first defeated candidate to do so.

YES

Stevenson is the most respected figure in his party by Democratic and Republican voter alike—a good man to keep in the public mind, especially in the minds of those who found it difficult to decide between him and Ike this year. Losing to Ike didn't hurt him this year; it introduced him to the American people.

He is the best gadfly with which the Democrats can bother the GOP—his amazing power of tongue and pen can sway voters by broadcasting the flaws his sharp and logical mind finds in the Republican administration.

The Democratic party must undergo reorganization unfettered by debts to some of the deadwood politicians in the party. He owes little to these politicians.

He was approved by 26 million voters—more than won for Truman in 1948. And despite his loss in the South this year, he is still the best man to propitiate Dixie without compromising his integrity.

NO

The defeated candidate has no constitutional standing, as in Britain, as the titular head of the opposition. Not being a member of Congress, Stevenson has no natural podium from which to speak and assert his leadership.

He is not an organization politician. The strictly organization politicians criticized him this year for the way he neglected the party organizations over the nation. They will not back him as a titular head.

He is retiring as governor of an important state, giving over his powers to the other party in that state. He has no center of tangible political power around which to regroup his party power for a comeback.

He has nothing new to say at present, having exhausted the old arguments in the campaign. The party probably will follow the first powerful Democrat who presents a new approach. Much can happen in four years—a new magnetic leader can arise.

Dryden [illegible]ells How to Get 1[illegible] Flight Cachet

Local sta[illegible] [illegible]ectors and other intere[illegible] [illegible]rsons wishing to get specime[illegible]s of the postal cachet or special postmark to be used by the postoffice to commemorate the first airmail flight out of Thief River Falls Thursday, January 1, were advised today by Postmaster R. J. Dryden as to the procedure to be followed.

Now on hand at the post office here awaiting the first flight are an estimated 2,000 or more envelopes sent by philatelists from thruout the nation during the months that have elapsed since the first announcement was made nearly a year ago that air mail service to this city was to be established.

Dryden announced the following rules relating to preparation of envelopes:

To get the best results, use envelopes 3⅝ inches wide and not less than 6¼ inches nor more than 8⅞ inches long.

Insert cardboard filler cut to exact size of envelope, and if written message is to be inserted, make certain the sheet is folded to completely fill the envelope.

Place address on extreme lower right portion of envelope. Place addressed first flight envelopes in cover marked "First flight covers enclosed," and address to Postmaster, Thief River Falls.

First flight covers addressed to yourself should bear your name and be addressed to General Delivery, Grand Forks. Preceding the date of the first flight, the sender should send a separate letter to the general delivery clerk at Grand Forks, enclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope and requesting that your first flight covers be marked with the cachet and returned to you in the enclosed envelope.

First flight covers will be accompanied by a letter stating whether first flight north or first flight south is desired.

The covers should be mailed so as to reach the postoffice in ample time. It is recommended that to insure a good cachet impression several covers be mailed.

Future of San Discussed at Meeting Here

State Board of Health Discusses Growing Need for Institution Merger

The future of Oakland Park Sanatorium was the subject of discussion at a dinner meeting of state and local officials held at the Thief River Falls Golf club Wednesday evening.

Possible reorganization of facilities for tuberculosis hospitalization thruout the state is the subject of a special interim committee authorized by the last legislature. This study is prompted by the steady decline in the number of tubercular patients.

Several sanatoriums thruout the state have already been converted to other purposes and the increasing number of vacant beds in the remaining institutions suggests a reorganization that will make these beds available for other needs.

Bed vacancies here and at Crookston indicate a possible future consolidation of the two institutions if the present trend continues. This possibility along with the consideration of attendant problems were touched on by health officials and were generally discussed in a question and answer period. No action was taken.

Representing the state board of health at the meeting were Dr. A. J. Chesley, director, and Dr. W. W Barr, deputy director. Dr. Helen L. Knutson, director of the division of hospital services for the board, appeared for that group. The division of social welfare officials present were John W. Poor, chief of the public assistance unit, and Dr. F. P. Callahan, chief of the medical services unit in charge of TB sanitoria. Senator Harry Walstrand of Willmar chairman on the legislative interim committee on tuberculosis also took part in the program.

The four counties comprising the Oakland Park sanatorium district, Roseau, Marshall, Red Lake and Pennington, were represented by sanatorium officials and directors, county board members and members of the legislature.

More than 100 iron lungs were sent into Minnesota in 1952 by the foundation.

One million dollars in March of Dimes money has been granted to the University of Minnesota for research.

Four Minnesota 4-H Winners Named

OUTSTANDING accomplishment in the 1952 National 4-H Achievement and Citizenship programs, has brought statewide recognition to four club members.

Roger Larson　Patricia Gueller

Donald Schirrick　Catherine Keltgen

State-wide recognition has been accorded Roger Larson, 19, of Madison, and Patricia Gueller, 18, of Anoka, for superior records of achievement. The 4-H Achievement Award is one of the highest honors bestowed on Club boys and girls. Selection is based upon over-all project accomplishment, production records and club and community activity. In club work 11 years, Pat has participated in 85 county exhibits, two state fairs and 50 demonstrations. Last year she was the national winner in Girls' Record receiving a $300 college scholarship and a trip to Club Congress in Chicago. She won the Dress Revue award for three years and the canning, poultry and garden awards for two. Pat is now a freshman at the University of Minnesota but is still an active 4-H'er.

During ten years in club work Roger has revealed a consistent increase in projects and quality of performance. Beginning with a fat barrow project in 1942—he now has 103 pigs from 17 litters. In addition he maintains 12 acres of flax and five acres of corn. Roger placed first in the state judging contest this year besides being the owner of the champion and reserve champion beef animals. In 1951 he received the first national "God-Home-Country" award for being outstanding in 4-H and church activities. A student at the University of Minnesota, Roger is looking forward to a career as county agent.

A set of two miniature statues symbolizing achievement was awarded Patricia and Roger by Ford Motor Co., new awards donor in this program.

Statewide recognition and certificates of honor for good citizenship went to Donald Schirrick, 21, Red Lake Falls, and Catherine Keltgen, 19, St. Peter. The Citizenship program, in honor of Thos. E. Wilson, is designed to encourage 4-H Club members in those attitudes, qualities and acts which reflect a good citizen's concern for others. Farmer, designer, artist, carpenter, draftsman, public speaker and journalist are some of the remarkable titles Don merits. He has won five State Fair trips, attended State Conservation Camp and attended National Club Congress in Chicago for his work in Safety and Fire Prevention. Besides being County Champion in the radio Public Speaking Contest in 1951 he has written and published many 4-H articles. His model car designs have won recognition; and he has sketched plans and helped in the construction of his home.

Program of Activities For Next Year Discussed

The Home and Community held its annual Christmas party on Thursday, December 11, in the Women's club room in the city Auditorium. The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. V. E. Copp. The program of work for the coming year was discussed. This year the committee will be finishing wooden trays as part of the activities for the winter months. Other special features in the program include a discussion on the consumer's dollar and a demonstration on flower arrangements.

Following the business meeting the committee members exchanged their ideas of clever Christmas decorations and their favorite recipes.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Elmer Peterson.

This year, instead of exchanging Christmas gifts the chairmen gave a pair of crutches to the firemen's loan closet. Many articles are available for use from this organization at little or no charge, including wheel chairs, hospital beds, polio pac steamer and an oxygen tent.

Four County Men Enter U. S. Army

The names of four selective service registrants from Pennington county who left December 11 for final induction into the U. S. armed forces at Fargo were released this week by the local board. Your Eyes Must Learn How to View Television

As eyesight authorities dig more deeply into the effects of television on seeing, there is increasing agreement that the TV screen is not necessarily harmful. Special spectacle lenses have been devised to cut out the more unpleasant sensations. If you still experience eye fatigue, it may be because you are forcing your eyes to learn a new kind of skill.

The trouble with television, according to this theory, has to do with stereopsis, or depth perception, whereby one sees things in three dimensions. This is an acquired skill, derived largely from experience. A baby has trouble in learning it, but when he becomes annoyed at trying to figure out the third dimension he closes his eyes or looks somewhere else. That is, he lets his attention lapse.

A television screen is approximately a flat surface in two dimensions. An ordinary photograph is also flat but we have no trouble in imagining a third dimension of depth in it, because we have learned to look at it that way. But on the flat TV screen we actually see motion as well as depth, and that is something we have not learned to connect with a flat surface. So the eye struggles to learn how motion can be associated with flatness.

Exact Height of Mount Everest Unknown to Man.

The Survey of India computation of 29,002 feet based on a long series of observations from the distant Indian plains is the accepted one. But the survey itself admits its figure almost certainly is in unavoidable error.

Furthermore, the leader of a Swiss expedition which this year nearly attained the top announced that the queen of the snowy Himalayas is measurably growing, standing now at 29,610 feet.

The exact figure means little to mountaineers, most dedicated of men. Knowledge that Everest is the highest peak keeps these gallant sportsmen ever returning to the cruel heights, risking life itself for the blazing moment of glory that will come to the first mortal to stand at the summit.

Fourteen thus far have died on the windswept heights, many others on the hard trails leading to the places from which Everest can be directly attacked.

Rev. Hild Speaks at Tabernacle in City Friday Night

An address will be given by Rev. Christian Hild of Fargo at the Gospel Tabernacle Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

Rev. Hild recently returned from a tour through the Holy Land, and has with him several items of interest including a colorful costume which he will wear at the service.

Rev. Hild is a brother of Mrs. Robert Abbott, wife of the pastor of the local church. Mrs. Hild, an accomplished musician, will render vocal numbers at the service. The public is invited.

Remove Odors

It is difficult to remove odors of moth preventatives, for any chemical that would be effective would be so potent that there would be a risk of damaging the material by its use. Clothes with such odors may be hung in the open air in sunlight, so that they are fully ventilated, and can be heated by the warmth of the Sun. The trunks and wooden drawers may also be placed out of doors in sunlight. However, the moth preventative may be very deeply absorbed in the wood, and under the best conditions it will probably come out only very slowly.

Be A Good Mixer

When tinting an oil paint, do not add a dab of color to a whole can of paint and expect to stir it evenly into one smooth tint. If you do, some of it will not be assimilated and will appear in ugly streams when you least expect it. Thin the oil color with a little of the paint, stir thoroughly, then combine the mixture with that in the large container and blend well. See that the last streak of color is absorbed and then strain the whole mixture through a cloth strainer.

Artificial Kidney

Medical researchers in several countries have developed machines that can take over the functions of the kidney for as long as several days. Artificial kidneys have already saved the lives of scores of patients whose kidneys had failed because of shock following injury or surgical operations; given a chance to rest, the kidneys finally righted themselves.

Waxed Potatoes

Potatoes may be boiled with or without jackets, mashed or fried, but for those who want their potatoes waxed, Thorval J. Lockwood of Gering, Nebr., has invented a machine that will do the trick neatly and with dispatch. The machine, which seems to be somewhat complicated, cleans the potatoes and sprays them with liquid wax.

Insects Are Big Factor In Spread of Tree Ills

Insects as carriers of tree diseases are commanding greater than ever attention of scientists seeking to unravel the baffling mysteries of the tree world.

Oak wilt, the newest arboreal scourge about which so little is known, has a fungus organism structurally akin to Dutch elm disease and blue stain of conifers. Dutch elm disease is transmitted by elm bark beetles, and blue stain by ambrosia beetles.

Why then cannot oak wilt, which is moving eastward from the midwest, be transmitted by insects? Scientists are attempting to find that answer. Tree hoppers and spittle bugs have become prime suspects.

The answer is unlikely to come overnight. It took years to determine the relationship between elm bark beetles and Dutch elm disease. The life history of insects must be carefully studied to determine whether chewing or sucking pests pick up the fungus spores and how, if at all, they transmit the disease to healthy trees.

Flies, beetles, wasps, thrips, mites, aphids, leaf hoppers and tree crickets all are known to carry certain fungi. It was years, for example, before leaf hoppers were suspected of carrying elm phloem necrosis. Transmission can be mechanical or biological. Olive knot disease, caused by a bacterium, lives within the olive fly, this is biological transmission.

Terrapin Are Reviving As Table Demand Wanes

Diamondback terrapin once more abound in the salt marshes of the Chesapeake Bay country as a cycle in what might be called la haute cuisine of America comes around full circle.

In the days of Colonial Maryland, slaves often protested against too much terrapin in their diet. Gourmets of the glittering, gaslit Gay Nineties, in contrast, gladly paid $100 and more a dozen for the succulent turtles, and watermen scoured the tidelands until the diamondback almost ceased to exist.

Now, few people consider that terrapin in the chafing dish is worth the trouble needed to prepare it. With slight demand, the price has dropped steadily until a specimen of legal, or five-inch size may bring only fifty cents, and watermen do not bother to catch them.

The result has been a remarkable natural increase in the diamondback population. Fishermen in the Chesapeake's Tangier Sound complain of nets clogged with turtles. Unwanted terrapin invade crab pots.

Periodic Physical Examination Helps Keep Individual Healthy

AN OUNCE of prevention through a periodic physical check-up is better than a pound of cure, and is the best way to sound health and peace of mind.

Preventive medicine offers the best means of adding years to life and life to years, Dr. Lewis J. Burch, of Mt. Pleasant, Mich., wrote in a recent Today's Health, published by the American Medical Association.

Immunization is accepted almost universally and has proved successful as preventive medicine; the periodic health examination is another such effective weapon for safeguarding health, he stated, adding:

"Most of us get used to feeling the way we feel each day. We carelessly disregard those little danger signals that warn of impending trouble. Or we dose ourselves with all kinds of nostrums in an effort to cure or mask the symptoms that annoy us. Sometimes, too late, we find that the little danger has become a big danger."

Physical check-ups, according to Dr. Burch, should be obtained by those between the ages of 18 and 35 years every two years, by those 36 to 60 annually, and by those over 60 every six months. However, some individuals may require more frequent examinations, which can be determined by a physician.

Many diseases, such as cancer, tuberculosis and those of the heart, blood vessels and kidneys, would not cause so many deaths in early life if they were diagnosed and treated in the initial stages, Dr. Burch pointed out. One doctor has estimated that each year thousands of Americans would have lived longer if they had known they needed help, or had sought it in time, he added.

The basic physical examination, Dr. Burch stated, should include the entire body: all body openings, the pelvic region, abdomen, breasts, chest, heart, skin, joints, muscles, nerve reactions and blood pressure. Basic laboratory tests that should be made include a urinalysis, blood count, stained smears and serologic tests for syphilis.

Pennington County Red Cross Chapter Reports for 1951-52

The American National Red Cross and its 3,727 chapters have listed expenditures of $103,605,782 in a financial accounting of services to the American people during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1952, Herman A. Kjos, Chairman of the Pennington County Red Cross chapter, announced here today. The local chapter, he added, had expenditures of $4,825.92 for the same period, including $2,268.41 remitted to the national Red Cross.

Largest single item of expenditure, Kjos said, was for the organization's services to members of the armed forces and to veterans at home and abroad, et cetera. The Red Cross spent $38,116,276 in dealing with 2,350,000 cases requiring service in personal and family problems, including financial aid, for servicemen, veterans, and their dependents. Of this amount, $19,743,750 was spent by the national organization and $18,372,526 by chapters. Locally home service loans to civilians and servicemen totaled $405.50, in addition to grants of $307.11 and expenses of $123.87.

In the most costly disaster year for the Red Cross since 1937, Kjos stated, the organization spent $21,100,445 in aiding 32,100 families in 300 disaster operations in 45 states and 3 territories. The cost figure included continuing assistance for an additional 27,000 families in the Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, and Illinois floods which began in June 1951. The national organization bore the major part of these expenditures, $19,149,590, with chapters spending $1,950,855, largely for disaster preparedness measures. Disaster expenditures in Pennington county totaled $367.

The Red Cross blood program, which collected 1,681,500 pints of blood for civilian use and procured 2,439,700 pints for the armed forces from 2,586,000 volunteer donors, cost the organization $11,358,375. This cost figure, Kjos pointed out was for meeting civilian blood needs throughout the country and for part of the expense of collecting blood for the armed forces. The major expense of blood collection for military use was borne by the government, he said. Locally, the program cost $141.

To make millions of Americans healthier and safer, the Red Cross spent $6,398,995, awarding 2,188,000 certificates to persons trained in first aid, water safety, and nursing skills. The national organization spent $2,230,067 on this program; local chapters $4,168,928. In Pennington county expenditures totaled $612.53.

Other items in the financial accounting include:

For the activities of 19,000,000 Junior Red Cross members $2,[illegible],366, of which $1,001,907 was spent by national and $1,837,459 by chapters. Junior Red Cross activities cost $9.32 locally.

A total of $4,124,280 by the national organization to help local chapters without adequate resources of their own meet local needs and to guide their programs with specially trained workers.

For the organization's international activities, including aid to victims of foreign disasters, and support of the international Red Cross movement $378,499 by the national organization.

Chapters spent $1,069,612 in meeting community welfare needs not normally part of the established Red Cross program in many places where no local resource to meet those needs existed.

To organize and guide the annual Red Cross fund campaign, recruit and train volunteer campaign workers, and produce necessary supplies and materials the national organization spent $661,138; local chapters $3,962,146. Fund raising expenditures cost $24.28 here.

The organization's public information program, directed toward interpreting Red Cross aims and accomplishments, informing the American people of the Red Cross services available to them, and recruiting volunteers and students for Red Cross safety courses, cost the national organization $846,292; chapters $927,617.

For necessary land and buildings, the national organization spent $80,706; chapters $1,448,317.

Final item is the expenditure of $2,174,518 by the national organization and $8,083,170 by chapters for planning and administering the Red Cross program of services and activities at home and abroad.

Uncommitted funds on hand at the beginning of the current fiscal year for disasters and other national emergencies, Kjos said, total $21,451,800. Of this sum, the national organization holds $12,578,800; chapters $8,873,000. The local chapter has uncommitted funds totaling $2,964.88 on hand.

The financial report of the Pennington county chapter was audited by Eugene Nesland of the Luhman Accounting service.

Motorists Urged to Be Careful in the Coming Year

"Where will you be in '53?" asks the Minnesota Safety Council. The answer to that question will be determined to a very great extent by every motorist and pedestrian in the state of Minnesota.

"Virtually every person in the state," said A. V. Rohweder, president of the council, "can help answer that question as far as it pertains to him and quite often as it pertains to others. Every motorist, by his driving habits, and every pedestrian, by his walking habits, will be in a position to answer for himself, and often for others, where they will be in '53".

A good way to start the new year, he said, is to make the observance of New Years Day a safe and sane one. He pointed to last year's traffic record which resulted in 1,294 reported accidents over the holiday. Eight deaths were charged to these mishaps, while another 339 suffered injuries to mar their welcomes to the new year. Most of these accidents, deaths and injuries could have been avoided if proper caution had been exercised while driving or walking.

"The greatest contribution we can make to ourselves and our families," he concluded, "is to make and keep a New Year's resolution to drive and walk carefully throughout the entire year of 1953. By doing so we will prove to everyone — including ourselves—that we want to be here alive and well, throughout the year 1953."

4-H Club News

Mavie 4-H Club

Mrs. Charles Svendsgaard was hostess at her home for the Mavie 4-H club monthly meeting and Christmas party December 12.

The club members voted to contribute $5.00 to the polio fund drive which is to be solicited in January.

Billy Svendsgaard gave a flannelgraph demonstration on "Steps to Safety." Jerry Wayne gave a demonstration, showing how a dancing snowball centerpiece could be made. Both demonstrations were well given and very instructive and interesting.

"Christmas trees in other lands" and "Mr. Santa Claus" were the subjects discussed by junior leaders, Beverly Oakl and Shirley Hanson.

Darlene Sabo gave an interesting summary of her trip to St. Paul in October. Laverne Hamre showed his ribbon and letter he received as a special award from the American Shropshire Registry association. Dale Svendsgaard showed his Dairy Pin award and Billy Svendsgaard showed his garden award pin.

Following the meeting a Christmas program was given and several Christmas carols were sung. Gifts were passed out to all the children and adult leaders and bags of Christmas goodies were given to everyone.

The January meeting will be held at the William Wayne home January 9. The topics are Home Economics and Home Furnishings. We are all looking forward to this meeting as the parents are giving the demonstrations and program.—Shirley Oakl, Mavie 4-H reporter.

The radio speaking contest was discussed and several members plan to participate.

Gifts were exchanged and lunch was served by Conley's, Hallamacks, and Hallstroms.

Many new members have enrolled for the 1952-53 4-H year.—Shirley Ann Wik, reporter.

Ionization

At the center of an atom is the nucleus, containing from one to 98 particles called protons, each of which has a positive electrical charge. Revolving around the nucleus are a number of other particles called electrons, each with a negative charge. Ordinarily the number of electrons and protons are equal, the positive and negative charges balance, and the whole atom is electrically neutral. When it is ionized, it has either too few or too many electrons, and then it has either a positive or a negative charge.

HAPPY HOLIDAY

The founding Fathers placed considerable emphasis on the thought that one of our inalienable rights is the pursuit of happiness. Less politically minded persons however have observed that happiness is not attained by a pursue-and-capture procedure. On the contrary, they point out, happiness generally eludes those who pursue it and comes rather to those who do not seek it. Maybe there is something in this that will serve as a thought for Christmas. This Christmas try your durndest to make someone else happy. In doing so you may find that happiness is pursuing you. Anyhow, best wishes for a Happy Holiday Season.

BETTER MARKET NEEDED

Milk is one of the few foods of which there is not now an adequate supply in our country. A department of agriculture statement released last week said milk production is at a modern-day record low level in relation to the needs of our rapidly increasing population, and that, "how to meet this increasing demand for dairy products is a matter of grave concern for all who are interested in the nutritional welfare of our people."

This condition should give assurance of more favorable future returns to our dairy farmers. It is therefore encouraging to note the increased interest in dairying in this corner of the state. Dairy products have provided us with our most dependable source of income and this probably will continue to be the case. With a tendency toward larger herds, better equipment, more selective breeding and better management, production in this field should become more profitable.

There is an awareness among our dairy farmers however that with less of their product going into butter and more of it being marketed as whole milk we are confronted with a new set of marketing problems. In this respect our corner of the state has not kept pace with southern Minnesota and Wisconsin. Along with our better production practices we need a more diversified market.

This is an area problem rather than the problem on any one community. The old time creamery is no longer adequate. This crop that brings us millions of dollars a year deserves the best possible marketing facilities. It is a problem that needs study now—and leadership.

SCHOOL REORGANIZATION

The number of school districts in Minnesota has been greatly reduced during the past five years but the state still is in second place (from the bottom) nationally, the only state having more districts being Nebraska. The job of reorganization therefore is far from complete. The present reorganization law expires next June and no doubt will be extended in some form by the legislature.

Now that secondary education is practically compulsory, school districts logically should include the areas served by high schools. Experience indicates that this is the most satisfactory arrangement from an operational and financial standpoint.

Our county superintendents are faced with an awkward problem in our present reorganization procedure. As they encourage reorganization they in effect are working themselves out of a job for if all of the area in a county becomes a part of an independent district there isn't much responsibility left for the county superintendent. This situation will have to be cleared up before we can expect much more progress.

In an attempt to encourage reorganization several changes have been made in our school tax laws. These changes have not accomplished their purpose in all cases and probably have resulted in as many new problems as they have solved. Our school tax laws need a thorough study and a general overhauling.

But it is encouraging to know that some progress has been made. We learn by trial and error and with several years of experience behind us we should be able to correct a few of the more obvious errors.

IN THE INTEREST OF UNIFORMITY

A four state motor vehicle committee, made up of two members of each of the legislatures of Wisconsin, Minnesota and North and South Dakota, has submitted its recommendations for changes in our laws covering the taxation and regulation of trucks in an effort to secure uniformity thruout the area. The idea of securing uniformity is good and should be encouraged. Some of the changes in our laws necessary to securing uniformity are controversial however and the good objective may not be achieved entirely.

One of the proposals would reduce the speed limit on trucks to 10 miles less than that of passenger cars on the open highway and in unzoned areas.

Another would retain the present truck length limits of 45 feet for all but cattle trucks, which would be increased to South Dakota's limit of 50 feet.

Axle weight limits approved by the American Association of State Highway Officials are recommended for the four states. This would mean some increases in the present Minnesota limits.

And in the field of taxation Minnesota is asked to raise license fees slightly on commercial vehicles to bring rates in line with those of the other states.

There will be an argument on each of these four suggested changes. In the interest of uniformity each of them deserves careful consideration.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

(This service is based on questions asked at Veterans Administration offices in the state. Answers are supplied by VA.)

Q: I am a disabled veteran entitled to a VA grant for the purchase of an automobile. Is there any deadline for applying for my car?

A: Yes. Your application must be filed either by October 20, 1954, or three years after your separation from service, whichever date is later.

Q: Must a veteran's blindness be service-connected, in order for him to get the electronic and mechanical equipment that VA issues to the blinded?

A: Not necessarily. The veteran must be entitled to compensation for a service-connected disability, which may either be loss of sight or some other disability.

Q: I am a Korean veteran. After I got out of service, I changed my name. Would that bar me from getting a GI loan, since all my military and discharge records are made out in the name I no longer use?

A: No. If you are otherwise eligible, you would be entitled to the loan. However, you must submit competent evidence that establishes your identity.

Q: I'm planning to enroll in a trade school under the Korean GI Bill and study carpentry. Most of my course will be shop practice. What is considered full-time in such a course?

A: Full-time in your course would be at least 30 hours a week for at least five days a week, with no more than 2½ hours of rest periods each week.

FASCINATING NOMENCLATURE

Sometimes an inordinate interest in unusual names or combinations or connotations takes us out of Minnesota—but most of the results are worth it. One shudders at the kidding a Wisconsin editor by the name of Joe Rut must take. Two from Texas in one week are typical of the output of that mighty empire. The Ennis newspaper editor is appropriately named C. F. Weekley, the State Treasurer is none other than Jesse James. But the prize goes to Oliver Iron Mining magazine headline: Marble Man Buys Iron Lung.

Rural Road Use up During November

The exceptionally fine weather during most of November is reflected in the increased traffic volume figures for the month released today by the highway planning survey of the state highway department. Data obtained by the 227 automatic traffic recorder on rural trunk highways indicate that the average daily volumes increased 12.7 per cent over the November 1951 count and brought the 11-month gain for 1952 up to 7.6 per cent. This jump in travel was the second largest for any one month of this year, being exceeded only by February which had a 13 per cent increase over the same month of last year.

PUBLIC OPINION

Park Rapids, Minn.

Editor of the Times:

Thank you for your timely article under the heading, "To Sell We Must Buy." The part that to me is particularly important is this paragraph which I quote, "And in this small world of ours we are not going to be able to maintain a Mrs. Uppercrust standard in a world of poverty for long. The nations that are struggling with the other side-of-tracks problems are seeking to improve their own living conditions. We have established a good pattern for them to follow. They are potential customers for our goods and services. If we hope to sell them, we must also be willing to buy from them."

This same plan was advocated by other philosophers of our country at least 60 years ago. Now if you can convince the present Republican administration that this is the proper procedure in foreign trade matters you will have accomplished something truly worth while."

It seems to me that in order to get the world working on a sound basis we must gradually cease giving direct relief to foreign countries and encourage them to manufacture goods to sell to us so that they may not need our relief.

We have placed too much importance on the matter of having a balance of trade in our favor, which in the final analysis will destroy our world market, for they will have nothing with which to buy.

The Grand Forks Redwings, the Roseau Cloverleafs, and the Warroad Lakers served notice that they intend to make serious bids for the Northwest Hockey league title by the manner in which they registered victories in their schedule-opening games this week.

The Warroad Lakers, with an abundance of local talent and bulwarked by several of Fort Frances' standouts, turned in a surprising 9 to 1 triumph over the defending league champion Crookston Pirates in a game played at Warroad on Monday night.

The Grand Forks Redwings, a pre-season tournament, played up to their advance notices by scoring a 7 to 6 win over the Thieves at Grand Forks on Sunday. And the Roseau Cloverleafs, last year's playoff winners, handled the Hallock Lions with comparative ease, marking up a 5 to 2 win.

This week's schedule will be particularly attractive to the fans in Crookston and Thief River Falls, for Sunday's game will have the Redwings meeting the Pirates, and the Roseau Cloverleafs playing at Thief River Falls. In the final game on Sunday's program, the Hallock Lions will meet the high-scoring Lakers at Warroad.

U of M Man Cites Decline in Demand for Butterfat

The threat of greatly reduced returns to dairy farmers as the result of declining demand for butterfat was spotlighted Thursday at the annual conference of the Minnesota agricultural extension service in St. Paul.

Addressing a session during the last day of the conference, E. Fred Koller, professor of agricultural economics at the University, reported that U. S. consumption of butterfat in 1952 is 28 pounds per capita vs. 32 pounds in 1935-39.

He attributed this decline to such factors as use of vegetable olemargarine instead of butter; appearance of products such as imitation ice cream, containing vegetable oils and selling at half to two-thirds the price of ice cream; sales of filled condensed milk and whipping cream; the rise in popularity of low-fat dairy products such as ice milks; and the greater use of fluid skim milk and dried skim milk.

Traditionally, the price of milk has been determined by its butterfat content, said Koller, and the reduced value of butterfat brought on by these trends could greatly reduce dairy returns. However, if farmers could gradually receive more for the nonfat solids in their milk, they would be able to accept a reduced price for butterfat without being forced to take greatly lower returns for whole milk, he pointed out.

Distress Signals

Many trees show distress signals as dry weather affects them, but before permanent damage is done. Sugar maple leaves show a marginal burning of the leaves, especially on the south and west sides of these trees. Elm leaves begin to show yellow and drop. Oaks and ashes may have a tendency to die back from the top. Many trees will show evidences of wilting. Whatever the signal, deep watering is first aid at its best.

Protective Treatment

Because the lubricating equipment used in garages and service stations is often subjected to rugged treatment, all metal surfaces are thoroughly cleaned, then given a phosphatizing treatment which protects the metal against rust and provides an excellent base for paint. The painting is done in a pressurized spray room so that no dust or foreign particles can possibly enter and contact the freshly painted surfaces.

Sleeping Comfort

With warm weather directly ahead, you'll want to do something smart about your sleeping comfort. There are the short pajamas that look very much like play suits in two pieces. Then, too, there are light weight short gowns which are pretty as well as comfortable.

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

December 17, 1952

Pursuant to call for Special Meeting, the Board of County Commissioners of Pennington County, Minnesota met at the office of the County Auditor December 17, 1952.

Members present: Hanson, Olson, Roy, Lindberg and Tasa. No absentee.

Commissioner Glenn Tasa offered the following Resolution and moved its adoption. The same was seconded by Commissioner Odin C. Hanson, and, on roll call, declared unanimously carried:

WHEREAS, the upper reaches of the channel of the Red Lake River between the Red Lake and River Mile 134.28 have been straightened, widened and deepened under the supervision of and in accordance with the survey, plans and specifications of the U. S. Corps of Engineers, pursuant to House File No. 345 of the 78th Congress of the United States, and appropriations granted thereunder, and

WHEREAS, the work thus undertaken is substantially completed and,

WHEREAS, said work has been done under agreements wherein the Red Lake Drainage & Conservancy District, the contracting agency for the local authorities, has agreed to furnish all rights-of-way, supervise, control and maintain the channel when completed and be answerable for all damages arising out of said construction and

WHEREAS, the improved channel as now constructed terminates at River Mile 134.28, a distance of [illegible] miles farther up the channel than was originally contemplated for the termination of said improvement and,

WHEREAS, the banks of the river are low and undefined, the channel crooked and filled with sandbars and silt within that area originally planned for construction and,

WHEREAS, flooding of farm lands, particularly during the spring breakup and the fall freeze-up, has occurred in the area below the termination of said river improvement, which said flooding is claimed to be caused by said river improvement and is giving the Farmers within that area considerable concern and,

WHEREAS, claims for damages arising out of such flooding have been filed against the Red Lake Drainage & Conservancy District upon the claim that such damages are proximately caused by the river improvement in bringing down the flood waters faster than the channel below the improvement can contain and discharge said waters.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of County Commissioners of the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, that it goes on record urging:

(1) That a further study of said river channel be made for the purpose of determining the cause, or causes, of the recent flooding and that a determination be made as to whether or not said flooding is proximately caused by the aforementioned river improvement.

(2) That the Corps of U. S. Engineers be requested to make a further survey of the river channel before the project is declared to be completed and accepted.

(3) That if said flooding is found to be caused by reason of the improvements heretofore made upon the upper reaches of the Red Lake River channel that steps be taken for the rectification of said condition.

(4) That our Representatives in Congress request the further study and survey of the Red Lake River channel so that the local communities may be fully apprised of the facts.

(5) That our Representative in Congress introduce, and urge the passage of, legislation providing for the necessary funds for such survey.

(6) That copies of this Resolution be sent to Senators Edward J. Thye and Hubert H. Humphrey at Washington, D. C., and to Congressman Harold C. Hagen at Washington, D. C., and to the District Office of the U. S. Corps of Engineers at St. Paul, Minnesota, and that the same be published in the Thief River Falls Times, the official paper, and made a part of the official minutes of the Pennington County Board of County Commissioners.

Moved by Hanson seconded by Tasa that the Board adjourn sine die.

Carried.

Plastic-Covered Fruit

By putting plastic covers over banana bunches, New South Wales department agriculturists have induced yields of fruit, on a north coast plot, far superior to bunches covered with hessian or left uncovered. A special department fruit officer says no official recommendation can yet be made, but growers would be safe in testing out the method themselves in small trial lots. The department's trial was conducted on winter-thrown bunches. "The quality and appearance of the fruit grown under the plastic covers also was greatly improved," the officer added. "The trial is to continue this year on a much wider basis. In addition to work at the plot, many growers in all banana districts will test the covers and report on their effectiveness."

Lincoln Cagers Lose Close Game 60 to 54 to Moorhead Quint

A hard-driving and veteran Moorhead Spuds basketball team, protecting a lead they gained in the first period, defeated Coach Bob Nick's Prowlers, 60 to 54, in a crowd-pleasing game played here Friday night.

In an exciting preliminary game, the Prowler reserves, with Bob Christensen driving in for a lay-up shot in the final seconds of play, edged out the Argyle team, 38 to 36. Chuck Humes, with 12 points, and Gene Bratsch, with 11 points, were the high scorers for the locals.

It was a mature team that Moorhead Coach Shocky Strand put on the floor against the Prowlers on Friday night (the starting five are all seniors), and it was through their greater game-experience that the Spuds came out of the game with a well-earned 60 to 54 triumph.

Exhibiting fine drive and ball-handling, and with left-handed Bill Skrei, the Spuds' center, scoring 11 points, the Moorhead team rolled up a 23 to 13 lead over the slow-starting Prowlers. Art Johnson kept the Prowlers in the game during the first period by scoring four field goals, getting a rebound, a hook, and a pair of lay-ups. Moorhead, employing an all-court press in the final minute of the period, scored three rapid-fire goals to gain their ten-point lead.

The Prowlers, playing their best basketball of the evening, limited the Spuds to a lone field goal in the second period, that a close-in shot by Skrei, to outpoint the Moorhead club, 17 to 9, in the quarter and leave the floor at the intermission trailing by a pair of points, 32 to 30.

The Prowlers continued to outscore the Spuds from the floor in the third period, getting four field goals to the three ringed in by Moorhead. But Coach Strand's club managed to increase their lead to three points by converting on six of their ten free throw tries, while the Prowlers were dropping in three of their four gifters.

Opening the final period, with the score 44 to 41 for the Spuds, Larry Evenstad and Art Johnson loped in Prowler free throws. Skrei scored on a lay-up; Ken Grabinske added a Spud free throw. LeRoy Aasland marked up a free throw, and Johnson hit with a field goal, and the score read, 47 to 45, with six minutes to play. Curt Hanson pumped in a field goal and with five minutes of play remaining, Rodney Westrum, on a lay-up, tallied the first two of the eleven points that he registered during the final five minutes. The Spuds, utilizing a semi-stall to control the play, would spring Westrum loose for drive-in shots, with the blond guard scoring his four field goals on lay-ups.

The Prowlers' Art Johnson earned the game's high point, with the lanky center notching ten field goals and four free throws for a 24-point total. Westrum, with 19, and Skrei with 17, were the leading scorers for the Spuds.

The Prowlers will have a schedule-recess during the holidays, returning to play on Jan. 2nd, when they meet East Grand Forks here, and Jan. 3rd, when they travel to Fargo for a game against the Midgets.

Prowler Six Blanks Grand Forks 7 to 0

Goalie Billy Maruska Accounts for 12 Stops in One-sided Contest

With goalie Billy Maruska getting a twelve-stop shutout, and with wingman Darryl Durgin turning in a "hat trick" performance by getting three goals, Coach Dennis Rolle's hockey Prowlers opened their season's play on Wednesday by scoring a 7 to 0 win over Coach Bob May's Grand Forks Redskins. If arrangements can be completed, and if the ice conditions will permit, the next game on the Prowlers' schedule will find the squad traveling to Detroit Lakes on January 3rd for a contest against the Lakers.

Durgin, playing wing on the line that was centered by Marv Jorde, banged in game's first tally when, at 9:32 of the opening period, he picked up Jim Zavoral's rebound and beat goalie Ray Millard.

The Prowlers "broke up" the game in the second period when they scored four goals. Lyle Guttu hit with a long shot in the first minute of the period, and Durgin, at 2:15 and 6:40, beat young Millard with a pair of long shots. Jorde, a playmaking center who has returned to hockey after being out of action for a year because of a knee ailment, notched the game's fifth goal at 11:31.

In the final period, Les Sabo, on a long drive; and Zavoral, on a solo rush and on a shot that found the corner, racked up the sixth and seventh markers, giving the Prowlers a well-earned 7 to 0 triumph.

GF Redwings Take Thieves Sunday 7 to 6

Local Team Outplayed Rivals 1st Two Periods; Murray Balagus Injured

Prince Johnson, finishing off a two-man breakaway by taking a pass from Toddy Thurston, connected with a sharply-angled backhand shot at 18:57 of the third period to give the Grand Forks Redwings a 7 to 6 win over the Thieves in a Northwest Hockey league opener played at Grand Forks on Sunday afternoon. The Thieves will open their league "home" schedule on Sunday when they meet the Roseau Cloverleafs on the Arena rink, with the face-off slated for 2:30 P. M.

The Thieves played the favored Redwings on better than even terms during the first two periods of Sunday's game, holding the lead on three occasions.

Don Costello, from a melee in front of the Redwing net, slapped a shot past goalie Ralph Engelstad, giving the Thieves a 1 to 0 lead after 3:45 of play. Odie Lowe, a Candian "import" who registered five assists and one goal during the game, banked in a tally, with the Thieves' Lloyd Johnson adding an "assist" on the play, on a face-off at 5:43. Murray Balagus moved the locals into the lead with a score at 8:28, and the Thieves held that lead until 17:54 when Bob Krumholz, on an an assist from Lowe, tallied on a neatly-executed play.

Darryl Lund, picking up a loose puck at the Grand Forks blue-line, side-stepped the defense and came in to beat Engelstad with a high shot into the right-hand corner of the net at 5:03. And the Thieves protected that lead until late in the period when the trend of the game, which had been in favor of the locals, turned in favor of the Redwings. With Paul Bedard serving a "hooking" penalty at 18:08, the Redwings, on a pair of quick goals by Krumholz and Lowe, went into a 4 to 3 lead.

Jim McKell, who turned in the "hat trick" for the Wings, picked the low inside corner to beat goalie Jack Peters at 3:21 of the third periods, and Grand Forks held a 5 to 3 edge. Church Russell, slapped in his own rebound at 6:48 to bring the Thieves back into the game. McKell, on a two-man break with Lowe, increased the Wings' lead by scoring at 7:15.

Scores by Lund and Jerry Lavergne, at 11:46 and 16:00, evened the game at 6-all, setting the stage for Prince Johnson's game-winning sortie with Thurston. Thurston, getting a break from center ice, carried the disc into the corner, flipped a pass to Prince Johnson, and the blond wing's backhander found the laces.

The Thieves will be without the services of center-ice man Murray Balagus for a couple of weeks. Balagus suffered a couple of broken bones in his left hand midway in the second period, and the popular center will be side-lined for awhile.

The summary:

EXPERIENCE BY THE DECADE

For the past 39 year Warren C. Dahlberg, 70, gives up the 29 mile route along which he has delivered mail out of New London the past 45 years.—At Staples Axel Nelson retires after 50 years with the Northern Pacific Railway.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

It's Confusing

Local senior hockey fans have been bewildered by the recent quick shifts in the Thieves lineup, and they have been casting about for a reason. Due to restrictions imposed by the C.A.H.A. (this group is the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, and they are closely allied with the professional branch of hockey) players under suspension by the "pros" are likewise under suspension in "amateur" hockey.

For that reason, such players as Grand Forks' Ken McKenzie, a fine wingman; the Thieves' goalie, Jack McGill, defenseman Dan Summers, and winger Don Castelane, are not permitted to enter the lineups of their respective Northwest Hockey league teams. This quartet is under suspension because of failure to report to the "pro" team holding their player contracts. And that's the reason why Jim McKell is at wing for the Redwings; and why Jack Peters is in the goal for the Thieves, and why Billy Winters is playing at defense, and why Don Costello is at wing.

While the Northwest Hockey league is an "outlaw" circuit, and ordinarily would not be bound by the rules of the C. A. H. A., the fact that the majority of the players on the Fort Frances team, the club that won Canada's senior hockey title last year, and will make a championship defense this season, are performing in the Northwest league this year has forced a change in the loop's rules. Those Fort Francis players would be jeopardizing their C.A.H.A. eligibility by competing against or playing with players under C.A.H.A. suspension. Rules are rules.

Assault and Battery

While that Grand Forks Redwings and Thieves hockey game at Grand Forks was a typical Redwing vs. Thieves fracas, which was enjoyed by the 1500 fans that were in attendance, it was marred by an incident, which was unreasonable and unfortunate, late in the third period.

Jimmy "Itta" Williams, the Redwings' rough-house defenseman, and who has long been a "villain" in hockey league play, made an attack on a local fan, inflicting an injury that necessitated hospitalization. Bob Knutson, a local high school graduate of last year, was paying admission at the gate on Sunday, and had a place along the boards near the Grand Forks "Box." As is the privilege of a paying customer, Bob was hooting and jeering at play of Williams. It is reported that Williams, when coming off the ice midway in the third period, made a slash with his stick at Knutson, laying open a gash on the left side of Bob's head that required eight stiches to close. There were a number of witnesses to the incident, including Glenn Jarrett, the North Dakota athletic director, who was seated directly across the rink from Knutson.

It appears that Williams will be one of the important problems that will be under consideration at the next league meeting. Jimmy, when in "Civvies," is quite personable and agreeable; but when "Itta" puts on a hockey uniform and gets a stick in his hand, he becomes a berserk character.

Kid Hockey

The city's junior hockey program, under the direction of Paul Bedard and Morris Efteland, got under way this week, and on Saturday morning, the juniors, with Bedard "belling" the lines, defeated the Red Lake Falls juniors, 6 to 1. Scoring for the locals was divided among six players, with the Jack Poole, Chip Strand and Glen Carlson line getting three tallies. Duane Erickson, Jimmy Reese, and Art Cloutier were the other three marksmen.

Red Lake Falls' lone goal and which robbed the local's goalie, Cal "Murphy" Offerdahl, of a shutout, was credited to Duane Page.

According to "coach" Bedard, the local juniors will have a recess this Saturday, but arrangements for a series of games against teams from Grand Forks, Roseau, and Warroad are nearing completion. The local juniors, all of whom are outfitted in attractive uniforms, are getting some fine training, and it's worth the trip to the Arena to watch the kids play.

A Money-Loser

Larry Nordlum took quite a financial "beating" on the promotion of the wrestling card held here Monday night. A very meager crowd was on hand when Tiny Mills and Dick Smith came into the ring for the evening's first bout, which was won by Mills after six minutes of eye-gouging and hair-pulling.

The best match of the program was the encounter between Joe Pazandak and Mike Paidousis, and which was won by Pazandak after twenty-two minutes of rough-house, and in which referee Stan Mayslak shared in the starring role.

The main event, between Al Mills, a younger brother of Tiny Mills, defeated Winnipeg's Roy McClarity, gaining the one-fall verdict with a series of body slams and making the "pin" in 21:20.

Thieves Defeat Crookston 5-4 in Exhibition Game

Local Sextet Trails 3-2 at Beginning of Third Period of Rough Games

Paul Bedard's goal, at 18:04 of the third period, broke a 4-all deadlock and gave the Thieves a 5 to 4 decision over the Crookston Pirates in an exhibition hockey game played at Crookston on Wednesday night. The game marked the debut of the high-powered Fort Frances "line" of Frank Eisenzoph, Vern O'Donnell, and Ed Kliner in the Crookston lineup. That trio of front-liners were instrumental in bringing the Allen Cup, the emblem of the senior hockey championship of the C. A. H. A., to Fort Frances last season.

The Thieves, in a game that was marked by much high-sticking, and which caused several facial cuts, trailed by a 3 to 2 score moving into the final period. Goals by Murray Balagus and Don Costello, in the opening minutes of third stanza, moved the locals into a short-lived 4 to 3 lead. Serge Gambucci, the Pirates' veteran player-coach, made it an even game when, on an assist from Gosslin, he scored at 3:20. Bedard, who opened the game's scoring with a tally at 8:49 of the first period, finished off the game's scoring by punching in the game-winning marker.

COLD WEATHER EXPLOSIVE TESTS ON RED LAKE RANGE

The mystery of the nocturnal explosions which have shaken several northern Minnesota towns recently, has apparently been solved. An air force major headquartered in Bemidji said the disturbing noises probably were cold weather explosive tests being conducted on the Red Lake bombing range.

Two-way Radio to Aid War on Forest Fires

A $88,167 two-way radio unit has been purchased by the state division of forestry to improve the communication system covering the 18,000,000 acre forest protection area of northern Minnesota; Clarence Prout, director of the division announced today. The equipment was purchased from the General Electric Company.

The radio network will replace most of the 2,300 miles of telephone lines which now provides communication between 120 lookout towers, 95 ranger stations and 16 supervisor headquarters.

The radio equipment consists of a 250-watt transmitting station at Grand Rapids, six 60-watt stations at area headquarters; two 30-watt stations and fifteen 10-watt stations to be located at ranger stations.

In addition there will be 48 mobile sets mounted in forestry trucks, automobiles and boats, and 76 "walkie-talkie" sets which foresters can carry into the field for fire fighting and other activities where constant communication is necessary.

The radio system will be installed during the next months, and should be in operation by early summer. In addition to the main 250 watt station at Grand Rapids, other stations will be located as follows; 60-watt at Hibbing, Orr, Littlefork, Blackduck, Spooner and Warroad, 30-watt at Hovland and Kabetogama, and 10-watt at Cloquet Valley, Tower, Cook, Crane Lake, Black Bay, Side Lake, Link Lake, Effie, Thistledew, Birchdale, Big Falls, Northome, Kelliher, Waskish and Clear River.

Madison, Wis. Man New Head of North Central Airlines

Howard A. Morey Named President; A. E. Mueller Is Chairman of Board

Arthur E. A. Mueller last week announced his resignation as president of North Central Airlines, Inc. formerly Wisconsin Central Airlines effective January 1, in favor of Howard A. Morey of Madison, Wisconsin. Mr. Mueller retains his office as chairman of the board.

Mueller, a resident of Wausau and a Wisconsin industrialist accepted the presidency during an interim period of management pending the selection of an aggressive top executive for the corporation.

Howard A. Morey takes over the active management of the company with more than a quarter of a century aviation experience. In the fall of 1925 he set up a fixed base operation in Madison, Wisconsin at Royal Airport, the original air mail landing for that city.

Mr. Morey was the first chairman of the Wisconsn aeronautics board and has been chairman of the Wisconsin aeronautics commission since its creation. The new president has been a director and member of the executive committee of North Central Airlines, Inc. since it started operation in 1948 and recently has occupied the office of corporate vice president.

Esther Williams and Victor Mature as they appear on the Falls screen in the Technicolor film, "Million Dollar Mermaid," inspired by the life story of the world-famous mermaid, Annette Kellerman. Esther portrays Miss Kellerman, with Mature cast as Jimmy Sullivan, circus promoter and flier. Also starred are Walter Pidgeon and David Brian. Showing Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Dec. 25-26-27.

Chemical Stops the Sprouting of Stored Potatoes

If you want the potatoes stored in your home basement to remain sound and firm it's time to give them some additional attention now.

Potatoes in home storage should be sorted to remove all blighted and decayed tubers, then a chemical sprout inhibitor applied to prevent sprouting, Orrin C. Turnquist, extension horticulturist at the University of Minnesota, said today. As the sound potatoes are put back into storage containers, apply the chemical sprout inhibitor by dusting a few layers at a time, he advised.

Since the temperature in most home basements is close to 60 degrees F. or even higher, by the end of December potatoes in storage will begin to sprout. As the sprouts grow, the tubers shrivel and lose quality. Removal of the sprouts will only encourage further growth.

Argyle Resident Gets $6,330 for Mishap Injuries

Joseph R. Adamski of Argyle was awarded a total of $6,330 for the loss of a thumb and three fingers of his left hand at a hearing conducted by the workman's compensation board at the Polk county court house in Crookston.

According to John Kelly, Crookston, attorney for Adamski, the accident in which Adamski lost his fingers occurred May 27, 1952. At the time of the accident the injured man was working as a gravel loader operator for the McGarry construction company of St. Cloud on highway 75 near Crookston.

Charles Hatch, St Paul of the industrial commission, workman's compensation division was the referee for the hearing which granted Adamski $5,280 permanent and partial disabilities, $800 during the healing period and about $250 for doctor and hospital expenses.

Warroad Man Raises Rare Variety of Mink

The man who is raising the material for next year's most glamorous mink coat was in Minneapolis last week.

He is George Heinen of Warroad, who a few years back developed what came to be known as the "Amber Gold" strain of mink.

Heinen was in town after selling mink pelts at an auction, but he didn't have any of the Amber Gold pelts for sale. They won't be available in sufficient quantity until next year. So Heinen said, he brought down "only" about 1,000 dark pelts.

The Amber Gold strain came about when some of Heinen's breeding stock came up with a freak fur. He developed the strain through an intricate cross-breeding process, and fur buyers who saw the animals became excited about their possibilities.

In a few days Heinen will be in New York with some of the Amber Gold pelts to complete arrangements with "the mutation mink breeders' organization." That is made up of a group of fur specialists who every few year pick out a new type of mink and start beating the drums for it much as other stylists promoted the new look in other feminine clothing.

The New Yorkers—for a percentage fee—will give the Amber Gold mink the proper build-up, and about this time next year some movie actress in need of a new mink and incidental publicity will be sporting the Amber Gold mink.

Heinen expects to get between $150 and $200 for the Amber Gold pelts, and it takes 70 of them for an average size coat.

Heinen, who operates the Midway mink farm three miles east of Warroad, said the fur buyers are excited about his new strain because of an especially fine undercoat texture. That texture developed, he says, because the mink don't get the usual horsemeat diet but are fed burbot and tullibee fish, which are rich in oil, and jack rabbits.

Swine Exhibit to be Feature of '53 Winter Shows

The swine departmental show, a regular feature of the Red River Valley Winter Shows and Northwest School Farmers' Week at Crookston, will be held as usual this year. The Winter Shows dates are February 23-27, 1953.

The quarantine on swine, because of vesicular exanthema which has closed many of the swine shows, has been lifed for Minnesota shows, according to T. M. McCall, president of the Red River Valley Winter Shows at Crookston.

Mr. McCall stated, "Word received from R. L. West, secretary and executive officer of the Minnesota livestock sanitary board, points out that swine originating in Minnesota may be exhibited according to the present rules governing swine sanitation at the show, but that no swine originating from other states can, under present regulations, be admitted."

GULLY...

By Mrs. Arnold Nesvold, Gully, Ph. [illegible]

The Elen Homemakers Club met at the Clair Pratt home on Friday evening. Dorothy Nesvold showed how to make the large Christmas candles from wax. Members brought Christmas cookies for lunch that evening. Present were Mrs. Henry Knutson, Mrs. Elmer Berg, Mrs. Harry Berg, Mrs. Floyd Berg, Mrs. Henry Bergh, Mrs. Edvin Bergh and Mrs. Martin Christianson.

With the mild weather and very little snow it is hard to believe Christmas is almost here. We are grateful to the Gully school for making it seem more like Christmas. Christmas carols have been played over a loud speaker at the school house which could be heard over most of the town during the evening and noon hours. On Wednesday evening, Miss Hartel and Mrs. Tharaldson took the lower grades around town in the evening to sing carols. On Thursday evening Miss Christensen and Miss Baatz took the upper grades all over town to sing carols. Many of the grandmothers in town received Christmas wreaths from the youngsters. Friday afternoon the pupils had their little Christmas party at the school house. Each room had their own Christmas tree and party and exchanging of gifts. The out of town teachers left for their home to spend Christmas vacation.

Rev. and Mrs. John Abel and David were in Gully last week to pick up some of their belongings stored at the parsonage. They were over night guests at the Verny Lanman home from Wednesday until Thursday. They came here from Minneapolis where they had attended Mission Conferences. From here Mrs. Abel went to Hitterdahl to visit her folks and Rev. Abel went to the Twin Cities to get their things packed. They expect to appear on Welcome Travelers on the radio between the 12th and 16th of January when they will be on their way to Bolivia So. America as Missionaries.

Members of the schedule committee for the Lund Ladies Aid met at the Elmer Huset home on Wednesday afternoon to make plans for serving for the ladies aid for the coming year. Mrs. Kenneth Forsberg, pres. of the ladies aid also met with the members of the committee which included, Mrs. Elmer Huset, chairman, Mrs. Harie Huseth, Mrs. Elmer Ness, Mrs. Ted Carlson and Mrs. Artie Fore. Mrs. Huset served a delicious lunch to the group.

Pastor Johnson who came from Minneapolis for the services this week end was a guest at the L. H. Aos home. Harvey Aos met him in Erskine and Aos brought him back to catch the midnight train at Brooks Sunday evening after the Sunday School program and Christmas tree at Bethany Sunday evening.

Lund Sunday School program will be given next Sunday evening, Dec. 28th at the Community Hall at 8:00 o'clock.

A very large crowd of youngsters and their parents were in Gully on Saturday for Santa Claus Day. The Community Hall was packed for the free show. Guessing contests had been held at the various business places with a prize awarded on Saturday to the closest guesser at each place. The following people were the closest guessers at the Co-op Lumber and Supply, Clifford Evans; at Gully Farmers Elevator, Mrs. Johnny Schneider; Farmers Co-op Oil, Oscar Thronson; Gully Produce, K. K. Political Roundup

By Arthur Naftalin

Governor C. Elmer Anderson is preparing for his first serious test as the state's chief executive. One week from next Tuesday he will deliver his inaugural message before the state legislature, to be followed shortly by a more detailed budget message in which he will indicate how much he thinks the state should spend in the next two years and how the money should be raised.

Everyone is aware of the difficulties the Governor faces in presenting an outline of state activities that provides for the essentials and at the same time does not impose substantially new tax burdens.

The question in everyone's mind is, will the Governor-elect to follow a strict course of economy, opposing any new increases in state services and calling for cutbacks in various areas, or will he choose to support expanded operations and call upon the legislature to find additional sources of revenue?

$41,000,000 in New Money Is Heart of the Problem

During these last few weeks the Governor has been poring over the many requests for new appropriations that various agencies have placed before him. The increases over what was appropriated for the current biennium total $20,000,000.

But this is only half of the problems, because expenses for the current biennium have been met by the expenditure of the $212,000,000 surplus in the general revenue fund. This fund will be exhausted by the end of the fiscal year in June. Thus, to maintain present operations and to meet the requests for new appropriations the legislature would have to raise $41,000,000 in new money.

One very tempting source is the $50,000,000 surplus in the state income tax fund, which up until now has been ear marked for public education. The legislature, however, could divert this money, although the opposition from supporters of education would be most vigorous.

Major Activities All Need Increased Money

As he pores over the budget picture, the Governor must be discovering that reducing or holding the line on governmental expenditures is not an easy objective. The difficulties in our state institutions—now dramatically forced to our attention by the turmoil at Stillwater—stems in large part from the lack of adequate funds for trained and efficient personnel. To cut back budgets for our institutions will impress many as false economy.

Then there is the pressing problem of highways. Both local and state roads require large new amounts of money. The failure of amendment No. 5 to pass at the last election may have its repercussions in the form of an effort to increase the state gasoline tax from five to six cents, allotting the increase to help rural roads.

There will be, also, a major effort to increase the basic state aid for education from $70 as at present to $100 per pupil. This move is certain to become entangled in the whole question of whether the time has not come to un-earmark these funds.

Add to all this the increased costs for ordinary or normal operations, in particular the certain demand of all state employes for an upward adjustment in salaries and wages, and you have some idea of the magnitude of the problem that faces the Governor and members of the legislature.

Are Taxes Discouraging New Business in State?

In the background of the 1953 session is the persistent worry that taxes in Minnesota have reached the point where they are discouraging the development of new business in the state.

Business groups are certain to marshal their forces in an effort to prevent any increase in taxes on business, and this may mean stronger pressure on the adoption of a sales tax. If their claim is true that business in this state cannot afford to absorb larger tax levies, the 1953 legislature may find itself in an almost hopeless box, with sharp curtailment of many services the only way out.

At the bottom of the entire problem is the plain fact that our state government—like the federal government—has been compelled over the last several decades to assume responsibilities which the public feels can be performed in no other way. The public wants adequate aid to education, mental health support, development of aviational facilities, a strong and efficient highway system, effective conservation programs—to mention only a few of the state-supported activities. These are all costly, and in the end are reflected in higher taxes.

Legislators' Worries Not Limited to Money Matters

Appropriations and revenue are not the only worries that will give the legislators some unhappy days. There will be many other controversial matters up, too, such as another attempt to adopt a state Fair Employment Practice Act, the reshuffling and reducing of state agencies along the lines recommended by the Little Hoover Commission, the whole big question of reapportionment, and what to do about the Presidential primary law, to mention only a few from among scores of like items.

HIGH JINKS IN THE ANIMAL WORLD

The expression "Shriveled with terror" must literally have been true of a good sized rabbit that escaped from a Sacred Heart dog by squeezing through a 2¼ inch hole into an oil can; the bottom had to be cut out to liberate bunny.—New Richland reported a meadowlark early in December.—Highest jinks was at Parkers Prairie, where a telephone shortcircuit was traced to a trap entangled in the line; evidence was that a hawk had found a muskrat in the trap and carried both until encountering the telephone line, when it concentrated on the rat.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

Out of the Play Pen?

"Bobby just won't stay in his play pen anymore. I've given him all of his toys and he still isn't happy. He only cries and wants out. What do I do next?" Bobby's mother is not quite sure what's happened to her obliging little boy.

A more experienced mother could tell her. Tim is marching on. A few months ago Bobby learned to sit up by himself. Then he enjoyed his play pen and was pretty easy to care for. It was warm weather and he was content for hours on end to play with his toys and watch the events of the neighborhood from the confines of his play pen.

At nine months he began to pull himself up and walk around the pen, and now at ten or eleven months he won't stay in it for more than a few minutes at a time. He is growing out of some of his baby ways and his mother may not quite realize it is happening so soon. He needs more freedom to explore and some adjustments will have to be made.

Mother's primary concern is likely to be how to keep baby from hurting himself or the furniture. A good way is to arrange the rooms where he'll be so that he is allowed to play with a majority of the things he can reach. Then there are only a few things to be forbidden. With plenty of things he can do, he's not going to be as concerned with those things he can't do.

Getting down to specifics, this means taking breakable or tippy lamps, vases and ornaments off low tables and putting them out of reach. You may have to clear the books from low shelves or wedge them in tightly.

Arranging the house isn't the whole answer. A kiddie-car or Folda-Rola often furnish hours of fun if you have the space. A small chair to push around or some variety of push pull toys can offer a challenge as well as provide fun at this age.

These things all help him to use his new found freedom. By making these adjustments you are providing a smoother path for another step in your child's growth to independence.

No. Central Airlines History Recounted

Tuesday December 16, was a big day in the life of Wisconsin Central Airlines. Officially it changed its name to North Central Airlines. The new name was adopted by the company's stockholders several months ago, according to Arthur E. A. Mueller, president, to more accurately describe the carrier's five state operation, which will be extended to Thief River Falls January 1.

Incorporated in Wisconsin, May 15, 1944 the airline operated as an intra-state charter operator principally between Clintonville, Wisconsin and Milwaukee and Chicago. The operation grew along with public demand for more extensive service and later the same year the small carrier applied to the Civil Aeronautics Board for a certificate of convenience and necessity to operate a scheduled airline service carrying passengers, mail and express. Mueller said the original application requested important cities in Wisconsin, extended south as far as Chicago and north to the Upper Michigan Peninsula.

After more than three years of litigation with regulating authorities in Washington the new airline received a franchise to serve most of the cities in Wisconsin as well as a number of points in Minnesota and Illinois. Inadequate airports, lack of navigational aids, and record amounts of snowfall—to say nothing of the problem of financing—prevented the fledgling airline from starting service until about a year and a half later.

A limited operation with two small Lockheed aircraft started in February 1948 which provided little more than token service to about nineteen cities in the area. Without modern navigational aids this early service was irregular and undependable but in spite of this fact met with almost immediate public acceptance.

With the cooperation of communities receiving air service for the first time, the slow and difficult task of improving airports and navigational aids was undertaken. More Lockheed nine passenger aircraft were acquired and placed in service because most fields in the northern cities were not large enough to accommodate DC-3 planes. By the summer of 1951 airport development reached a point where Douglas DC-3 aircraft could be used over the entire system and the company launched a program replacing its fleet of small aircraft with 21 passenger planes of this type.

Public response was immediate and by the end of 1951 the airline was carrying record loads on the larger planes. Meanwhile the company's original franchise which was a temporary and experimental permit came up for renewal before the C.A.B. in Washington. As a result of the certificate renewal proceedings the airline's operations were extended into North Dakota.

A few months later by still another C.A.B. proceedings Wisconsin Central received franchises to serve additional cities in Minnesota and Wisconsin, and was awarded the route between the Upper Peninsula of Michigan and Detroit, Lansing and Grand Rapids. According to Mueller service will be started on this segment about February 1. Traffic development kept pace with route extensions and in August, 1952, the company set a new record of 17,761 passengers.

Rapid growth of the carrier placed it fourth in size among the local service airlines and indicated the need for more airplanes and more extensive financial program. These were provided by reaching an agreement with the Purdue Foundation of Purdue University late in the summer. By terms of this agreement the airline received nine additional DC-3 aircraft fitted to its specifications bringing the total to nineteen and an undisclosed amount of cash used to augment working capital.

North Central Airlines now serves a vast area with a southern terminal at Chicago, extends as far north as Duluth with a summer permit to serve International Falls; as far west as Grand Forks-Fargo, North Dakota and as far east as Detroit. In addition to this area actively served North Central Airlines nee Wisconsin Central Airlines has an agreement with Lake Central Airlines pending approval of the C.A.B. to purchase the routes and equipment of that carrier. If the application is approved Mueller said, North Central Airlines will project its operations into Indiana and Ohio.

To Seek Gas Tax Boost of One Cent

Bemidji Senator Says Rural Roads Need Money

Senator Leonard Dickinson of Bemidji, announced in St. Paul last week he is going to ask the next session of the Minnesota legislature to boost the state gasoline tax one cent.

Such an increase is necessary to help the rural roads, he said. The gasoline tax is alloted to highways and one-third goes to the counties for rural roads.

Dickinson estimated the yield from the proposed one cent addition to reach nine or 10 million dollars annually and under the distribution to counties this would mean some additional three million dollars would be available for rural roads.

The present state gasoline tax is four cents with 1½ cents additional as a federal tax.

"There is a big howl in the country over road aid," Dickinson said.

"Farmers are aroused over the defeat of Amendement N . . 5 which would have given rural roads a part of the motor vehicle tax."

MINNESOTA MOUNTAIN LIONS

Conservation Volunteer, sprightly magazine of Minnesota Department of Conservation, cites 21 separate and carefully documented occasions on which a mountain lion has been seen in Minnesota. Between the winter of 1945 and the latest report officially checked, July 1951, an animal or authentic tracks have been reported from nine counties ranging from Cook and Koochiching on the north to Big Stone and Lyons on the west, Watonwan and Winona in the south and east at least nine of the 21 bits of evidence come from St. Louis county. Concludes the Volunteer, since never more than one animal has been sighted at one time, perhaps one adult puma is loose in the state, though there is strong evidence of two separate animals. Whether they will ever again breed in the state is problematical. Last cougar, puma, or mountain lion killed in Minnesota was reported from Becker county in 1897.
